Breeders Majority Meets At Holstein Convention

EVA MARTIN

Maryland Correspondent

STOIX FALLS, S.D. — Joel Hastings, editor of "Holstein World," was the keynote speaker at the Breeders Majority meeting at the National Holstein Convention.

Hastings recognized the purpose for which Breeders Majority was organized more than five years ago:

- The need for new evaluation methods in response to the emerging dominance of indexes which caused breeders to think everything else was being forgotten.
- The lack of responsiveness from Holstein Association to its members.

"The system was choking on a high volume of paperwork," he said. "The association that was built on breeders' enthusiasm now seemed cold and indifferent to breeders' concerns."

The Breeders Majority has had a positive role in change. Cow families are now being recognized. The goal remains to breed high-producing, trouble-free cows.

"Opportunity is still in play in the Holstein business," Hastings said. If breeders supply efficient productive cattle, much more can

Youth Scholars Attend Summer Institute

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin Co.)—One hundred and nine scholars were registered for the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives' summer institute at Shippensburg University this week. The agenda for this 31st annual event called for an extensive educational program about cooperatives and their management for the attending teenagers.

"Young people are the future of cooperatives. They have the advantage of access to advanced information and technology that

St. Louis Hosts Guernsey Convention

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The American Guernsey Association (AGA) held its national convention and annual meeting June 21-24 in St. Louis, Missouri. "Show Me Fun in 91" was the theme for the four-day event.

Turning to dairy industry fact and figures is the Quiz Bowl contest which features AGA junior members in a double elimination competition.

The Pennsylvania team of Melissa Morrow, Justin McMurray, won the national senior title. The second place team was from and Joy Jackson, Brownsville, are young dairymen winners for the Middle Atlantic Division of Dairymen, Inc. Neal and Linda McCulloch, Newville, were named the outstanding young cooperator couple for Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc.

The awards luncheon was the finale of three days of personal interviews, fellowship, tour of Washington, D.C. and congressional reception for legislators and their staffs. Though the program was sponsored jointly by the Federation's member cooperatives, each organization held its own separate competition within the framework of the three-day event.

In The Cool Of The Morning

In the cool of the morning this farm scene is a place of serenity and beauty to all with farming in their blood. But for those who are old enough to remember when everyone harvested grain with a binder and threshing rig, they know a lot of hard work went into creating the field of shocked wheat, and a lot of toil still remains to get the grain in the bin and the straw in the mow.

Wednesday, June 26, 1991

NORTHEAST BROILER-FRYER PARTS. FEDERAL-STATE: Trucklot buying interest was light to moderate and selective. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate to ample, and in best balance in nearby shipping channels. Whole breasts were irregularly available and generally tighter on yellow supplies; fully adequate on white. Legs were fully adequate. Leg quarters continued to clear to a good call for retail promotions. Drums and thighs were in fairly good balance. Wings remained in limited supply but some buyers indicate less interest as on hand stocks were not clearing up to expectations.

Profile

The Rutter CorporationThe York County Dairy That Grew and Grew

Leo Rutter and Cindy Rutter Johnson take care of the dairy herd on the Rutter farm.

85 Years of Milking

Although the Rutter dairy herd today supplies less than one-half of one percent of the milk processed by the manufacturing plant, the family feels it's very important to keep a herd on the farm.

That herd is under the watchful eye of Leo Rutter and his daughter, Cindy Rutter Johnson. Cindy a dairy science graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, handles most of the day-to-day herd management.

Over the years, the Rutters have milked a variety of breeds. Milking Shorthorns were replaced by Holsteins in 1917, which had given way to Guernseys by 1945. Today the 85 cows in the herd are still mostly Guernseys, but three years ago the black-and-whites began to make a comeback and today there are 18 Holsteins in the herd.

The Guernseys, averaging milk production of 55 pounds, are fed 17 pounds of corn silage, 25 pounds of haylage, 8 pounds of hay, and 23 pounds of a custom-mixed 16% PFR (Precision Formulated Ration) from Pennfield.

The Holsteins, averaging 75 pounds of milk production, receive 18 pounds of corn silage, 28 pounds of haylage, 8 pounds of hay and 30 pounds of the 16% PFR.

It was 1794 when the first Rutter set foot on the soil that is now the Rutter home farm in York County. Nearly two centuries later, Rutters are still tilling the same fields granted to Andrew Rutter by Springetts Penn, the great-grandson of William Penn.

The Rutter family business, in other words, goes back a long, long way.

Their past is a treasure to the Rutter family, but their focus is on the future. Their willingness to innovate has helped them build a business with few parallels in the dairying community.

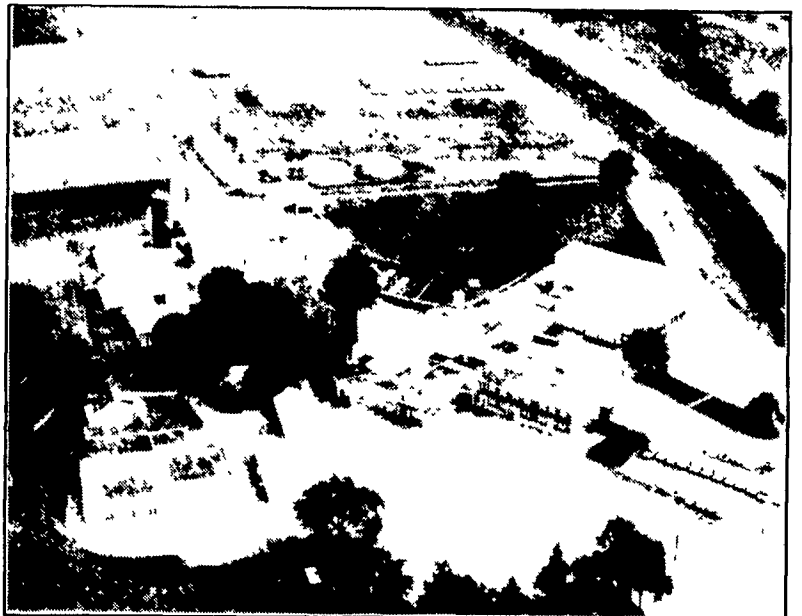

They started milking cows about 1906, started bottling it in 1921, and in 1968 opened the first Rutter's Farm Store, on Carlisle Road in Shiloh.

Two Rutter brothers, George and M. Ebert, started the retail dairy operation in 1921 when they bottled 15 quarts of milk by hand then sold it door to door. Another brother, William, stayed home and worked on the farm. In 1930, they asked their brother-in-law, Lehman Crist to join them in the company.

Lehman Crist is now 90 years old and serves as chairman of the board and senior partner. Five second-generation partners, all related by blood or marriage to the three founders, handle day-to-day business operations. A third generation is already beginning to enter the company's ranks.

Today processing and marketing dominate the multiple divisions of the Rutter dairy business. A huge processing plant is a short walk from the barn door. There are 55 Rutter's Farm Stores and five restaurants. Rutter's Corporation employs about 1,000 people, making it one of York County's major employers.

This aerial view of the Rutter plant and farm shows the modern processing plant and the early 18th century barn.

Keeping in Touch With Milk Consumers

The value of public relations may not show up anywhere in their ledger books, but the Rutters believe the whole dairy industry reaps dividends from their program of farm visits and open houses.

Two tour guides, employees of the Rutter Corporation, played host to over 3,000 school kids this spring. The children come to the farm with their teachers.

"A lot of kids just don't know where milk comes from," said Cindy. "Here we can show them the cows, let them pet a calf, and take them through the processing plant. While they're here, they learn a little bit about dairying and they have fun."

Among the facts they learn are that Rutter's processes over 1.5 million pounds of milk a week. Of that total, 45% is whole milk, 30% is 2%-fat milk, 5% is 1%-fat milk and 10% of the output is in the form of skim milk. The remaining 10% of the 175,000 gallons goes into ice cream mixes and chocolate milk.

In the summer months, the plant adds 50,000 gallons of iced tea per week and another 15,000 gallons of fruit drinks.

"Our goal with the tours is to have the kids grow up better informed about dairying," said Cindy. "We feel the better informed they are, the better customers they'll be someday for milk and dairy products."

School kids get an up close look at a dairy calf.

Jacques Scoreboard

7770

A fan favorite. Showy, with moderately-short stalks, girthy ears and heavy test weight grain. Good spring emergence and strong standability add to 7770's consistent yields.

8250

The designated hitter for MDMV areas. Excellent early vigor and stalk strength plus strong yield and staygreen characteristics make this hybrid a must in your starting lineup.

4170

This pro takes charge on the field, An all-around performer, 4170 features fast growth, superior stalk and root strength, and outstanding stress tolerance plus exceptional yield potential

AGWAY ANSWERS YOUR NEEDS

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JULY 1-7, 1991

Corn should be knee-high by the 4th of July.

July 1, 1898, Lt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his "Rough Riders" are victorious in the Battle of San Juan Hill, Cuba. July 2, 1937, Amelia Earhart disappears over the Pacific in her attempt to fly around the world. America's first savings bank, the Bank for Savings opens in New York City, with the first day's deposits totalling $2,807. Be patient, in time even an egg will walk — African proverb

Ask the Old Farmer: What can be done for stains on china cups to restore the original pure white? S.M., Neb Wet the stains with vinegar, then rub with salt and a cloth. Use baking soda and soap powder for coffee stains.

Home Hints: Maple trees can be lightly pruned in the summer.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Light rain is accompanied by a brief hot spell for most of this week. The weekend has mostly sunny skies with some showers inland.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Hot and showery this first week of July. By the weekend skies are clearing and becoming sunny. Cooling to seasonable temperatures.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: High temperatures and showers for the first half of the week. Then rainy and cooler, but clearing and turning hot to end the week.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and hot weather continues for the first few days of July, then rain, heavy in the west, and milder temperatures. Finally, clearing.

"Farming is a big investment..."

Time is valuable. An equipment breakdown in the field, delayed supplies, or sudden weather changes mean lost dollars, without quick reaction. Our GE mobile radio system gives us greater control and coordination over our operation. It's a farmer's friend."

Roger C Garber
 James M. Garber & Sons

With harvest season in full swing, your farm and equipment need to be operating at full potential. That's why more farmers are turning to General Electric Mobile Radio Systems. They provide quick, cost effective communications from home or field. It's like having another "farm hand" to help with the chores.

OPINION

Be Careful Around Manure Pits

Manure handling is probably the most disagreeable chore on the farm--and the most dangerous. While manure pits and tanks are convenient and efficient, they can be the source of danger when safety management standards are not followed.

David Konn, Jr., York County Conservation District, says that to be more safety conscious around manure pits and eliminate tragic situations connected with them, the following tips should serve as a reminder.

- During manure decomposition, hydrogen sulfide, ammonia, carbon dioxide and methane are produced. All can be dangerous. Allow a foot or two of air space to accommodate concentrations of these gases at the surface of the pit.
- Never enter a manure pit without proper breathing apparatus. Even an empty pit can be a killer.
- Never smoke or allow any flame sources in the area of a manure pit. Methane can be present in just the right amounts to trigger an explosion or fire.
- Provide as much ventilation as possible in the pit and the building during agitation.
- Install a fence to keep out small children and other unwanted visitors.
- Make sure scrape off ramps are structurally sound and that they have safety gates across them. These gates should be made of heavier gauge steel compared to the perimeter fencing.
- Slow down when scraping into a pit. It only takes one slide or skid to result in a tragedy.
- Manure ponds and surrounding areas should be kept clean and free of rodents. When mowing pond areas, the mower operator should be careful on steep banks to keep equipment from rolling.
- Post signs on these facilities and fences that warn of the dangers of the manure pit.

Be careful around the manure facilities on your farm. In the past, farmers have lost their lives working around manure pits. Don't let someone on your farm have a tragic accident around the manure pit.

To Protect Against Plant Poisoning

Many common plants will cause poisoning symptoms in humans and animals.

These plant poisoning symptoms vary greatly. Some plants will only cause a skin irritation such as a rash or red itching area. Other plants, if eaten, will cause nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea to heart problems, convulsions, coma, and death. Fortunately, most plants do not cause severe poisoning.

To prevent a plant poisoning from occurring:

- Teach children never to put leaves, stems, bark, seeds, nuts, or berries from any plant into their mouths.

- Keep poisonous house plants out of reach of all children, including infants.

- Never eat a wild plant or mushroom unless you are positive of its identity.

- Store bulbs and seeds out of sight and out of reach of children.

If anyone eats a poisonous plant, follow the following first aid instructions:

If a plant or plant part is swallowed or chewed on: 1. Give 1 to 2 glasses of milk or water right away, unless the person cannot swallow, is in a comma, or having a convulsion. 2. Call the Poison Control Center. 3. Have on hand at home syrup of Ipecac (ask your pharmacist for it) and Epsom salts. Do not use either of these unless instructed to do so by the Poison Control Center.

For skin contact with a poisonous plant, gently wash the skin with a mild soap and water and rinse right away.

To Be Sensitive To Environmental Issues

Protecting the environment will be a major political issue in the 90s.

The problem is we want the other person to do it rather than ourselves. The urban resident blames agriculture for being the major polluter while farmers are looking to pass the blame to someone else.

The truth is we all could be doing a better job of living in harmony with the environment. Recent research studies show agriculture as an industry is doing an excellent job of protecting the environment.

This should be of no surprise to farmers. The profession of farming requires a working knowledge of the environment.

Farmers are constantly working with and managing the environment in order to produce food and fiber. A destruction of the earth's environment would mean the end of agriculture. However, we must do better.

As agriculture continues to change and grow, farmers are going to need to adapt new technology. Genetic engineering, new management practices, and nutrient management are a few new tools that will help agriculture to continue protect the environment.

We need to tell people that agriculture is a very important industry that respects and supports the environment. By working together, we all will be able to live in harmony with the environment.

Have A Purpose In Life

A purpose in life keeps you focused on the present. This helps you maintain enthusiasm for your day-to-day work.

The more enthusiastic you are, the more you will attract the attention of positive, enthusiastic people and the more successful you will be.

Identify your purpose in life, work to achieve it, keep a positive attitude, and turn every roadblock into an opportunity. Remember, success breeds success and positive attitudes create successes. So, be happy and have fun while you are accomplishing your life's purpose.

WHAT SHALL WE SAY AFTER THIS?
June 30, 1991

"TOO MANY WRONG THINGS"

I can understand how Ezra felt. There have been times in my life when I have felt such a sense of guilt before God that it seemed nothing could lift it from me. I have called upon parishoners who have confided to me that their sins were "too great for God to forgive." I had a classmate in high school who committed suicide a year after graduation, leaving a note in which he said, "I've done too many wrong things for God to forgive me."

When we own up to what we have done and what the cost of that sin is, we often feel that there is no way God can forgive us. Then, like Ezra, we could well pray, "And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken thy commandments" (9:10). Words seem so inadequate when we have done such harm or inflicted such pain. "I am sorry; I repent," seems so inadequate. Ezra felt this way "Behold, we are before thee in our guilt, for none can stand before thee because of this" (9:15b).

The writer of Ezra tells us that while Ezra was thus confessing, weeping and "casting himself down before the house of God," a great assembly of people gathered around him and wept also. But one man, Shecaniah, said to Ezra, "We have broken faith with our God and have married foreign women from the peoples of this land, but even now there is hope for Israel in spite of this" (10:2).

That's what we need to remember when the weight of guilt seems to squeeze the hope of God out of our lives: "even now there is hope." Even in the midst of our degradation, we must remember there is no sin so great that God cannot, will not forgive it -- if we repent. Our guilt may be monumental, but God's grace is greater than any evil we can produce.

8 Great Reasons To Keep Roundup® Around All Year Around.

All around the farm, all season long, versatile Roundup® herbicide can help you in more ways than any other herbicide. From weed control along fencerows to controlling the toughest perennials like milkweed, johnson-grass or bindweed, Roundup can handle the job. And because the price has been reduced 23% since 1985, Roundup is a better buy than ever. See me for versatile, economical Roundup. It's the help you need all around the place.

Get rid of weeds around your farmhouse, driveway and patio this summer.

Eliminate grasses along fences, ditches and roads during the summer.

Clean up perennials after harvest.

Renovate pastures in spring or fall.

Reduce mowing trips on set-aside all summer long.

Control weeds pre-plant in early spring.

Stop in-crop weeds with a spot spray or pipewick in July.

Control brush anytime you've got time.

Feed Council Will Address Issues

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As a new world order evolves, building markets for U.S. feed grains will become increasingly complex.

Teamwork among everyone involved in exporting U.S. commodities will be vital to ensure continued success for the United States in agricultural trade.

With that approach to the future in mind, the U.S. Feed Grains Council has chosen the theme, "Teamwork Shapes Tomorrow" for its 31st annual membership meeting to be held July 21-24 at the Cambridge Hyatt Regency in Cambridge, Mass.

The meeting's program comprehensively addresses the future of U.S. agricultural trade. Its speakers will discuss a range of topics, which include multi- and bi-lateral trade negotiations, government credit programs, the Soviet Union and Japan, and animal rights.

Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan is the meeting's keynote speaker. The recently appointed secretary will discuss the status and future of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade negotiations and the North American Free Trade Agreement negotiations. The outcomes of both these talks could significantly alter the way the United States trades agricultural commodities for the rest of this decade and into the 21st century.

The Soviet Union is the largest market for U.S. feed grains exports. But within the past year, its domestic turmoil has markedly decreased its status as a U.S. customer. Marshall Goldman, associate director of the Harvard University Russian Research Center, will address the future of U.S. trade with the Soviet Union, including a discussion titled, "What went wrong with perestroika?"

In light of the changes in U.S. agriculture over the past 10 years, what can we expect for the next 10? Moffett Professor of Agriculture and Business Ray A. Goldberg will answer that question and discuss the preparations agriculture needs to undertake to ready itself for the next decade.

The council utilizes Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS)- administered programs to increase exports of U.S. feed grains. FAS Administrator Duane Acker will discuss his agency's relationship with the Council as well as its future plans for feed grains programming. Carol Brooks, president of the Washington-based think tank World Perspectives, will address the economics of exports. She will offer insight into how USDA's credit programs can be improved to increase U.S. feed grains exports.

Animal rights is an issue which will affect the U.S. farm community in the 1990s. Deborah Vanderbeek confronted a farm animal care referendum on the Massachusetts ballot two years ago. She will share her experience with this issue and offer suggestions on how it can be challenged.

The complex and complicated Japanese market will be the subject of a special session. Stephen D. Cohen of American University's School of International Service will provide an economic overview of Japan and discuss how power and politics affects U.S. trade with this important nation. Other speakers will discuss the council's efforts to unleash controls which limit the U.S. ability to compete in this market.

FFA'ers Thrive On Competition At Penn State

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — More than 1,000 FFA members, advisors, and guests participated in the three-day annual FFA Activities Week Convention recently.

Members were able to apply knowledge and skills in the 22 different contests held. Contests covered subjects ranging from aquaculture to extemporaneous speaking and parliamentary procedure to wildlife.

All contest participants are given rankings within the state. The first group of top ranked students get the opportunity to represent Pennsylvania in the national contests held in Kansas City, Mo., in November. The next highest rank group will represent Pennsylvania in the regional contests held in Springfield, Massachusetts.

In addition to competing in contests, the students attended general sessions that featured motivational speakers. On Tuesday night, Patrick Grady of Charlotte, N.C., spoke of goal setting for teenagers. On Wednesday night, the keynote speaker was national eastern FFA Vice President Matthew Lohr, from Virginia.

Members were also entertained with FFA talent presentations on Tuesday and Wednesday nights and by the state chorus, directed by Daniel Shaw.

Thursday morning's final general session was highlighted by the announcement of the national and regional contest winners and the presentation of the new 1991-1992 State Officer Team.

Aaron Harpster, of Tyrone FFA, used the practical experience he has gained on his home farm to earn first place gold honors in the agronomy contest. Harpster will now go on to represent Pennsylvania in national competition at the November convention in Kansas City.

Sire Power NESD District 1 Manager Jake Meyer, far left, shows the companies support for the regional dairy showman. Left to right, Kristen Hoffer, Annville Cleona FFA; John Kennedy, Knoch FFA; and Sandy Gross, Hamburg FFA. The three FFA members placed fourth, third, and second, respectively, and will go on to further competition at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass.

Top applicant in the interview contest was Tracey Sauder of West Perry FFA. Sauder's first place gold finish earned her a trip to the National FFA Convention with the Pennsylvania delegation.

In the eastern states nursery landscape contest, Pennsylvania FFA will be represented by sixth place winner Jason Bennett, Columbia-Montour FFA; fifth place winner Chad Correll, Danville FFA; and fourth place winner Jeff Jackson, Western FFA.

Left to right, Manheim FFA member Dean Wenger received the first place gold, Carla Zimmerman of James Buchanan FFA placed third, and Daryl Ebersole, Milfflinburg FFA, earned second place gold honors in the farm management contest. The three FFA members will go on to Kansas City as Pennsylvania's representatives in the national farm management contest.

Left to right, first place livestock judge Harry Hoover, Rockwood FFA, will be joined by second place finisher Stephanie McConn and third place judge Jody Clapper of Central Cove FFA to represent Pennsylvania in national livestock judging competition during the November National FFA Convention.

In her first state public speaking contest, Marci Harnish of Manheim FFA earned a first place gold award in the creed speaking contest. For her efforts, she was also awarded a trip to Kansas City to the National FFA Convention.

Rounding out the top 10 in livestock judging were Frank Bogacz, Knock FFA, ninth place, Matt Fenton, Reynolds FFA; eighth place, Ryan Mooney, West Greene FFA; and seventh place, Jerry Bollinger, Cloister FFA. The group will represent Pennsylvania in competition at the Eastern National Livestock Show in Timonium, Md.

The delegation of left to right, Matt Johnson, Brothers Valley FFA; Greg Bomgardner, Annville Cleona FFA; and Paula Hunter, Oley Valley FFA will travel to the Eastern States Exposition for regional livestock judging competition this fall. The group placed sixth, fifth, and fourth respectively in the livestock judging contest at Penn State.

Left to right, Dan Horning, Cloister FFA; Donald Ferster, Line Mountain FFA; and Kimber Groff, Mifflinburg FFA will represent Pennsylvania in the regional ag mechanics contest at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. Horning placed sixth, Ferster placed fifth, and Groff was the fourth place finisher in last week's state contest.

The final delegation of livestock judges will represent Pennsylvania at the Keystone Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg. The team will be made up of 13th place finisher Steve Ross, West Greene FFA; 12th place judge Richard Burke, Lenape AVTS FFA; and 11th place Christopher Rice, Mifflinburg FFA.

David Woodring, far left, representing the many sponsors of the nursery landscape contest, congratulates the top place winners. First place went to Kristin Kullish, second place to David Huber, both of Bucks County FFA. Jamie Slean, Western FFA, earned third place gold honors.

Although he had previously won a trip to the national convention, and therefore was no longer eligible for the top prize, Jason Long, of Curwensville FFA, not pictured, competed and won the meats judging contest. The next three place winners, left to right, were fourth place, Todd Rabenold, Kutztown FFA; third place Philip High, Manor FFA; and second place Stephanie Garrett, Manor FFA. They will go on to the national meat judging contest in Kansas City.

Pennsylvania will also send a dairy foods judging team to the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. Members of that team will include sixth place, Dawn Patterson, Cowanesque FFA; fifth place, James Findley, Penn Manor FFA; and fourth place, dairy foods judge Craig Hostetter, Penn Manor FFA.

The sixth, fifth, and fourth place forestry judges will go on to compete at the Eastern States Exposition. They are, left to right, sixth place Todd Grady and fifth place Caleb Wilson, both of Brockway FFA, and fourth place Robbie Weaver of Sugar Valley FFA.

Because there were more than 70 entries in the land judging contest, the top three place finishers were awarded plaques and a trip to the National FFA Convention. Left to right, Jason Reifsnnyder of Grassland FFA placed third, Betsy Pownall of Solanco FFA placed second, and Jason Christ of Mifflinburg FFA was the first place land judge.

Second place team honors in the chapter procedure contest went to chapter members from the H.G. Parkinson FFA Chapter. The team of, first row left to right, Joseph Kahlbaugh, Robert Forrester, Heather Moszynski, Scot Robertson; second row, left to right, Robert Ullom, Paul Campbell, Joe Avolia, and Edward Ammon is coached by advisor T. Lee Carter (not pictured).

Earl Gelb, far left, of Wengers Feeds, was on hand to congratulate the top poultry judges who will go on to national competition in Kansas City. Third place in the poultry judging contest went to Charles Garrett, second place Charles Swanson, and first place Randy Kreider. All of the top poultry judges were from the Manor FFA Chapter.

Daniel Leach of Mifflinburg FFA placed second and earned a gold award in the agronomy contest.

Left to right, Kevin Cohick was Franklin County FFA's fourth trip winner with a sixth place finish in the floriculture contest. Allison Kachurka, Columbia - Montour FFA, placed fifth and Jennifer Scherch, Bucks County AVTS FFA, was the fourth place finisher. They will go on to regional competition at the Eastern States Exposition.

In the conservation public speaking contest, Ginger Kegg of Bedford FFA Chapter took the first place gold award.

John Miller of Oley Valley FFA was the first place finisher in the junior public speaking contest. This contest encourages younger students to become involved in the FFA and public speaking.

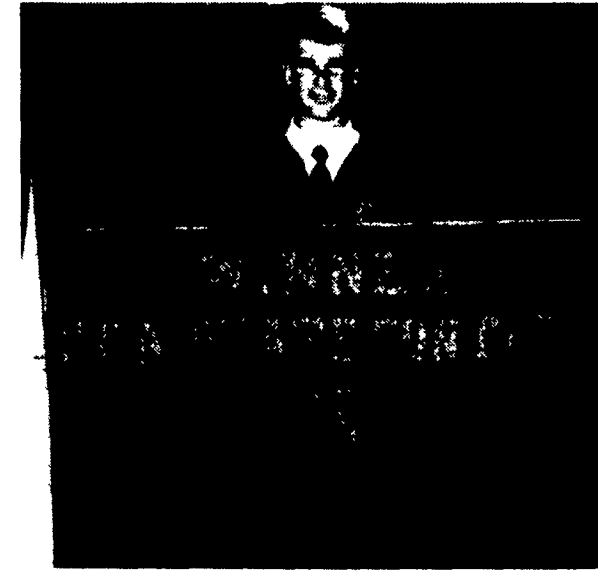

Mike Vannoy, Red Lion FFA, not pictured, had previously won a trip, but chose to continue competition in the pleasure horse contest. For his efforts he earned a third place gold award. Because Vannoy was ineligible to go on, fourth place judge Melanie Keller, Blue Mountain FFA, will join second place, Jamie Colder, Lenape AVTS and top pleasure horse judge Lori Harnish, Manheim FFA in competition at the Eastern States Exposition.

Top three place finishers in the agricultural mechanics contest were, left to right, third place Brian Zug of Solanco FFA, second place, Adam Brosious of Line Mountain FFA, and first place finisher Rob Detrick of Kane FFA. The trio will represent Pennsylvania as the state's agricultural mechanics team in national competition.

Heather Moszynski of the H.G. Parkinson FFA Chapter earned first place public speaking honors. With the honor came a gold award and a trip to Kansas City.

The top spot in the safe tractor driving contest went to Thomas Zartman of the Cloister FFA Chapter.

All three contestants that will go on to regional poultry judging competition were from the Manor FFA Chapter. Left to right: Jennifer Kendig ended up in sixth place, Darin Hess was the fifth place finisher, and Chris Long took home fourth place silver honors. The team is sponsored in part by Wengers Feeds represented by Earl Gelb (far left).

Because there were nearly 60 entries in the wildlife contest. Second place finisher, left to right, Jeff Richards of United FFA will join top contestant Mike Dlem of Grassland FFA on the trip to the National FFA Convention.

Solanco FFA members Matthew Welk, Jill Harnish, and Thomas Herr will team up to represent Pennsylvania in the national dairy judging contest. The trio placed first, sixth, and twenty-fourth respectively during recent State FFA Week competition.

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 29, 1991-A23

New Agent Promotes Balance In Farm Profitability, Environment

ANDY ANDREWS

Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — For most of his career, Leon Ressler has been searching for the proper balance — whether it was working in the midst of bickering Kenya, East Africa clans to promote increased farm efficiency or in his current role as the new environment/ag systems extension agent for the county.

Ressler believes that concessions have to be made between those who live and work on the farm and urban neighbors who moved to nearby homes and don't understand farming. In addition, both have to more carefully consider the environment.

Either way, Ressler begins his new assignment in light of impending nutrient management laws and will be bringing farmers up to date on what they will have to do when the laws are passed.

Recently, Pa. H.B. 496, a nutrient management bill, was passed in the House of Representatives by a 138-62 vote that would require farmers to file nutrient management plans with the Department of Environmental Resources (DER). The bill now goes before the state Senate. If passed, the plans, according to a member of the House, would regulate the amount of nutrients farmers use on their fields and prevent the farmers from overfertilizing.

Write plans

When that bill, or a similar one, finally becomes law, it will be Ressler's job to work on the "phase-in process" — to assist in helping a farmer write the plans and to answer questions regarding nutrient management.

"I think there's a balance there," said Ressler. "I think if we're going to be productive long-term, we're going to have to be good stewards of the resources that we have. And that involves protecting our water supply and our soils."

Ressler, who is based in the Lancaster Extension Office in the Farm and Home Center, will be working to improve the environmental compatibility of farms as well as their profitability.

Ressler believes that the nutrient law could be enacted by year's end, and would be several years before the law "totally takes effect." The law would pertain to farmers with more than two animal units per acre and would require a written plan. It appears there will be a certification program and the conservation districts will be responsible for spot checks in terms of compliance, according to Ressler.

Project associate

The extension agent, with a B.S. degree in agronomy and plant science from Penn State, was formerly serving as a regional extension agent in nutrient management, covering a 10-county area. In his new position, he will concentrate on Lancaster County and deal with a "broader range of environmental issues related to agriculture, including water quality, pesticide safety, and rural/urban interface issues," he said. He has also served as a project associate for the Penn State Rural Clean Water Program in the Upper Conestoga Watershed. Before joining the extension, Ressler was employed on a Lancaster Co. dairy farm. Previously, he served six years as manager of the Ogwedhi-Sigawa

Community Development project in Kenya, East Africa.

That multi-pronged development effort in Kenya, according to Ressler, was funded and managed by the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, Salunga, Pa.

In Africa, Ressler served as a "catalyst," he said, to bring in ideas to stimulate the local farm economy. He worked with two clans, one with a nomadic cattle herd population and another with small-scale cultivation practices. The farms in Kenya were very small-scale, and he helped begin cultivation using oxen rather than hand hoeing.

The project, said Ressler, was "an attempt to get the groups working together in some peaceful development activities, and to resolve some hostilities at the border." He said that an evangelistic outreach to the non-Christian Masai people was a focus of the project.

Balance input

But for farmers here, Ressler intends to promote what nutrient management means — "to balance your nitrogen input with crop removal, so you don't have a surplus."

What this means is that for farms who show an excess of manure, and need to get rid of it, Ressler will have on hand a list of farms who want to purchase it. Ressler will provide information for those who want to sell the manure to help them locate other farms that need the nutrients.

"One of the things I learned is there's a lot of people out there who would be willing to accept someone else's manure," he said. "In fact, I've found three times as many people sign up and say I would like to find some than I would have some to move."

During the next five years, Ressler envisions that manure processing facilities could begin operation in this area. "Probably either a number of small ones for composting, or maybe a centralized location for something like pelletizing," he said.

Manure exporting

More manure exporting will take place, which is already going on with poultry and other types of manure.

If a farmer has an excessive amount of nitrogen as determined by a nitrogen test, then increased acreage of crops that consume the nitrogen (particularly corn and rye) may have to be planted.

If proper balance is achieved, then much of the excess nitrogen that accumulated in the soil will be leached out and levels will drop.

"The idea is to bring things into balance," he said. But farmers should be aware that nitrogen in water supplies also comes from other sources, such as rainfall, certain legume crops (alfalfa, for instance), and sources such as septic systems.

Interpret findings

Ressler will help farmers determine what to do about nitrogen applications. However, his office will not perform the testing services, but will notify them how they can obtain the service and help them interpret the findings.

Ressler will also help in balancing conflicts between urbanites and farmers.

"We try to encourage farmers to be as sensitive as possible to their neighbors," he said. "And we try to help urbanites understand what's involved in farming and what some of the things are that go with farming, like fly problems, odor problems, and noise."

"There's going to have to be concessions made to allow farmers to farm and accept some of the apparent unpleasantness to the urbanites that go with that," he said. "On the other hand, we can help farmers find ways to minimize odors, minimize flies, and be sensitive to the noise and other things which can be an irritance to their neighbors."

Ability to farm

Ressler doesn't think that complying with the law will adversely affect the ability to farm.

"Nutrient management isn't really a threat — it's something that will help sustain our environmental quality and therefore productive ability," said Ressler. "I think they are definitely intertwined. You can abuse your resources short-term and perhaps get away with it, but in the long term, it's going to catch up with you."

"So I don't see profitability and environmental compatibility as being antagonistic," he said. "I think they go together. And I think we need to work at finding ways to be profitable and environmentally compatible."

Ressler lives on an 8-acre farm in Peach Bottom, Pa. with his wife, LouAnn and sons Lynn, 9; Lee, 6; Lyle, 1; and daughter Lorielle, 4.

No State Budget In Sight, Ag Laws Progress

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State legislators did not provide any hope of having a balanced budget proposal ready for Gov. Robert Casey to sign by midnight Sunday, but several agricultural bills progressed this past week.

According to several Senate sources, work on the budget has not gone well and chances of a state budget being signed by deadline, midnight Sunday was nil.

While the Legislature will be in session Sunday, some in the Senate have speculated that a budget may be possible by Wednesday, but others closer to Senate deliberations have said it may extend for up to two weeks.

Even though a budget is not in place at the start of the new state fiscal year, Monday, state employees would still receive a paycheck on July 12, since they are for the most part, paid on a two-week delay.

The only reason for any failure in paying state employees would be if current funds were not available. The decision to not pay would have to be made by Casey.

In other action, on Tuesday, several pieces of agricultural legislation moved out of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, which is chaired by Sen. Edward Helfrick.

Five pieces of proposed legislation, and amendments, moved, including two Senate bills introduced by Helfrick.

Among those receiving action this past week were Senate Bill 1066 (Helfrick), which calls for subsidies for the purchase of multi-peril crop insurance, and SB 1067 (Helfrick), which amends the act of 1981 originally introduced by Sen. Noah Wenger, for the authorization of the creation of agricultural areas. The amendment to SB 1067 further provides for agricultural easements and dedicates more funds toward farmland preservation.

Agricultural legislation which originated in the House of Representatives was moved out of the Senate agriculture committee:

- HB175, regulating refrigeration of eggs;
- HB401, which amends the commodities program act to change the voting requirements for program continuance from a two-thirds vote to a simple majority;
- HB1344, which creates an Agriculture and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program to establish a revolving fund for supporting rural youth activities, including 4-H and FFA.

On Wednesday, the House of Representatives approved nutrient management legislation, which now goes to the Senate for consideration.

The legislation would establish an animal-density threshold, over which producers would be required to keep on file with the local conservation district a plan for disposing of animal waste and applying nutrients.

The legislation, introduced by Rep. Kenneth Cole, chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, and which has received support from a number of agricultural organizations, continued to receive criticism from Rep. John Barley.

Barley, in a news release made immediately following the passage of the legislation in the House, warned that, if made law, nutrient management legislation would "severely restrict farmers' ability to utilize their lands."

Barley, who is involved in a large beef and crop operation, said in the release, "House Bill 496, which I oppose, would require farmers to file nutrient management plans with the Department of Environmental Resources (DER). These plans would regulate the amount of nutrients farmers use on their fields and prevent from overfertilizing."

In the release, Barley repeats a call to have the state Department of Agriculture take on the entire responsibility for administering the nutrient management program, something PDA officials testified they are not in the position to do.

However PDA has supported the legislation's establishing the agriculture department with creating and administering a certification program.

Recommended Grain Levels More Accurate For Individual Cows

Improved production and/or returns over feed costs can result from proper use of the current feeding recommendation program available at no extra charge for DHIA herds with compatible feeding systems. This may result because the needs of individual cows are more closely met than with the use of grain level guides based on the average cows bodyweight, milk fat test etc. Most guides provided by ration formulation programs do not tailor recommended grain levels to the individuals milk fat test, age, bodyweight, stage of gestation and state of lactation. The DHI program includes these needs, as well as those due to an abnormally large milk drop that may have occurred on the last test day.

Cows testing above or below herd average for milkfat will need either appreciably more or less concentrate than one producing the same amount of milk at average test. Two and three year old producers need extra grain to meet growth needs. Suggested minimums and maximums for concentrate intake should vary according to the animal's bodyweight and stage of lactation. The minimum grain intake for cows prior to peaking should be greater than for those past peak in order to challenge feed them. Maintenance needs vary according to bodyweight. Thus it is important to report updated bodyweights each time a cow freshens. The DHI program also will allow for reporting forage intakes on a set amount basis for all cows or enable floating of forage intake according to bodyweight, depending upon feeding practices or systems in the herd. The only adjustments that may be needed on the part of the feeder are primarily those for body flesh or condition, appetite and individual responses. Somewhat more or less concentrate may be fed to meet these or other special needs.

Current feeding recommendations provide a guide to the total amount of concentrate to be fed to an individual cow beyond any reported as being fed at the same amount for all animals in the group or herd. The program is designed to meet the energy needs of the individual. Unfortunately it is not able to provide separate amounts of an energy feed such as high-moisture corn and a protein concentrate at this time. If a top-feed is fed beyond the regular or base concentrate mix on an individual cow basis, this amount should be subtracted from the recommended grain level to determine the amount of base or herd mix to feed daily. A new feeding evaluation and recommendation program now being tested would provide more flexibility and be suited for use in the more complicated approaches to feeding that have evolved in recent years. It also includes recommendations for protein and major mineral contents for the balancing grain mixture, as well as amounts of a single grain mix or two balancing feeds to provide daily. Top-feeding would be reported in several ways and included in the ration formulation, but not included in the amounts of balancing feed(s) recommended.

Average milk production per cow has increased as much as 4 to 8 lb daily when the current recommendation program has been used properly to arrive at final amounts of a balancing concentrate to feed individual cows after ration programming by nutritional consultants to determine the protein, mineral and vitamin contents for the grain mixture. Some of the higher producing herds in PA have closely followed these recommended levels over the years. If you are not now using this program and are feeding in a compatible manner, give it a good try. It may help increase your income over feed costs during the current cost-price squeeze in dairying. Remember most cows producing the same level of milk may need different amounts of concentrate. Use the DHI recommendations to help fine-tune grain feeding.

Pa. Has State Envirothon Champions

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The eighth annual Pennsylvania State Envirothon was held recently at Bald Eagle State Park in Centre County.

The 1991 Pennsylvania State Envirothon champions are from Red Lion High School in York County. Second place went to Franklin Regional High School in Westmoreland County. Blue Mountain High School from Schuylkill County finished third.

Teams from 48 counties participated in the event, which is designed to give high school students an opportunity to test and prove their knowledge of environmental resources. Students are challenged in the areas of aquatics, forestry, soils, wildlife, and current environmental issues. The overall theme for this year's competition was energy sustainability.

The annual state contest is sponsored by the State Conservation Commission and the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts. Assistance is provided by the USDA Soil Conservation Service, Pennsylvania Fish Commission, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Pennsylvania Alliance for Environmental Education, and the DER Bureaus of Forestry, State Parks, and Soil and Water Conservation. The Pennsylvania Energy Office provided assistance in developing materials on energy sustainability.

Teams earned the right to compete in the State Envirothon by capturing a local Envirothon sponsored by their County Conservation District. More than 3,000 students took part in local Envirothons this past spring.

The Chambersburg Area Senior High School represented the Franklin County Conservation District. Team members were Richard Martin, Pete Nicklas, Peter Hawbaker, Steve Mayer, and Mary Deaven. The team advisor was George Knisely. Franklin County Conservation District Secretary Donna Hays accompanied the group.

Every student taking part in the State Envirothon received a certificate of participation. Plaques were presented to the state and regional winners. The winning team also won a white water rafting trip.

The 1991 Pennsylvania State

Envirothon champions from Red Lion High School will now represent the commonwealth at the fourth national Envirothon planned for August 10-14 in Mapleton, Maine. Pennsylvania won the 1988, 1989, and 1990 national Envirothons. Seventeen states across the country have now initiated Envirothon contests based on Pennsylvania's Envirothon program.

PDPP Offers Free Baseball Tickets

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania dairy farm youngsters and their families can still win box seat tickets to see the Pittsburgh Pirates play the Atlanta Braves on Monday, July 22, at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program is sponsoring five farm families, each of which will receive four tickets to attend the game between the Pirates and the Braves.

As of this past week, the Pirates were leading the league.

To enter the contest, youngsters, age 15 and under, must send a photo of their dairy farm or 4-H/FFA project animal(s), along with a brief story about why ice cream and baseball are America's favorites summer pastimes.

The deadline for all entries has been extended to July 6. Five winners will be selected and notified by July 10.

All entries for the contest should be sent to: Baseball and Ice Cream, PDPP, 2301 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg, PA, 17110. Only one prize will be awarded per family. Prizes are not transferable and all state and local laws apply.

Youngsters and their siblings attending the game will also receive a Pirate growth chart. The charts feature Jay Bell, the PDPP spokesperson and Pirates' shortstop, holding a carton of milk.

The four-color charts are more than 6-feet tall and can be used to measure a youth's growth. The families attending the game will also receive special PDPP baseball caps.

For more information, call (717) 787-6903.

CASH MANAGEMENT

investments (equipment, machinery, and breeding livestock).

Cash Flow Statement

The cash flow statement only considers cash transactions in the business. Accounts such as inventory, accounts payable/receivable, and depreciation figures are ignored.

But capital sales and purchases, cash borrowings, and all debt payments must be included.

The cash flow statement measures the cash transactions of the farm business over a given period. It always begins with cash on hand. Adding net cash farm income (cash farm receipts minus cash farm expenses) plus any cash borrowings and nonfarm income gives the total net cash available.

From this total we then deduct all outflows, including family living, income tax and social security, all debt repayments and capital replacement or reinvestment in the farm business. The remaining balance should be the same as our ending cash on hand. If not, we have a mistake in our accounting, or in our computations, or both. It is important that any such cash flow leak be discovered.

A cash surplus will indicate a positive cash flow and a shortfall in cash is described as a negative cash flow. The cash flow statement can answer some important questions:

- Can the farm business support family living requirements?
- Is there enough cash from the business to support additional capital investment?
- Is enough cash being generated to maintain or increase the capital assets?

The cash flow statement can be a very helpful financial analysis tool. But since it is easy to maintain cash flow with borrowed cash, it should be used in conjunction with the income statement and balance sheet to determine the total financial health of the business.

Cash Flow Budgets

The purpose of the cash flow budget is to project inflows and outflows of cash over some period of time. One of the more commonly used cash flow budgets by farmers is the yearly budget broken down by month.

The cash flow budget is like a calendar, projecting each month's cash inflow and outflow from business operations, financing activities (new loans and repayments), investments in capital assets, and family living. It becomes a very useful tool when determining a plan's financial feasibility.

With all this information organized by month, the operator can determine in advance when cash will need to be borrowed or when cash can be invested, short term, during times of cash surplus.

For example: January shows a cash surplus of $1,000.

April shows a cash deficit of $1,000.

The money could be invested, short term, at 6 percent for 90 days and gain $15. It will then be used during a cash deficit time in April, avoiding possible financing and adding $15 to the cash inflow.

Fifteen dollars does not seem like a lot of money, but it will add up when this might be done several times throughout the year, especially if the amount is larger than $1,000. The cash flow budget improves efficiency in cash management, so it reduces surprises and stress and helps the timeliness of the farm business operations.

May I strongly recommend that you take the time to prepare and analyze a cash flow statement as well as a cash flow budget for your farm business. If you would like assistance or have any questions regarding this and other farm management issues, contact your local Penn State Extension office.

In today's agricultural economy, every measure that can improve farm profitability is worth the investment of time.

PFA President To Assess GATT Progress

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.)—Keith Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania's Farmers' Association (PFA) will be one of four American Farm Bureau leaders traveling to Geneva, Switzerland, this week to assess the progress of the Uruguay Round of trade negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

The group will also express American Farm Bureau's support for a significant agricultural trade reform agreement.

Led by American Farm Bureau Federation president Dean Kleckner, the delegation will also include American Farm Bureau vice president Harry Bell, and Wisconsin Farm Bureau president Don Haldeman.

"The extension of fast-track negotiating authority by Congress has provided a renewed impetus for trade liberalization," Eckel said. "PFA and American Farm Bureau want negotiations to establish a level playing field in international trade that will give the United States the opportunity to recapture markets for agricultural products that have been stolen through export subsidies such as those used by the European Community (EC), or from which we've been banned through limited market access such as is the case with Japan."

PFA and American Farm Bureau believe that the future prosperity of American agriculture depends on opening and expanding export markets. Exports already account for one-fourth of farm sales.

The group will meet July 1 and 2 with Arthur Dunkel, director general of the GATT and with representatives of the EC, Japan, Canada, Australia and other members of the Cairns Group, India and several other key nations.

The next two months is considered a crucial period for the trade talks, which essentially have been on hold since the trade round failed to conclude with an agreement last December.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING JUNE 23

EXCELLENT WEEK FOR FIELDWORK: Hot and dry conditions continued for the sixth straight week. Crops continue to deteriorate under the drought conditions. Scattered rain showers brought little relief. Respondents to our survey indicated that 6 days were suitable for field work. Activities for the week included repairing fence; hauling manure; harvesting hay, haylage, small grains, and vegetables; maintaining machinery; and caring for livestock.

SOIL MOISTURE: By week's end, topsoil moisture was rated short by 98 percent of our respondents and 2 percent rated it adequate. In the northern region, 96 percent rated it short and 4 percent rated it adequate. All of the respondents in the central region rated soil moisture short. In the southern region, 95 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture short and 5 percent rated it as adequate.

CORN: The state's corn crop was completely planted by week's end. Last year at this time, 95 percent was planted with a five-year average of 96 percent. The condition of the corn crop was rated as 10 percent excellent, 30 percent good, 36 percent fair, 21 percent poor, and 3 percent very poor.

SOYBEANS: Keystone soybean planting was 94 percent complete by week's end. As of this date last year, 84 percent was planted, and the five-year average was 81 percent. In the northern region, planting was 97 percent completed. The central region had 97 percent planted and the southern region had 90 percent completed. Last week's soybean condition was rated 5 percent excellent, 26 percent good, 44 percent fair, 21 percent poor, and 4 percent very poor.

OATS: Throughout the commonwealth, oats was 88 percent in the heading stage, 10 percent was in the turning yellow stage, and 2 percent was ripe. Last year at this time, 98 percent of the crop was in the heading or headed stage, 2 percent was in the turning yellow stage. Oats condition was rated 10 percent excellent, 36 percent good, 32 percent fair, 17 percent poor, and 5 percent very poor.

BARLEY AND WHEAT: Pennsylvania barley was 13 percent heading, 21 percent turning yellow, 16 percent ripe, and 50 percent harvested. At this time last year, the state's barley was 35 percent heading, 48 percent turning yellow, 14 percent ripe, and 3 percent harvested. Wheat progress was 20 percent heading, 58 percent turning yellow, 19 percent ripe, and 3 percent harvested. Last year's progress was 71 percent headed and 29 percent turning yellow. The wheat crop was rated 16 percent excellent, 50 percent good, 26 percent fair, 7 percent poor, and 1 percent very poor.

TOBACCO: Ninety-eight percent of the State's tobacco had been transplanted by the end of the week, according to our respondents. Last year at this time, 81 percent of the state's tobacco had been transplanted. The five-year average was 80 percent.

FRUIT: Pennsylvania peach condition was rated 5 percent above average, 70 percent average, and 25 percent below average. The state's apple crop was rated 8 percent above average, 84 percent average, and 8 percent below average.

HAY AND PASTURE: Ninety-six percent of first-cutting alfalfa was harvested by week's end. At this time last year that number was 70 percent. First cutting of clover-timothy was 88 percent complete by week's end. Forty-eight percent was harvested at this time last year. Eighteen percent of second-cutting alfalfa was complete by the end of the week, 4 percent was complete last year at this time. The quality of Pennsylvania's hay was rated good by 58 percent of our respondents. Thirty-nine percent rated it fair, and 3 percent rated it poor. The quality of feed being obtained from pastures was rated fair by 12 percent of our respondents, poor by 53 percent, and very poor by 35 percent.

Rothrock Consignment Tops Holstein Sale

EVA MARTIN

SIoux FALLS, S.D. — Rothrock Golden Holstein Farms Inc., of Kempton, Pa., consigned the top selling female of the Frontier Sale of the National Holstein Convention.

Rothrock Leadman Lupine-ET, born 12/10/90, is the result of line breed mating from the super cow family of Walkup Valiant Lou Ella. Ella is classified Ex 92, and is a Gold Medal Dam with outstanding records to her credit which include:

365d	2-02	2x	29,180	4.2	1234
365d	3-07	2x	33,480	4.6	1547
PTA			+2347M	+116F	+94P
PTAS			+408CY	+343F	+369F

Rothrock's respect for the family of Lou Ella was so high, they decided to use it both on the top and bottom side of the pedigree of Lupine.

In an attempt to double the many superior qualities that exist with this family. They flushed Ella's Rotate daughter, Lupy, with Lupy's brother, Leadman. The result was a $28,500 consignment purchased by Cormdale Farms 2000, of Georgetown, Ontario, Canada. They were represented by James Kemp, of Ohio.

MR-Hilltop Hanover Draft-ET, topped the National Convention Sale with a price of $30,000. This young bulls pedigree is made up of the only five generation of dams to milk over 40,000 lb. of milk and be classified excellent.

Draft's sire, Leadman, is one of the more popular bulls of today and is from the "super" cow family of Lou Ella.

His dam's 2-yr-old record - 365d 37,360m 4.6 1,734F 3.2 1,207P - ranked her first in fat and third in milk nationally.

Hill-top Hanover-B Bellerina - ET has a CTPI +1619; PTA +3272M +165f +101p; PTAS +502CY +471F +466P. Draft was purchased by Western Breeders of Canada.

Another top selling cow from Pennsylvania was consigned by Mike and Cindy Weimer of Emlenton. Solid-Gold Klark Luxury, classified VG as a 2-yr.-old and has outstanding records to her credit, brought $11,000.

The total sale for the 79 head was $382,975 with an average of $4,848. The top ten heifers averaged $9,675 and top ten cows averaged $6,215.

The Frontier Spirit Sale was hosted by the McCrossan Boys Ranch. More than one thousand in attendance enjoyed their hospitality, a delicious barbeque and entertainment.

On display at the Ranch was nearly one hundred Clydesdale horses, which have won national acclaim and recognition.

McCrossan's Boys Ranch serves boys from ages 10 to 18, who have experienced difficulties in their homes, schools and communities.

They use livestock programs to teach responsibility and recreation to cultivate good work habits. They help the boys believe in themselves so they can return to their communities with confidence and ability. McCrossan's Boys Ranch is located near Sioux Falls.

Study Recommends New Checkoff Directions

WESTMORELAND, N.Y. — At its meeting in Kansas City, the beef promotion operating committee heard the report of a strategic marketing analysis project which recommends some new directions for the beef checkoff program.

The analysis was conducted for the operating committee by Booz-Allen & Hamilton, Inc. (BA&H), an international management consulting firm. The purpose of the study was to provide information to help the Beef Promotion and Research Board direct the most hard-hitting, comprehensive, and cost-effective beef marketing program possible. According to Beef Board Chairman Glen Klippenstein, some of the BA&H recommendations would set new strategic directions for the beef checkoff program.

"For example," Klippenstein said, "it was recommended that the objective of beef's advertising should change from building an image to making a sale. That means embarking on a major development and testing process for a new advertising strategy."

Other study recommendations

call for marketing programs to recognize that consumers focus on meals instead of specific cuts, and for the beef industry to work more closely with food service and retail organizations to improve beef's market position.

"The Booz-Allen analysis clearly shows that the beef industry must have a focused, integrated marketing strategy in order to be successful," Klippenstein said. "The study also acknowledges that the beef checkoff program is the only means for developing and carrying out an integrated strategy for the industry."

Based on its strategic analysis of the beef industry, BA&H developed a set of guiding principles for checkoff marketing strategies. From these marketing principles, BA&H also developed a set of key checkoff action recommendations for the next 12 months.

A major recommendation for the beef checkoff is to build a two-year advertising plan with time off during the first year to develop and test a new advertising strategy focused on communicating the benefits of beef to consumers. During the second year, the industry should launch its new campaign at sufficient levels to generate breakthrough awareness by consumers.

Regarding the proposed break in advertising, BA&H noted that the "Real Food for Real People" advertising had achieved its goal of raising consumer awareness and is likely to remain stable for a period of time without a major change in message.

BA&H also recommended that the industry develop and test a fresh beef retail packaging program. This initiative would involve working with retailers and packaging manufacturers to examine attractive packaging alternatives.

Working with fast-food and food service organizations also was recommended to provide opportunities to develop and test new beef menu ideas. A related recommendation calls for expanding food service test kitchen capabilities to develop new menu ideas and labor saving opportunities for food service operators.

BA&H also emphasized the need to fund and implement a plan to improve production efficiencies as they relate to product marketing. The plan would address economic losses due to management which directly impact the price and quality of beef and would implement the "War on Fat" program through educating producers, optimizing the mix of cuts year-round, and auditing quality and tenderness.

Other top priority BA&H recommendations for near-term action are to develop a clear plan for marketing and commercializing positive nutrition research results, to focus research efforts to support marketing messages and fit into an integrated marketing strategy, and to integrate public relations across all checkoff programs with clear roles specified for all checkoff organizations.

BA&H also specified some longer term action priorities including full implementation of the new marketing strategy. Recommendations include developing a pilot meat case management program and launching a new advertising campaign that will achieve breakthrough awareness levels and clearly establish the new strategy in the marketplace.

Klippenstein said the Booz-Allen & Hamilton analysis provides a strong foundation for making checkoff programs more effective and more efficient. He said limited checkoff resources mean "we don't have enough to do it all so we must do fewer things better. But," he added, "limited resources also means competition among ideas and that's a healthy process that will lead to enhanced program effectiveness."

"It's time to make some changes in the direction of the beef checkoff program," Klippenstein said. "These changes should be viewed as a stepping stone to bigger opportunities for beef."

NCGA Applauds Soviet Guarantees

WASHINGTON, D.C. — National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) President Jack Kintzle recently applauded President Bush's decision to extend $1.5 billion in credit guarantees to the Soviet Union for the purchase of corn and other U.S. agricultural products.

"It's a move that's good for both nations," Kintzle, a Coggon, Iowa, farmer said. "The Soviet people will benefit from the valuable supply of U.S. commodities and American farmers will continue to have more access to one of their most important export markets."

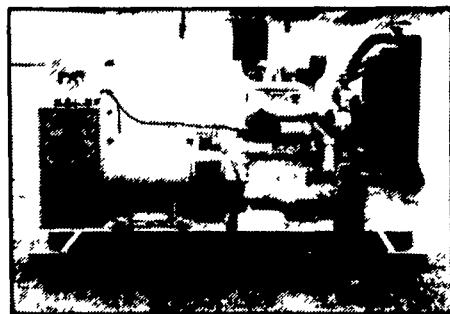

During the 1989-1990 marketing year, the Soviet Union bought about 650 million bushels of corn, or almost one-third of all U.S. corn exports. So far during 1991, Soviet purchases total more than 200 million bushels, made largely through a U.S. export credit initiative announced last December.

"This is an example of how consistent, behind-the-scenes effort by producer organizations can pay off," Kintzle said, noting NCGA's endorsement of a resolution by Sen. Robert Dole (R-KS) calling on Bush to extend an aid package to Moscow, letters to the President urging assistance, and contacts with congressional leaders and administration officials on the Soviet issue. On the eve of the announcement, top officers of NCGA's affiliated state corn growers organizations mounted a campaign of telephone calls to the White House in favor of credit guarantees for the Soviet Union.

"We were discouraged when the agricultural credit issue got caught up in other aspects of U.S.-Soviet relations" such as arms-control measures and broader requests by the Soviet Union for aid in its transition to a market economy, Kintzle said. "But, hopefully, today's announcement signals a separation between agricultural and foreign policy concerns," he said.

Kintzle also extended thanks to Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan, whose determination of the Soviet Union's creditworthiness cleared the way for the credit guarantees. "Being from the very heart of the Corn Belt, no one understands the importance of this initiative to corn farmers better than Secretary Madigan," Kintzle said.

RIGHT MOISTURE CORN

You can reduce field losses by ensiling your corn at 22 to 28 percent moisture content

The Harvestore Power Sweep Auger unloader is designed to unload whole kernel high moisture shelled corn, barley and milo

Feeding right moisture corn (grain ensiled with a kernel moisture content of 22 to 28 percent) can help you get your livestock producing closer to their genetic potential. You can also reduce your field losses and eliminate the time, labor and cost associated with artificial drying. And when used in a properly balanced ration improved feed conversion is often possible.

Right moisture corn requires the right equipment - a Harvestore structure and a Harvestore brand Power Sweep auger unloader. Contact your authorized Harvestore systems dealer and let him explain the benefits of feeding the right stuff.

The Holtzingers operate Ke-Holtz dairy farm, with a 265-head milking herd averaging 17,446 pounds milk and 642 fat. Kevin's expertise is in management of the 990 acres of crops, including corn and alfalfa, and machinery maintenance, while Karen handles all bookkeeping, plus milking and field chores as needed. The couple has three children and are active in church, school and agriculture activities. They represented ADC's District 16, which Kevin has represented at the annual meeting as an alternate delegate.

Randall and Karen Huntsman, Martinsburg, were named first-runner up couple. Their PA Fair-Valley Farms herd includes 83 milking animals averaging 21,093 pounds milk and 800 fat. They produce primarily corn, alfalfa and soybeans on their 261 acres. Their farm is leased from his parents, while Randy and Karen own the cattle and are acquiring the machinery through a lease-purchase agreement. Randy manages the daily farming operation. Karen is a licensed practical nurse and worked in a retirement home for seven years. The couple has three children. He is vice-president of ADC's District 20 and has served as a delegate and alternate.

Second runners-up are Gerald and Teresa Reichard, Waynesboro. Their 85-head dairy herd includes Holsteins and Jerseys. Average on the Sunny Slope Holstein herd is 18,000 pounds milk and 592 pounds fat, while the Jersey herd averages 11,506 milk and 506 fat. The couple owns their cows and equipment and lease the farm, with Gerry in full charge of the daily operations. Teresa is a registered nurse in the emergency department of Chambersburg Hospital. The couple has one child. Gerry is a delegate to ADC from their District 10 and serves on the hauling committee.

Dale and Debra Hershey, Gap, are the third runners-up and represented ADC's District 6. The 42 Holsteins at Wood-Springs Farm average 19,200 pounds milk and 730 pounds fat. Crops produced on their 87 acres include corn, soybeans, alfalfa and barley. The Hersheys lease the farm and own their cattle and equipment. Dale handles all farm responsibilities and recordkeeping. Debbie works part time as a registered nurse at Lancaster General Hospital and helps with feeding and farm chores. They are active in church and community activities.

David and Shirley Garber are ADC's fourth runners-up. Their Spring Lawn Farm, near Lancaster, is home to their 140-head Holstein herd, averaging 18,200 pounds milk and 671 pounds fat. Alfalfa, corn and soybeans are grown on their 217 acres of crop ground. The couple farms in partnership with Dave's two brothers; he is responsible for crop management and machinery maintenance. Shirley is a substitute school teacher, handles the farm's accounting and helps with the herd as needed. They have two children. Dave has served as a delegate for his District 5 and is currently the local's secretary-treasurer.

ADC's five winning couples will represent the cooperative at various local, state and national events and serve as an advisory committee for young cooperator activities. Other participants in the programs included Benjamin and Karen Kolb, Spring City, District 1; Barry and Cheryl Newkirk, Elmer, NJ, District 2; Stephen and Kathleen Aument, Quarryville, District 3; Herman and Debbie Cook, Newark, DE, District 4; Steven and Brenda Hershey, Manheim, District 7.

at Dairymen's corporate young dairymen contest, to be held during the cooperative's December annual meeting in Louisville, KY.

The Jacksons operate a 450-acre, 100-head registered Holstein farm in Brownsville. Bob entered a family partnership after graduation from Penn State University, and now handles all farming operations since his father's retirement. Crops grown include corn, alfalfa, oats, wheat and barley. Joy assists with paperwork and feeding, as needed. The couple has two daughters.

Both are active in agriculture, community and church events and will host the upcoming Fayette County Farm City Day on their "Dairy of Distinction."

Runners-up for the division young dairymen honors were Kenlin and Mary Martin, Smithsburg.

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association

Their Cumberland County farm is operated in partnership with Neal's brother. Neal and Linda are responsible for all phases of the dairy herd, with the 75 cows averaging 20,689 pounds milk, 769 fat and 656 protein. Crops raised on the farm's 330 acres include corn, soybeans, alfalfa, barley and mixed. The couple has four children and are active in 4-H, agriculture and church events.

First runners-up are Henry and Patti Elgersma, who operate their 275 acre farm at Westminster in partnership with his brother and sister-in-law. The 111-head dairy herd has an average of 17,350 pounds milk, 639 fat and 554 protein. Included on the 275 acres of cropland are corn, alfalfa, mixed hay, rye and pasture. "Hank" and Patti have five children and take an active role in their local church and the Carrol Christian Schools.

Samuel and Margaret Fielder, Jarrettsville, were selected second runners-up. They farm in partnership with his father and are responsible for overseeing all phases of the farming operations. Herd average on the 151 milking head is 15,661 pounds milk, 551 fat and 517 protein. Crops raised on the farm's 470 acres include corn, soybeans, oats, alfalfa and pasture. Church and Harford County Farm Bureau are among the local organizations in which the Fielders are active.

Shippensburg is the home of third runners-up Paul and Carla Witter. The Witters' 59-head milking string has a rolling herd average of 17,011 pounds of milk. Feed for the milk cows and replacements is raised on the farm's 235 acres, primarily planted to corn and alfalfa. Paul and Carla have two daughters and the family participates in a variety of church, agricultural and community activities.

The McCullochs will represent Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers at the National Milk Producers Federation's annual meeting in December in Orlando, FL, as well as attend all board of directors functions for the next year. The Elgersmas and the Fielders will represent the cooperative at the July National Institute of Cooperative Education Conference in North Carolina.

Tobacco Growers Burning

Wenger and Sen. Gibson Armstrong, both Lancaster County senators.

Other politicians may have been present, but were not announced.

The other senators present included Sen. Edward Helfrick, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, and Sen. Roger Madigan, representing the agriculturally significant northeastern counties of Bradford, Lycoming, Sullivan, Tioga and Union counties.

Representatives present included Tom Armstrong, John Barley, Edward Arnold, Jere Schuller, Jere Stittmatter, Terry Scheetz, Mike Sturla.

By way of additional background, according to Larry Weaver, the PTGA is a young organization which began forming last winter during an annual tobacco growers extension meeting.

Talk of forming the organization had been ongoing for some time, he said, but it wasn't until this past meeting that individuals began taking tangible steps toward forming the group.

That was prior to Casey's announcement of the tobacco tax proposal.

According to Weaver, the tax issue served as a catalyst to bring about further, and quicker, inhouse organization in PTGA.

The tax issue was not the group's impetus for joining ranks, he said, but is among the issues for which the group seeks to be heard.

Weaver said he would like to see the group's goal include involvement in stimulating research into additional uses of tobacco, such as what members of the Corn Growers Association and others do for their respective crops and agricultural products.

The PTGA is also a restrictive organization. While there have been organizations representing tobacco industry interests, individual growers of tobacco have not had such organization.

Now they do, Weaver said. The PTGA offers a full membership with voting privileges only to those who actually grow tobacco. However, others are admitted into the organization holding a non-voting associate membership.

(For more information, write: PTGA, C/O Larry Weaver, 641 Spruce Rd., New Holland, 17557.)

The issue before the PTGA is a proposal by Gov. Casey which would raise the excise tax on a pack of cigarettes to 30 cents. That amount of tax represents a 168-percent increase. The increase would also cause an additional 2 cents per pack in sales tax (because of the higher overall price per package).

The reason for the tax proposal is an estimated state deficit of up to almost $1 billion. However, up until after his re-election, Casey denied any deficit in state funds existed. His administration has blamed the downturn in the national economy for the state's economic woes.

The cigarette tax would create about 10 percent of the revenues needed to offset state spending.

But most of the representatives who addressed the PTGA said they did not believe the tax was justified.

According to several representatives, the tax won't work because it will discourage smoking and also discourage the purchase of cigarettes within the state. Both of which could reduce the amount of revenue the state already collects from the sale of cigarettes.

From July 1988 to June 1989, the state collected $216,852,000 from the sale of cigarettes with an 18-cent-per-pack tax (actually nine-tenths of a cent per cigarette).

In 1989 to 1990 it fell back to about $214,000,000.

The decrease has been attributed to a decrease in smoking among Pennsylvanians.

The projected cigarette tax income for the current year, which ends Sunday, is $210,000,000, according to the Casey administration's figures.

The increased tax would raise an additional $300,000,000, according to Casey's figures.

However, critics of the plan say Casey's figures and figuring are way out of line.

Without the tax increase, officials say that actual income derived from taxing the sale of cigarettes can be expected to drop, given the trend of the past years.

Furthermore, critics said the tax, which would make the cost of a pack of cigarettes close to $2.50, would send large numbers of smokers across state lines to buy the products there, illegally or not.

Since the majority of the population of the state is close to the state's borders, critics say the chances of such widespread interstate smuggling is even more likely.

In addition to the cigarette tax, Casey is also calling for an increased tax on other forms of tobacco.

The negative effect of the tax on growers is not as direct. However, arguments made by several people are that the tax is onerous to smokers and will reduce the market demand for the raw tobacco, thus the price received by farmers.

Weaver said there are a number of Plain growers whose income from the sale of tobacco represents an estimated 80 to 85 percent of their total farm income.

He said his tobacco sales income is closer to 5 percent, but is an especially important income, because it provides higher profits — raising tobacco is a lower investment operation compared to raising other crops.

According to information supplied by the PTGA, there are 15 counties in Pennsylvania in which tobacco is grown, representing 10,000 acres cultivated for the crop.

Figuring on an average 1,800 pounds of tobacco produced per acre, the total average number of pounds grown in Pennsylvania is 18 million.

The value of that crop to the farmer in a good year is $1.75 per pound, providing an income of $3,150 per acre.

In an average production year with good prices, the income value to Keystone producers is $31.5 million. In 1989, Pennsylvania exported (out of country) $7.2 million worth of tobacco, an increase of more than $3 million compared to exports 1986.

The total annual tax value of the tobacco raised in Pennsylvania is significant, when put into terms of cigarette sales.

(It should be noted that Pennsylvania grows two types of tobacco — 609 type for cigarettes and 41 type, associated more with other uses.)

According to statistics provided by the PTGA, a pound of tobacco equals about 40 packs of cigarettes, which translates to about $18 in federal and state taxes.

Per acre of land used to raise tobacco, translating the tobacco in terms of cigarette taxes, represents $33,840 collected by the state and federal government.

The entire Pennsylvania crop tax value at current production levels is $194,400,000. (Which happens to be close to the actual amount collected by the state from cigarette sales.)

Per acre of land used for tobacco production, cigarette taxes represent an income of $19,440 for the state.

With Casey's proposal, that amount would theoretically be increased by $21,600 per acre, with an additional sales tax increase of $1,440 per acre for a total increase of $23,000 per acre.

The conclusion offered by the PTGA is:

"Tobacco already produces significant revenues for our state and federal governments. No other commodity is taxed as heavily as tobacco and no other group pays a tax burden similar to that placed upon those who use tobacco products.

"Governor Casey's tax proposal unfairly single out those who grow tobacco and use tobacco products and places a disproportionate tax burden upon their shoulders.

"Everyone realizes that our state government needs additional revenue. Attacking Pennsylvania's tobacco growers and those who use our product with a 168-percent excise tax increase is unfair; particularly when so little credit is given to those Pennsylvania Tobacco Growers who work so hard to produce a product which provides this commonwealth with both a positive economic impact and significant tax revenues."

put them way ahead of previous generations." These statements were made by Harry Roth, general manager of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative.

Addressing the theme of "PCC--Building Tomorrow's Cooperatives Today", Roth described four important ingredients of a successful cooperative role model: one must be a planner - to know what the cooperative must do for its members in the future; a leader - to motivate and inspire others; a unifier - to help people to work together and a supporter - a user and subscriber to the cooperative way of business. Concerning younger cooperative members, Roth added that cooperatives must answer the question "What's in the cooperative for me?"

According to Anita Leitzel, activities coordinator for the Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association, the rural electric cooperatives are very concerned about rural youth. This is evidenced by the column on teen concerns in the monthly PREA publication entitled "Penn Lines. The column solicits teen reactions to issues such as health care, education, and drugs. The information is used to better understand the young members of rural electric associations.

Approximately 210,000 Pennsylvania families receive their electricity through one of the 13 rural electric cooperatives in the state. The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association, located in Harrisburg, serves as the voice for the individual associations by lobbying for their needs and concerns and by providing needed services. A newly created position on the PREA staff is involved with issues concerning economic development. The specialist may visit a targeted rural area to try to help develop new businesses in existing facilities.

Lewis Gardner, a dairy farmer from Germania and president of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, spoke from the viewpoint of the dairy industry. Gardner posed questions to his listeners concerning how cooperatives can be more effective with potentially fewer members. He also asked the youth for suggestions on how cooperatives can help to stabilize the dairy industry and for qualities that one looks for in an effective cooperative leader.

Gardner reminded the group that members are the essential factor in cooperatives. Therefore, they need to be heard and kept informed, and they must be encouraged to participate in their cooperative.

Laura England, communications manager for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, addressed the topic of co-op roles at the Summer Institute. In her discussion, Ms. England distinguished between various positions within a cooperative and highlighted their main responsibilities. Specific positions discussed included the manager, other employees and directors and the relationships that these positions had to one another.

Other Summer Institute highlights included a parade of careers in which various cooperative employees described their position, its responsibilities and educational background. The topic of the legislative process was addressed by John Nikoloff, independent lobbyist/consultant whose clients include DairyLea, Inc. and Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. Nikoloff gave an overview of the legislative process and fielded questions ranging from wetlands issues to animal rights.

At the council's board meeting Wednesday morning, Crystal Smithmyer was introduced as the new executive director. Smithmyer will replace Carol Buckhout who resigned, effective July 1. Smithmyer has a B.A. in speech communications and a minor in extension education from Penn State University. She has been a free lance communications consultant for many clients in the agricultural field. She has served internships with Agway, Inc.; Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program; DairyLea Cooperative; American Dairy Association and Dairy Council and worked for the Penn State Office for Disability Services; the Penn State Dairy Extension; the Fonda Corporation and the Blair County Extension.

Smithmyer was president of the Penn State Dairy Science Club and was a member of the Ag Student Council, the Delta Theta Sigma Fraternity and the Sigma Alpha Professional Agricultural Sorority.

She was raised on a dairy farm, served as Blair County Dairy Princess 1984-1985 and was a delegate and state finalist, Rural Electric Youth Tour, Washington, DC, 1984 and a delegate to the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association youth conference, Bucknell University, 1983.

Council President Jay Rush said Smithmyer was well qualified for the job and that the council was pleased with her acceptance of the position.

At the awards luncheon, Rush said a lot of caring people had made the institute possible. He used the letters in the word "cares" to expound on this idea. C: a Cooperative is a group of people from cooperatives who are cooperating.

A: everyone at the institute were the Active ones in their chosen field.

R: the cooperative message needs to be Reinforced so the members and others don't forget the reason to cooperate.

E: Education is why the council is involved with youth, young adults, directors, employees and management personnel.

S: everyone should look at his own Situation in production agriculture or the community for ways to use what was learned this week.

In the awards program, the Jay Irwin Leadership Awards went to Jacy Clugston and Scott Stone.

Clugston works on Balmer Bros. dairy farm. Four days each week she milks cows, and the other three days she feeds steers and dry cows. In the summer she helps dig potatoes and does other jobs around the farm. She is a student at Manheim Central, was the Lancaster County FFA president, the Lancaster County Dairy Princess and finalist in the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess contest in 1990.

Stone comes from a large dairy farm in Centre County and has a work contract with his grandfather that says for each 10 calves he successfully raises, his grandfather gives him a calf. Stone is active in FFA, 4-H, and Students Against Drunk Driving. He is on the school speech team, is the drum major in the band, serves as basketball manager and is active on the school year book staff and the school newspaper.

The new Hal Doran Award was presented to Bruce Stainbrook, for his work as an adult resource leader from the Erie-Crawford Council. Doran has been active in cooperative leadership for many years and is the director of Penn State's cooperative education program. Doran said Stainbrook represented the kind of person who worked behind the scenes on behalf of the scholars without them really knowing that he cared for them. But he really does care, and he fits the category of a caring person very well.

The poster contest was won by Scott Stone and Mandy Hilbert. The viewpoint award went to Mandy Hilbert, and Jacy Clugston was runner up.

The examinations went to the following scholars: New Jersey, 1st year, Elizabeth Jost; 2nd year, Terence Brown. Pennsylvania, 1st year, Matthew Garlick & Shelly Ogline; 2nd year, Benjamin Ehrhart.

Scholarships to NICE went to the following students: New Jersey, Terry Brown and Elizabeth Jost; alternates, Tina Albertson and Travia Eachus.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative member's sons or daughters, Michael Hensel, Kevin Myer, Shannon Semmel, Sheryl Sollenberger and Dean Wenger. New Jersey, Theresa Cooper.

Minico scholarship to NICE went to April Beeman.

Kerr Named Holstein CEO

Maryland Correspondent

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. — Holstein Association President Donald Seipt, in his address to the delegates, announced the selection of Stephen R. Kerr as the new executive secretary. The board of directors confirmed his selection on June 21.

Kerr, 42, from Westminster, Vt., currently heads his own consulting firm, which coordinates the legislative activities of the Council of Northeast Farmer Cooperatives.

Previously, he was the chief aide on ag issues for Vermont

Congressman Jim Jeffords and was director of Ag Development in the Vermont Department of Agriculture.

Kerr and his wife, Jan, have two sons, Tyson, 9, and Ethan, 6.

Kerr was here for the President's Reception on Sunday and met with association leaders on Monday.

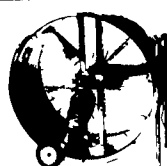

Because of the current status of dairy legislation in Congress, he needed to return to Washington to be active in his legislative role to represent dairy farmers. He will assume his responsibilities as executive secretary on or about August 1.

be done to expand a customer base. Especially attractive are overseas markets.

According to Hastings, "Canada is in competition with us. We need to get our act together to meet the demands of the market."

He encouraged breeders to continue to be active in the association and not to lose self confidence in producing high productive cattle.

Hastings challenged breeders to use their own cow family success stories in communicating with other breeders. Breed development is important for merchandising.

He concluded with a proposal to the Breeders Majority: "Declare victory. Reflect on your accomplishments and dissolve your formal organization. Unite to achieve the goal of breeding a better cow. The cow is safe, now lets secure the future for all Holstein breeders."

The magazine editor's conclusion sparked questions and discussion from the audience. Opinions voiced:

- The purpose of Breeders Majority was for the future health and well being of the Holstein Association and at no time were the organizations opposed to each other.

- The success of Breeders Majority is because participants weren't afraid to put forth their views and found a place to be heard.

- Is the formal organization getting in the way of each breeder's responsibility in his or her own community or state?

- Would consideration be given to working from inside the Holstein Association in the 90's be more effective than working outside was in the 80's.

- If Breeders Majority disbands from its active role of listening to ideas and views and conveying them to the Holstein Association, how can we communicate with our association board members more effectively?

In other business, each of the candidates running for office on the Holstein Association Board of Directors was given the opportunity to address the audience and answer questions.

David Burket, East Freedom, Pa., an active member and supporter of Breeders Majority, introduced the candidates.

Seeking the office of president is Carl Butler, Pine Plains, New York. He served eight years as director, completing a two-year term as vice president and active executive secretary since Jan. 1.

Butler said he feels that with lower milk prices, it becomes even more critical that every dairy farm become more efficient and take advantage of all possible sources of income.

The economy also affects the association and its relationships with other organizations. All organizations serving dairy farmers must strive to do better and more efficiently. Holstein Association is no exception, he said.

John Selz, Humbird, Wisc., is running for vice president. He has served eight years on the board and currently chairs the executive committee. John and his wife Marianne work together with his brother William on Selz Farm Inc.

The highest net return for us as dairy farmers will result from staying on course with our goals and plans through the ups and downs in the dairy business.

Holstein and NDHI are working jointly on electronic identification. Potentially there could be a national data base for all dairy cattle, assembling information of linear type evaluation for A.I., classification programs etc. We are in the information business and just scratching the surface on electronic dissemination of breeding and dairy management information worldwide.

Bud Leckie, White Plains, Tenn., is seeking re-election. He has been involved in leadership roles in Holstein organizations for the past 24 years.

Keeping Holstein Association in the lead of all world breed organizations will take considerable effort. All out effort must be maintained to keep Holstein as the world's number one source of dairy genetics.

A breeder must cut expenses as many ways as possible but not cut out quality programs for his herd. Leckie has been involved in breeding registered Holsteins since 1952.

Horace Backus, Mexico, N.Y., is running for his second term in office. He served the boards finance committee. A 40-year member of the association. Backus has been in the pedigree catalog and newspaper publishing business since 1943.

The association should not be involved in public sale management, but concentrate its efforts on selling registered Holsteins for its members, he said.

We need to intensify efforts to provide good reasons for registry and transfers through programs that increase value of registered Holsteins, he said.

James Patterson, Greenville, Ohio, served on the Field Operations Committee in his first term. He previously owned a registered herd before working 12 years for the Holstein Association as a classifier, technical supervisor and manager of classification.

He said he feels that when prices are low, it is more important than ever to receive a large percentage of income from merchandising registered cattle. Registration, classification and DHR are very important steps to merchandising and cannot be eliminated, he said.

Keith Stump, Loyal, Wisc. is running for a first term on the board.

Breeding registered dairy cattle has seldom been a get rich quick kind of business, but rather a long term investment that shows steady profits over a period of time, he said.

Through membership in the Holstein Association, he said breeders have available services; registry, classification, compilation of records and data, finding and creating markets. Stump and his wife Dawn operate their own sales management business.

Bob Fitzsimmons of Vermont, Breeders Majority president, chaired the meeting.

Theft Watch

(A column for farmers and agribusiness to report missing and found machinery, tools and livestock. Call the news department at (717) 394-3047 with these reports.)

- Earlier this month, a total of $3,600 value in products was taken from Leinbach Farm Supply at Shippensburg. The theft included six chain saws (Stihl), and four trimmers. An air conditioner was pushed out of the wall and entry was made through the whole. The Carlisle/Cumberland State Police have been notified. Anyone who knows about these missing items should call John Leinbach at (717) 532-5511.

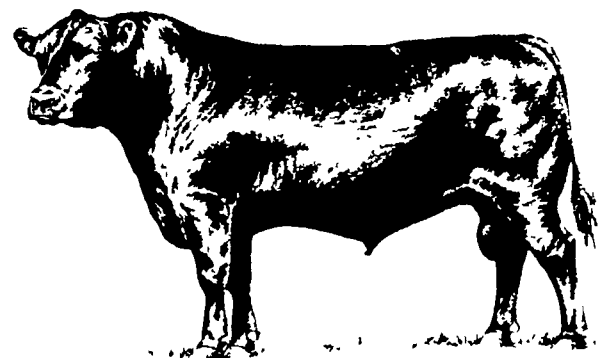

- A number of items were taken from the back of a truck at Gap Auction last week: socket wrench set, spotlight, nylon bag, large blue first aid kit with blood pressure cuff, stethoscope, surgical kit and numerous other medical items. Donald Aikens is an ambulance volunteer and went to help someone when he discovered the loss. Anyone who knows anything about these items should call (215) 594-4196 day or (609) 358-7200 evening.

- On Tuesday night, June 18, a red, one and one-half ton, dump truck with high sides was stolen from the yard at Twin Oaks Farm and Nursery in Hillton Twp. in Bucks County. The truck is a 1985 Ford F-350 with a special snow plow on the front bumper. Good news: just before press time this week, the truck was reported found parked in a lot about 30 miles away. It was left in good condition.

- Douglas Reinhart, Chambersburg, Franklin County, had farm tools taken from his farm shop and two hydraulic cylinders removed from corn and hay choppers. Milk was also contaminated in the bulk tank. Anyone with information about this crime should call (717) 261-0927.

- Benjamin Shank, Holtwood, Lancaster County, had a Farmall M antique tractor driven out of the field in broad daylight. He thinks it may have been driven into the woods and left there. Anyone with information about this tractor should call (717) 284-4820.

NFU Supports Two-Tiered Support Price

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The debate over changing federal dairy policy began in earnest last week as the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry held the first of a series of hearings about ways to reform the policy.

The subcommittee was told it "has little choice but to adopt some sort of two-price program," by South Dakota Farmers Union President Dallas Tonsager, a dairyman and member of the National Farmers Union Executive Committee.

Tonsager listed a series of objections to other pricing formulas that are being considered. "According to the farm bill, additional support price cuts and another whole-herd buyout are not options," he said.

He also said that a recent USDA analysis indicated that a target price-deficiency payment system would be too costly and ineffective in managing milk supplies. "Doing nothing is not an alternative," he said.

"Even the USDA analysis concludes that a two-tiered program would provide the best return for producers at the lowest cost to taxpayers of all the alternatives they reviewed," Tonsager said.

Under NFU's two-tiered proposal, dairy farmers would receive one support price on their first level, or tier, of production. A much lower support price would be built in as a disincentive to produce beyond that level.

Tonsager told the subcommittee the question that must answered now is where the support prices should be set.

"Without a price that allows a producer to recover production costs on a base level of production, even a two-tiered program will not work to stop the bleeding in rural America."

Tonsager said today's wholesale milk prices (approximately $10 per hundredweight) are so low that farm families are not even able to pay monthly bills, let alone longer-term obligations. He pointed out that some milk producers have been forced to turn to food stamps to support their families.

NFU is supporting a dairy pricing option introduced by Congressman Tim Johnson (D-SD) that would set a top-tier price support level of $13.60 per hundredweight, a level Tonsager said would cover most producers' production costs.

USDA has ruled out support levels that high, citing that additional costs would be incurred by consumers and government-funded assistance programs.

NFU disagrees, noting that the dramatic drop in dairy prices during the last year has not resulted in consumer savings.

Tonsager also said that cost-savings from a two-tier program could be used to offset impacts of the programs on low-income consumers.

Committee Adds Events To NAILE Show

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The Executive Committee of the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE), which will be held at Louisville's Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center Nov. 9-22, recently announced an addition to the rules for the NAILE Dairy Show.

"Junior Dairy Show rules now read: 'To be eligible to compete for the cash awards, an animal must be shown by the junior in all instances, except by prior written approval,'" said Harold Workman, NAILE executive director.

According to the NAILE Dairy Cattle Advisory Committee, this rule is consistent with all dairy association rules and regulations and consistent with the show's aim for excellence.

In many other aspects, the dairy cattle show will remain the same as it has been — one of the largest dairy shows in the country with over 3,200 entries.

Producers of every major breed of dairy cattle will have ample opportunity to put their animals on display in a wide variety of regional and national shows, with both junior and open classes being represented.

Winter National Milking Shorthorn Junior Show.

The North American International Livestock Exposition is the largest all-breed, purebred livestock show in the world. Beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, dairy goats, swine, quarter horses and draft horses compete for more than $400,000 in total premiums and awards during the giant show's two-week November stand.

Sponsored by the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the 18th

Annual NAILE is expected to attract more than 16,000 entries from nearly every state and from Canada, and 150,000 visitors from the United States and several foreign countries.

For entry forms and premium catalogs, exhibitors may write to: Harold Workman, Executive Director, North American International Livestock Exposition, P.O. Box 36367, Louisville, Kentucky, 40233; or call (502) 588-3166.

Rodale Holds Field Day

MAXATAWNY (Berks Co.) — The Rodale Institute will conduct its 11th annual Field Demonstration Days at the Rodale Institute Research Center near Kutztown on July 30 and 31.

Research Center staff members will lead the day-long technical tour, which will provide attendees with a look at the latest sustainable agricultural techniques.

Each day's format is identical, so choice of dates is personal. The day's activities will include a catered lunch and an informal information exchange with staff researchers following the tour. Attendees will be provided with a packet containing detailed reports of all the center's 1991 trials.

Daily registration is limited to 200 people; a $10 per person registration fee is required. To register, send a check or money order payable to the Rodale Institute, to: Field Days, c/o RIRC, 611 Siegfriedale Rd., Kutztown, PA 19530. For more information, call (215) 683-6383.

The Rodale Institute Research Center is five miles east of Kutztown off Route 222.

30 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

-Miss Lois Clymer was named president of the Conestoga Cooking Club on Tuesday night at the reorganizational meeting in the Conestoga Valley High School.

Other officers elected include vice president, Ellen Overgaard; secretary, Jean Clymer, and treasurer, Julia Landis.

Adult leaders of the club are Joyce Denlinger, Mrs. Alvera Hess and Karen Boran.

-The Mount Joy 4-H sewing club met at Way's Appliance store on June 20.

The business meeting was called to order by president Lilli Ann Wivell. New game leaders were elected. They are Sue Eshleman and Lucy Breneman. The members pinned on their patterns and started to cut them out.

-Members of the Lititz 4-H Wildlife Club were asked to respond to roll call by reporting the kind of wildlife they had observed at their second meeting of the club.

Meeting at the home of John M. Buckwalter, Lititz R3, the group heard a report from Melvin Long, one of their members on the wildlife he observed on a recent trip to Potter County, PA. Long also showed a series of colored slides of his trip.

President Jay Foreman presided at the meeting, according to Linda Stauffer, reporter of the club.

-Only two cows in the Red Rose Dairy Herd Improvement Association made more than 700 pounds of butterfat in the lactations completed during May, the recent newsletter of the association shows.

Two herds in the association had 70 pounds of butterfat per cow for the month. The 34 registered Holsteins in the herd of Mowrey Frey Jr., Lancaster R7, made the record on 1,750 pounds of milk with a 4.0 per cent test while the 10 registered Holsteins in the George Rutt herd at Stevens R1 averaged 1730 pounds of milk with a 4.0 per cent test.

A Holstein cow owned by John Shelly, Manheim R1, finished the highest lactation during the month. Judy made 715 pounds of butterfat in 18,813 pounds of milk with a 3.8 per cent test.

-Harold Lindecamp, R2 Peach Bottom, received a certificate of recognition for serving 11 years as Dairy Herd Improvement Association Supervisor in Lancaster County. The award was made at the annual meeting of the Association of Pennsylvania DHIA supervisors here.

Certificates were awarded by Herbert C. Gilmore, extension dairy specialist, in charge of the DHIA program in Pennsylvania.

Guernsey Convention

Wisconsin. Pennsylvania junior members won the junior division of the contest.

The results of the annual meeting included election of Kevin Nedrow of Clifton Springs, New York to the board of directors. He replaces Dave Bolin of Clarks-ville, Iowa for the director at large.

Eldon Moss of Iowa City, Iowa was elected to the board of direc-tors in the contest with past presi-dent, Phil Tennis from the district five.

The officers of the 1991 AGA Board of Directors are E. Cline Brubaker of Rocky Mount, Vir-ginia, president; Ralph Turley, Man-sfield, Ohio, vice president; and Truman Weaver, Goshen, Indiana, second vice president.

An important part of the National Convention is the National Convention and Heifer Sale. This year's sale averaged $1,889 on 45 head of registered Guernseys.

Topping the sale was a syndi-cated bull consigned by the Ernest R. Berousek Trustee, Yukon, Oklahoma for $5,000. He was purchased by the Tutur-Touchdown Syndicate and 21st Century Genetics of Shawano, Wisconsin.

The top selling female was con-signed by Gary Estes of Ozark, Missouri. The 1990 All-American Senior Two-Year-Old cow was purchased by Jennifer Mithoefer of Claypool, Indiana for $3,400.

Two of the most prestigious national awards presented at the annual meeting were the Master Breeder and Distinguished Ser-vice awards. J. Jene Mungle of Atoka, Oklahoma was the reci-pient of the Master Breeder Award. Owner of Mungles Guern-sey Farm, Jene has participated in the AGA programs, such as adver-tising and appraisal. He has been committed to breeding cattle for more than 40 years.

A former AGA fieldman, Leslie Peckha, of Fort Atkinson, Wis-consin was awarded the AGA Dis-tinguished Service Award. Peck-ham was an employee of the AGA for 27 years. He supported and promoted the AGA programs to everyone he met. His commitment and dedication to the Guernsey cow and people has been greatly appreciated by everyone he was in contact with.

The awards for living lifetime production went to Pleasant Hill Choice Caramel owned by Tru-man Weaver, Goshen, Indiana. The Liebers Trophy was presented for the top living lifetime milk producer. The Valley Set Award honors the cow with the highest lifetime butterfat record. Pleasant Hill Choice Caramel has lifetime totals of 209,140 pounds of milk and 9,555 pounds of butterfat in 3,675 days. This excellent 90, Gold Star Dam is sired Kellogg Minnies Choice.

The national production awards were won by West Coast cows. Shenmont Fayette Fern-ETS col-lected the New England Guernsey Breeders' Association award based on the highest 305-day, two-time, mature equivalent (305D-2X-ME) milk record and the Nyala-Bedford trophy which is given to the two-year-old cow with the highest DHIR, ME milk production. "Fern" produced an actual record of 2-07 305D 26,790M* 3.6% 955F 3.5% 926P* which converts to 30,890M 1,070F 1,037P. This VG-88 Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette daughter is owned by John Madsen of Temecula, California.

The Tarbell trophy which is awarded to the breed's highest DHIR, ME butterfat record pro-ducer went to Rozelyn Honors Gloria owned by Rozelyn Farm and JoJo Miller Fulton of Lynden, Washington. This Land of Living Jennys Honor daughter had an actual record of 4-09 305D 26,220M* 5.4% 1,413F* 3.8% 994P* or 27,269M 1,427F 1,004P ME. The California Protein award was presented to Rozelyn Admiral Tandi with 3-01 27,082M 1,287F 1,043P DHIR ME record for the highest DHIR, ME lactation for protein production. "Tandi" is owned by Rozelyn Farm, Lynden, Washington.

Laeschland Farm of Curtiss, Wisconsin, was the recipient of both the high DHIR ME Herd Average for milk and protein awards. Phil and Joyce Laesch and family had a herd production of 19,211M 866F and 688P. The award for milk production was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association and the protein award was spon-sored by the California Guernsey Cattle Club.

Spring Flo Guernseys, owned by David and Nancy Vanden Huevel of Black Creek, Wiscon-sin received the high DHIR ME herd average for butterfat produc-tion, with a herd production of 17,888M 901F and 611P. The award was sponsored by the Illi-nois Guernsey Breeders' Association.

Three Guernsey breeders from around the country competed for the National Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer award. Califor-nia's Laurie Askew was the reci-pient of this year's honor. Laurie and her husband, Bill, have a 1990 rolling herd average of 34 cows of 15,657MM 678F 565P.

Askew is the administrative secretary for the California Guern-sey Cattle Club. Laurie was the owner of the 1990 All-American Aged Cow.

Hope Fyrchiak of Fowlerville, Michigan, was the runner-up in this year's contest. She is owner and breeder of Heather Hill cattle. This year's honorable mention winner was Ronald Hopkins of Sheridan, Indiana.

Junior members from eight states participated in this year's National Outstanding Guernsey Youth Contest. Todd Riggs of Evansville, Indiana, was named the 1991 award winner. The 21-year-old son of Lee and Carol Riggs, he is currently studying dairy science at the Ohio State University.

Brad Goodman of Lima, Ohio was named the runner-up. Kurt Peterson of Cashton, Wisconsin, Greg DeForest of Leslie, Michi-gan and Angelique McDonald of Imler, Pennsylvania were finalists in the contest. Other participants were Stacy Eilers of Scotch Grove, Iowa, Charles Kelly of Carlisle, South Carolina and Eli-zabeth Seager of Prattsburg, New York.

Crowned the 1991 National Guernsey Queen was Tamara Sack of Baldwin, Kansas. She is the 21-year-old daughter of James and Nancy Sack. An agricultural economics major with a minor in political science at Kansas State University, Sack has received many 4-H and FFA awards.

Jo-Ann Chason of Hydes, Maryland and Gina Lynn Carinalli of Sebastopol, California were named the National Guernsey Princesses.

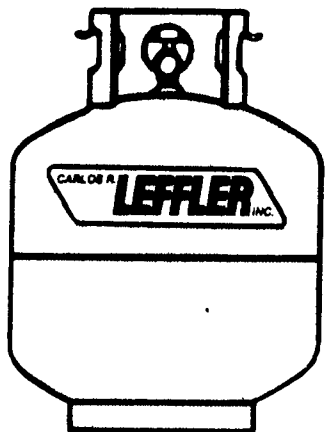

The other contestants were Loretta Chupp of Inola, Oklaho-ma; Daneen Ann DeForest of Leslie, Michigan; Elizabeth Little-field of Watertown, New York; Gloria Frankenbach of Palmyra, Missouri; Sherri Hartmann of Okawville, Illinois; Stacy Eilers of Scotch Grove, Iowa; Melissa McDonald of Imler, Pennsylvan-ia; Wendy Parker of London, Ohio; Develyn Sargent of Cynth-iana, Kentucky; Tammy Tinsley of Pelzer, South Carolina; Sheila Werner of Barnum, Minnesota; and Julie Zirk of Elroy, Wisconsin.

The second Guernsey Gold Pro-duction Contest awards were pre-sented. A group of open heifers were selected in 1988 to be offered for sale to junior members. These animals have now com-pleted their first lactations and based on four percent, fat cor-rected milk (FCM), Abiqua Acres Generator Shirley was the reci-pient of the award. Erik Nelson of Hilmar, California is the owner of this cow. At 2-03 on a 4% FCM she had 17,976M. Second was Shenmont Fayette Farnia with 2-04 17,200M owned by Herby D. Lutz of Chester, South Carolina. Dado Futures Rilla owned by Daniel Jensen of Forest Grove, Oregon has 2-00 16,992M.

This year's National Junior Gold Star Breeders were based on a January 1991 Yield Deviation (YD) of +1,000M or +50F or over. The final score of the entry must also be one point above breed average for the entry's age group.

Imprisonment, Loss Of Farm Taught German Couple That Freedom Is A Precious Privilege

Joyce Bupp

York Co. Correspondent

UPPERVILLE, Va. — Freedom. On this upcoming July 4, Americans will once again turn their thoughts to celebrating the birthday of this nation, founded in the concept and pursuit of personal freedom.

Freedom is rarely more precious to anyone than to those who have lost it. Ursula and Ernst Theo "Ted" Haberland, Sr. will tell you that.

The Haberbands are well-known among dairy breeder across the country. For more than 30 years, until his retirement in 1986, Ted was manager of Foxlease Farm in Upperville, noted for its outstanding registered Holstein breeding stock and show circuit accomplishments.

It was in search of freedom that the Haberbands in 1945 fled their home in Wedlitz, East Germany, leaving behind everything but a few baby clothes that they carried with them.

The third of three children, and the only son, Haberland was born the day after Christmas, 1919. His parents farmed with his maternal grandparents, who retired the year after his birth and turned the operation over to the younger couple. The 2,000-plus acres supported two herds of black and white cows, a 100-head herd and another of 60 head.

After graduation, Haberland unlike most men his age chose not to enter military service. "Hitler was in power and we had to take part in certain political things in school, but my father and mother were not party members."

Haberland wanted to farm.

"You must 'learn' farming in Germany! Without passing the written and verbal tests you can't even manage a farm," he explains. Following his two-year apprenticeship, he took a position managing a 500-acre dairy and hog farm owned by a friend who was serving in the military. Later, he became manager for his brother-in-law's 600 acres with dairy and sheep.

But in 1940, Haberland was drafted into the German army. Assigned to a heavy artillery division, he was with the 1941 march into Russia when World War II officially began. The following year he was sent to officer's school and commissioned a first lieutenant on his completion in March 1943. A month later, he married Ursula, daughter of a military officer.

The honeymoon was short, with Haberland sent to train the German troops in Belgium on heavy artillery. From there, he was moved to Normandy, shortly before the invasion by the Allied forces. In July 1944, Haberland was seriously injured when a German tank took a hit, careened out of control and ran over him.

It was four months before he could walk again. Sent back home to Wedlitz for further recuperation, he arrived shortly before the birth of their first child in November.

During April 1945, Haberland was being driven back from a visit with his grandmother when he and his driver were halted by a machine-gun bearing American soldier in a jeep.

"With my little English and his little bit of German, I explained my home was close by and invited him to come along. We shared a glass of wine; and I thought that for us, the war was over," he reminisces. Several days later, Haberland was requested to report to the town's mayor. He did so, casually, even taking his two dogs with him.

"I never came back," simply says this affable, retired farmer.

Hauled away as a prisoner of war, with not even a chance to say goodbye, Haberland eventually was turned over to the English in Belgium. By giving as his address that of a cousin in West Germany, he was set free in October 1945, to return there.

Arriving at his cousin's house, he spied a baby outside in a carriage. Pausing to look at the baby, he was startled by the screaming of an irate and protective woman - his mother-in-law. She had not even recognized him at first.

"That was our baby," he marvels.

Many East Germans had already fled to American-occupied areas as the Russian occupation troops were moving in. Ursula had left the baby with her stepmother in West Germany, then returned to the Wedlitz farm in concern over the elder Haberbands. Ted, Ursula, and their daughter were eventually reunited there.

Soon after, the Communists "disowned" all East German farms more than 100 hectares (250 acres), seizing them from the owners for collectivization. The flat, rich, black-ground fields and beautiful old buildings which had been in the family for seven generations were, with a single edict, confiscated from the Haberbands.

Taking only the few clothes Ursula could throw together in a bag in a brief notice, the Haberbands fled Wedlitz. They moved from friend to friend, seeking a way out of the country. One friend in the West was able to get them two railroad tickets. Another friend took them a distance in a wagon, but when they saw guards ahead, they turned the wagon back and continued on foot.

Eventually making their way to the last town next to the border, they again sought help. Pretending to walk out to work in a garden, they just kept walking - until they were safely across the border.

"I kept wanting to look back to make sure Ursula was still behind me, but knew that would look suspicious," Haberland says of the frightening escape.

"It was not just us," Ursula hastens to add. "Many, many people had similar experiences."

Other family members were less fortunate. Haberland's father, his brother-in-law, and his uncle were taken prisoners of war and sent to Buchenwald prison. All three died in prison during the next two years.

Safe in West Germany - and free - Haberland sought out the farm of a former employee of his father. With no possessions, no money, no place to go, he hoped they might be offered refuge but was unsure how they would be received.

"When he saw me he said 'Ted you crazy fool, where have you been so long and where's your wife?'" smiles Haberland at the memory. He found a job managing a 1,000-acre farm near Hamelin for an elderly woman whose son was in the service. Along with the crops, he oversaw the care of 120 dairy cows, 600 sheep, and 90 breeding sows.

"It was a most enjoyable time. We made many friends there," says Ursula. Their family also welcomed a second daughter.

In 1952, he was offered a job managing a dairy farm in the United States. The "iron-curtain" border was still too uncomfortably close - 70 miles away - and America offered a new opportunity. A Swiss businessman living in New York wanted to dairy farm on his Dutchess County farm and hired Haberland to manage it.

Allowed only 40 pounds of luggage on the 25-hour flight from Frankfurt to New York, Haberland dressed in extra layers of clothes - "Everything I could wear" - including a heavy woolen coat he wanted to take with him.

"It was July when I came. Everyone looked at me and smiled. I thought these Americans are great, so friendly. Later on I realized they were laughing at my heavy coat in July," he chuckles.

Even then, he almost was turned away. Immigrants had to pay a $10 entrance fee, which Haberland did not have. Fortunately, a sister who had immigrated earlier and worked for the German mission in Washington was there to greet him - and paid his fee. Ursula and their two daughters joined him in October. A year later, Haberland took another position on a neighboring farm.

"That was where we really got used to the American way of life,"

Now retired, the Haberbands maintain close touch with their grandchildren and the dairy business. Sharing a moment with New Wedlitz farm's favorite Holstein, "Pie," are Theo and Elsa, astride the pet cow, Ted Sr. and Ursula, and Beth at the halter. Hillaire Tony Pie is a 6-year-old, VG-87 daughter of Marshfield Elevation Tony, purchased by Ted Sr., when she was a calf.

says Ursula of the friends for whom they worked. "We really learned English there; they would help us and correct us when we made mistakes."

In 1955, the Haberbands moved to Upperville, Virginia, to manage and put together a dairy herd for John Archbald's Foxlease Farm. Haberland selected the foundation stock from top New York herds.

"They were all registered Holsteins, and I paid $600 to $700 for most of them. But for three, I paid $1,000. Two of those later went Excellent and one was VG-88," he relates.

From that seed stock, Haberland bred and built for Foxlease one of the nation's top Holstein herds. The 40-cow barn was later expanded to accommodate 60, and then 120 head of milking animals. A very selective breeder, Haberland continued the Ormsby bloodlines, along with Burke and Rag Apple genetics.

Active for many years on the show circuit, Foxlease regularly exhibited at the Pennsylvania All-American, the Eastern Exposition and the Maryland State Fair. Sires from the herd went into service with numerous AI establishments, including Select Sires, Tri-State Breeders, Curtiss and All-West, and into 24 different countries around the world.

Nobleman, a Bootmaker son, sired the cow that has topped Europe fat and protein records. Out of a Valiant dam at Foxlease, Haberland relates how the bull was shipped on a Norwegian freighter, where the crew overfed him the first week and ran out of feed. His rations for the remaining trip included sauerkraut, cabbage and bread.

Haberland likes to share the story of how he intervened to keep the great Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation from taking a quick trip to the butcher. Elevation's breeder and owner Ronald Hope is a good friend of Haberland's. When Hope and interested buyers were unable to agree on a purchase price, Hope figured he would just sell the bull at auction. Haberland negotiated between the two parties and saved for the Holstein breed one of its most genetically-influential sires.

Numerous awards presented to Haberland attest to his influence on the Holstein breed and the dairy industry. But one of his most prestigious is not for cultivating genetics, but for international goodwill.

Since their arrival, the Haberlands have welcomed into their homes more than 50 international agricultural work-exchangees who sought to learn the American way of farming. Many have returned to their native land to farm, but one heads up three European AI organizations, another is with the World Bank, and at least one remains in the U.S. to work for New Holland equipment company.

Steve Ford, son of former president and first lady Gerald and Betty Ford, also worked at Foxlease for Haberland, forging a continuing friendship between the two families.

For these international educational efforts, Ted Haberland, Sr., in 1985 was presented the Officers Cross of the Order of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Now retired - and "busier than ever" - the Haberlands are pursuing an opportunity forged by the reunification of East and West Germany. Part of the reunification agreement specified reimbursement to former owners for the land confiscated by the Communists. Though the paperwork and "red tape" is extremely complicated, the Haberlands have returned to Germany recently to search for deeds and appropriate proofs of ownership. Former landowners are working closely together, sharing information, and the Haberlands speak frequently with others whose property was disowned.

They also make frequent visits to the York County dairy farm of their son Ted, Jr. where they keep close tabs on the dairy industry through the New Wedlitz Farm's registered Holstein herd. Eldest daughter Gisela Krueger and her husband operate a dairy and chicken farm near Harrisonburg, Virginia. Daughter Sabine lives in Amhurst, Massachusetts, and is an editor for the alumni magazine of Mt. Holyoke College. Their eight grandchildren, ranging from age 24 to 3, bring special pleasure to the Haberlands.

"Nothing in life is perfect, but it means a lot to have the opportunity to do something, to make decisions, on your own. Our children can have their own homes here again. A lot of people don't know what it means to lose everything," reflects Ursula. "We know what it is like, and what our friends have lived with, under dictatorship."

"We are thankful we live in a country where we can be free."

Goschenhoppen Historians Hold Folk Culture

Goschenhoppen Historians will hold their annual Folk Culture Festival on August 9 and 10. The festival is nationally recognized for maintaining a high degree of purity in its portrayal of 18th and early 19th century Pennsylvania Dutch folk arts and crafts. More than 500 skilled and apprentice craftsmen in authentic costumes and using authentic tools for the periods, will demonstrate crafts, home skills, trades and food preparation.

The non-commercial educational event is held on 10 acres at the New Goschenhoppen Park on Route 29, East Greenville.

LF Recipe Contest Winners Named

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The winning entries have been drawn. Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Kristin Mentzker drew twelve names from the milk pail to decide who won the cow prizes in the Lancaster Farming Recipe Contest.

Maybe your name was not drawn. Maybe your recipe tasted much better than the named winners. We're sorry. But the entries are drawn randomly by the state dairy princess. We wish we had the time and opportunity to taste-test all the recipes. But we don't.

Now, that's a job for you. Take those recipes that have appeared during the five weeks celebrating Dairy Month. Use them throughout the year. You'll guaranteed to be a winner by impressing your family and guests with fabulous-tasting entrees, desserts, salads, appetizers and more. You'll learn new ideas for using dairy products. Drop us a line and tell us your choice of the recipe entries.

Winners of the contest prizes include the following:

Katie Beiler, Mill Hall, a mailbox with a barn scene; Cheryl Weiderspahn, Cochran, a

Season Food To Use Less Sodium

To enhance the flavor of food without adding salt, try the following combinations when cooking:

Beef — bay leaf, green pepper, fresh mushrooms, onion, pepper, sage or thyme.

Chicken — green pepper, lemon juice, fresh mushrooms, sage, thyme, and parsley.

Fish — bay leaf, curry, green pepper, lemon juice, fresh mushrooms, and green onions.

Lamb — curry, garlic, mint, pineapple and rosemary.

Pork — apple, applesauce, garlic, onion, and sage.

Vegetables — lemon juice, garlic, onion, and dill.

Make a herb mixture of your own. Combine garlic powder, basil, rosemary, oregano, and anise seed in equal amounts; mix in your blender and add a few grains of rice to prevent caking. Be sure to label your seasoning mix.

"And the winner is...." Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Kristin Metzker pulls the winning entries for the Lancaster Farming Dairy Recipe Contest.

CAULIFLOWER, BROCCOLI & CARROT BAKE

2 cups cauliflower
2 cups broccoli
2 cups carrots
2 teaspoons horseradish
1 can mushroom soup
½ cup sour cream
6 slices Velveeta cheese
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook vegetables separately. Combine with remaining ingredients except cheese slices. Place in well-greased 9x13-inch pan. Bake 30 to 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from oven, place slices of cheese over top. Return to oven until cheese is melted. Serve.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

1 quart milk
2 cups sugar
½ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
4 egg yolks
1 quart thick cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
1 package gelatine

Scald milk and add sugar, cornstarch, and salt that has been blended in ½ cup cold milk. Cook until thickened. Add the egg yolks that have been beaten with 2 tablespoons milk. Cook 1 minute. Add gelatine mixture that has been soaked in 3 teaspoons cold milk. Remove custard from stove and let cool. Add cream, vanilla, and well-beaten egg whites.

EGG CUSTARD PIE

1 unbaked pie shell

Filling:

2½ cups milk
¼ cup sugar
3 eggs

Dash cinnamon and nutmeg

Mix eggs, milk, sugar, and spices. Beat well. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Stick knife blade into center. If it comes out clean, pie is finished baking.

I really enjoy reading the recipes in the Lancaster Farming and trying them.

The egg custard pie is one my grandmother gave me and everyone really enjoys it.

EASY ONION CASSEROLE BREAD

1 package hot roll mix
¼ cup very warm water
½ cup sour cream

1 egg
3 ounces can French fried onions, crumbled

In large bowl, dissolve yeast from hot roll mix in water. Stir in sour cream and egg. Add flour mixture and onions; blend well. Cover; let rise in warm place until light and doubled in size, 40 to 45 minutes.

Generously grease 1½-quart casserole dish. Stir down dough; spoon into greased bowl. Cover, let rise in warm place until light and doubled in size for 30 to 45 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 35 minutes, until browned. Remove pan immediately.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB CRUNCH

2½ cups rhubarb
2½ cups miniature marshmallows
1½ cups sliced strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 3-ounce box strawberry gelatin

Layer rhubarb, strawberries, and marshmallows in a 9x11-inch pan. Sprinkle with combined gelatin and sugar.

Topping:

½ cup flour
½ cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk

For the topping, combine flour, sugar, and baking powder in a bowl. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk; stir into flour mixture. Spread on top of rhubarb and berry mixture. Bake 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold with milk or whipped cream. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

This strawberry, rhubarb, and marshmallow mixture topped with a biscuit crust is delicious.

Hi! I'm a 15-year-old farm girl; the oldest of eight children from ages 19 months to 15 years. With a big family, it takes a lot of food. The problem is to have enough around and to have it made on time. Seems it usually takes more time to prepare the food than it takes to have it all disappear. But that's the fun of cooking and baking, right?

We all like living on a farm. It's nice to see the loads of freshly baled hay coming into the barn. I help unload. It's also nice to have room to run, play, and holler! Also you never seem to run out of work because there's the garden to work in, house, and the barn. I don't work in the fields. Fieldwork is my daddy's and brothers' territory.

It's also fun to have lots of animals. Not always though when it's feeding time. We don't have lots of different animals, but do have heifers, cows, 3 ducks, cats, and dogs.

We're hoping God will give us another bountiful crop year. Also hoping that the milk prices will increase for all dairy farmers.

SOUR CREAM LEMON PIE

1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup milk
1 cup sour cream
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 9-inch pie shell

Combine sugar and cornstarch in 1½-quart pan. Add butter, lemon rind, lemon juice, milk, and egg yolks. Cook and stir over medium heat until it comes to a boil and is thickened. Remove from heat and fold in sour cream. Pour into a 9-inch baked and cooled pie shell. Top with whipped cream. Refrigerate.

LEMON NUT BARS

1½ cups flour
1 cup oatmeal, uncooked
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup margarine
½ cup chopped nuts
1 8-ounce package cream cheese

1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Combine flour, oatmeal, sugars, and salt; cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in nuts. Reserve 1 cup; press remaining crumb mixture into bottom of greased 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Combine softened cream cheese and egg, mixing until well blended. Blend in lemon juice and rind. Pour over crust; sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars.

BANANA SPLIT DESSERT

3 cups graham cracker crumbs
¾ cup butter, melted
6 tablespoons sugar
3 large bananas
½ gallon Neapolitan ice cream
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate bits

½ cup butter
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 12-ounce can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups whipping cream

In medium bowl, combine the graham cracker crumbs, melted butter, and sugar. Remove ½ cup of the mixture; set aside. Press remaining crumb mixture over the bottom of a 15x10x1-inch baking pan to form a crust.

Cut the bananas crosswise into ½-inch slices; arrange in a layer over the crust. Slice ice cream into 9 slices; arrange on top of banana slices. Sprinkle the chopped walnuts on top; freeze until ice cream is firm.

In heavy saucepan, combine the chocolate pieces and ½ cup butter. Cook and stir over low heat until melted. Stir in the powdered sugar and evaporated milk; cook until mixture is thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in the vanilla. Let stand at room temperature until cool. Pour the cooled chocolate mixture over the walnuts on the frozen mixture; freeze until chocolate layer is firm.

In medium bowl, whip the cream until stiff peaks form. Spread evenly over the chocolate layer. Sprinkle with the reserved crumbs. Cover and freeze.

Before serving, let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes. Makes 24 servings. Preparation time: 40 minutes plus freezing.

ANSWER — May Ozimek of Fleming, N.J., wanted to know how to keep cooked okra from becoming slimy. Thanks to Melissa A. Daigle — an expert okra cook from Houston, Texas. She was from south Louisiana where she enjoyed chicken gumbo on a daily to weekly basis. She was taught to cook okra with stewed tomatoes before making gumbo from the okra. She writes that cooking okra with a small amount of stewed tomatoes eliminates the slimy problem everytime.

ANSWER — Carol Grove of Somerville, Pa., requested the recipe for Heavenly Jam. Thanks to Carol Akam of Spartansburg for sending a recipe.

Heavenly Jam

1 quart whole strawberries, hulled and washed
1 (1 lb. 4½ ounce) can crushed pineapple, drained
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 to 3 tablespoons grated orange peel
1 (¾ oz. package) powdered fruit pectin
5 cups sugar
Crush strawberries slightly and measure 2 cups into a large kettle.

Stir in remaining ingredients except sugar. Bring mixture to a boil; add the sugar. Bring to a full boil over high heat for one minute. Remove from heat. Stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly.

Ladle into hot, sterilized jars. Seal according to approved methods. Makes 6 half-pint jars.

ANSWER — Laurie Woodrick of Belle Mead, N.J. asked what shortening is best to use for frying apple fritters. Thanks to Betty Light of Lebanon, who called the Crisco company. They said that both the solid Crisco and the oil fry the same. Here is a list Betty compiled on the chief factors that affect fat absorption.

1. Length of frying time.
2. Amount of surface exposed to fat.
3. The character and composition of the food such as doughnuts that contain higher sugar and fat contents that absorb more fat when frying.
4. The temperature of the fat indirectly affects the amount of fat absorption during frying. For fritters, fry at 360 to 385 degrees for 3 to 5 minutes.
5. After frying, place food on paper towels to absorb excess fat.

ANSWER — Mrs. John Fox, Walnutport, asked if corn cob jelly is made from fresh or dried corn cobs. Thanks to Grace Glock of Fallston, Md., who said that while her mother cut fresh corn off the cob to cook for dinner, she cooked the cobs while they were still fresh before the milk dried in the cobs to prepare for corn cob jelly.

ANSWER — By error we have printed several recipes that have had improper canning directions. Thanks to Alletta Schadler, Lebanon extension home economist, who wrote that fruits, pickled products, and tomato products should always be processed in water bath or pressure canner. All other vegetables, vegetable-meat combinations and meats should be processed with a pressure canner. There are no safe water bath times to substitute for a pressure canner recommendations for vegetables.

She included a "safe" recipe for pickled beets. She said, "Do NOT use cooking liquid from the beets as the canning liquid, for no matter how carefully one scrubs beets some soil will remain and be found on the cooking liquid. Soil is the source of spoilage bacteria which are very heat resistant. People use this cooking liquid because they are afraid the beets will not keep enough color. There is plenty of red to go around. Fresh, clean water should be used in canning syrup for beets."

To receive a copy of the current Penn State/USDA recommendations for safe canning practices, send a $6 check to PSU and request AGRS-55 to Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agriculture Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802 or you may pick up a copy at most county Extension offices. Also, the Extension has a "Let's Preserve" series of 17 titles. These pamphlets are free. So check with your Extension office for safe canning methods.

Pickled Beets

7 pounds of 2- to 2½ -inch diameter beets
4 cups vinegar
¼ cup canning or pickling salt
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 cinnamon sticks
12 whole cloves
4 to 6 onions (2- to 2½ -inch diameter), if desired

Trim off beet tops, leaving 1-inch of stem and roots to prevent bleeding of color. Wash thoroughly. Sort for size. Cover similar sizes together with boiling water and cook until tender, about 25 to 30 minutes. Caution: Drain and discard liquid. Cool beets. Trim off roots and stems and slip off skins. Slice into ¼ -inch slices. Peel and thinly slice onions. Combine vinegar, salt, sugar, and fresh water. Put spices in cheesecloth bag and add to vinegar mixture. Bring to a boil. Add beets and onions. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove spice bag. Fill jars with beets and onions, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Add hot vinegar solution, allowing ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process for 30 minutes.

COEUR A' LA CREME FRENCH CREAM CHEESE

Beat until soft:

1 pound cream cheese
2 tablespoons heavy cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup cultured sour cream OR 1 cup whipped cream

Fold the cheese into the cream. Turn into a one-dish mold or individual small molds that have been moistened by rinsing in water. Chill thoroughly. Unmold and serve with fresh berries, cherries, or other fruit, cut up or as a sauce.

Delicious!

I know that most people are concerned about fat and cholesterol, but honestly, I'd rather cut down on fat every day wherever I can and then treat myself to a rich dish once a week.

In my opinion, nothing will ever replace the taste of real cream. I should know — an original recipe of mine was the ONLY unanimous pick of four judges at our county fair cake baking contest! Guess what — the batter had cream and the cake was iced with whipped cream.

One of the judges was so ecstatic about the cake that he said, "If you're not married, let me tell you

I can give you an A recommendation!"

See that? The way to a man's heart is with dairy products!

I am married now and have two wonderful little boys.

HAMBURGER CHEESE BAKE

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 cups cooked noodles
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ cup sour cream
¼ cup chopped green peppers
8 ounces cream cheese
½ cup sliced green onions, optional

¼ cup Parmesan cheese
Brown ground beef and onion. Add tomato sauce, sugar, garlic salt and pepper. Cook noodles at rolling boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Let steam for seven minutes. Drain and add cottage cheese, cream cheese, and sour cream. Add green onion and pepper, if desired. Spread half the noodles in a 7x11-inch baking dish. Spread half the meat mixture on top. Add remaining noodles and meat. Top with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 8 to 10.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Patricia Smith from Gore, Va., requested a recipe for Red Pepper Soup that is thick and cheesy and uses tiny bits of red pepper. This request remained unanswered for many weeks. Special thanks to Betty Light of Lebanon who searched 35 cookbooks to find two different recipes that may be what Patricia wants.

Emergency Cheese Soup

¼ cup butter
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
2 (10½ oz.) cans chicken broth, undiluted
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons white wine
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese
Melt butter in a heavy saucepan. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Cook one minutes, stirring constantly. Gradually add broth and milk. Cook over medium heat., stirring constantly until thickened and bubbly. Stir in pepper, pimento, white wine, pepper sauce, and worcestershire sauce, stirring frequently until heated thoroughly. Remove from heat, add cheese and stir until melted. Serve immediately. Yields about 5 cups.

Creole Cheese Soup

1 medium onion, chopped
½ cup chopped green peppers
½ cup chopped celery
1 large clove garlic, minced
¼ teaspoon crushed dried red pepper
¼ cup bacon fat or margarine
¼ cup flour
¼ to ½ cup dry white wine
1 pound cheddar cheese, shredded
4 cups milk
Salt and pepper
Minced chives or chopped parsley
Saute first six ingredients in fat until golden. Blend in flour and cook, stirring about 3 minutes.
Over very low heat, stir in wine, cheese, and milk. Cook, stirring, until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth and slightly thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with chives. Makes 2 quarts.

DON'T THROW NUTRIENTS DOWN THE DRAIN

Cooking of any kind destroys some nutrients no matter how careful you are. The total amount of nutrients lost will depend on the freshness of the food to begin with, how long you cook it and at what temperature, and how much surface area is exposed to water and air. Certain nutrients are more likely to be destroyed by heat than others — Vitamin C, for instance, and the B vitamins such as thiamine and riboflavin. Others, including most vitamins and some minerals, are likely to leach into the cooking water.

Here are a few guidelines to help you prepare vegetables and fruits so they retain as many nutrients as possible:

- * Cook foods as quickly as possible. Microwaving, steaming, and stir-frying are the fastest methods. Covering a pot or pan will also cut cooking time.
- * Cook vegetables whole and unpeeled whenever possible — or eat them raw. Don't buy pre-cut produce.

- * Never soak fruits and vegetables in water.
- * If you boil vegetables, use as little water as possible. Don't place them into the water until it is at a full boil. This will cut down on cooking time. If you use the water from boiling or steaming to make soups and gravies, you will consume any nutrients that leached into the cooking water.
- * Do not leave cooked food stand at room temperature.
- * Cook foods just before you are ready to serve them whenever possible.
- * To get the most nutrients from fresh produce, shop often and buy only as much as you can use in a few days. If the vegetables and fruits look wilted or pallid, or if they tend to sit in your refrigerator for a week, you would be better off with frozen. Frozen fruits and vegetables may retain more Vitamin C than fresh produce that has been mishandled in transport of storage or that has sat in the grocery store for days.

LEAN, LITE, AND LOW-FAT

If you are cutting back on foods that are high in fat and sodium, you most likely have eliminated bacon from your breakfast menus. But should you be tempted by the lean, lite, and low-fat sausages and breakfast meats you find in the supermarkets? Not really. Though many of the light alternatives do contain less fat, they still derive about 70% of their calories from fat. That's not lean in anybody's book. Usually the manufacturer has reduced the fat content by adding turkey, rice or other filler to the meat.

As an alternative to these alternatives, you might try a slice or two of Canadian bacon or other lean ham. Two slices contain only 4 grams of fat and derive just 42% of their calories from fat. That is not low-fat, but it certainly is better than 70%. High sodium is still a problem with these meats, especially Canadian bacon. When you read ingredient listings, remember that sodium comes in many forms besides salt, including monosodium glutamate (MSG), sodium nitrite, and sodium phosphate.

An occasional small serving of sausage, ham, or bacon for breakfast can still be part of a low-fat, low-sodium diet, if you control your fat and sodium intake at other meals during the day. Of course, bacon, ham and sausage usually go along with eggs, cheese, and butter (all high in fat and cholesterol). For the long haul, fruits, grains (breads and hot or cold cereal), and low-fat or nonfat dairy products are your best choices for breakfast.

Second-Grade Class Wins Award For Dairy Farm Project

York Co. Correspondent

DELTA (York Co.) — A project on dairy farming has won local, state, and national honors for a second-grade reading class at the Delta-Peach Bottom Elementary School.

Students in Mary McGraw's reading class entered a local competition earlier this year sponsored by the Castle Finn Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. The contest called for class projects on an occupation that had spanned the last century. A Frank Joseph story they had read in class and a homeroom social studies unit inspired the second graders to work on a dairy farming theme.

"Dairy Farming 1890-1990: A Century of Living and Service" the students and Mrs. McGraw called their project. Dan and Patti Hushon, parents of class member Jacob Hushon, and dairyman

Ramsay Cooper, visited the classroom to talk about dairy farms and dairy products. On a field trip to the Hushon farm, the class got the chance to see milking equipment and dairy barns and silos.

After learning about cows and dairy farming, the class created posters, did special projects, wrote individual stories about dairying, designed and made a banner and produced a video showing the different parts of their project.

The class' banner and video won awards from the local chapter, state, Eastern district and national levels. Their scrapbook was also a state winner.

Six of the students won individual prizes. Thomas Hebert, Laurie Hutton and Sarah Johnson earned honors for their posters and Jacob Hushon, Ellen Lovelidge and Janah Richards were named winners for their special project booklets.

Awards were presented to the class and individuals at a special assembly. A $75 award was used to purchase a dogwood tree that was planted on the school grounds.

Each student wrote a story for the scrapbook on what they learned about dairy farming. Adrienne Blizzard wrote, "I learned how cows are milked. I learned how bales of hay are wrapped. I learned what cows eat. They drink water. I saw a milking machine. I saw a big tank that can hold 100 gallons of milk it was big."

Bryanna Manning wrote: "Once upon a time 100 years before on a dairy farm they milked by hand and did not use milk machines and that's how they milked the cows. They used hooks to carry the hay. They stacked the hay. A dairy farm is big. A farm has a barn. It has a milk tank. It is a big one, a very, very big tank. They can make buttermilk. I like Jersey cows and Holstein cows and Guernsey cows. I like farms."

And Laura Powers titled her story "How Jacob drank the sun." She wrote, "One day a chunk of the sun fell on the grass. A cow ate the grass. Then the farmer milked the cow. Then Jacob's mother went to the store. She bought some butter and ice cream and yogurt. Last she bought the milk, Jacob's family drank the milk for dinner that night. Then Jacob said 'Thank you sun for this delicious milk.'"

Arika Stump wrote about her own farm experiences. "My uncle lives on a dairy farm. He has 30 cows. They raise the hay on the farm to feed the cows. Around 4:00 p.m. they bring in the cows for milking. They go into the stalls where they are fed and milked. The milkers look like a big metal octopus. The milk is then put into the cooling tanks to wait for the big milk tanker truck. They get $14 for each 100 pounds of milk they sell. It is a lot of work to run a farm. I help when I go there. I feed and meal the cows or give the calves a bottle. Inspectors come to visit the farm to make sure it is sanitary and up to the U.S.D.A. standards."

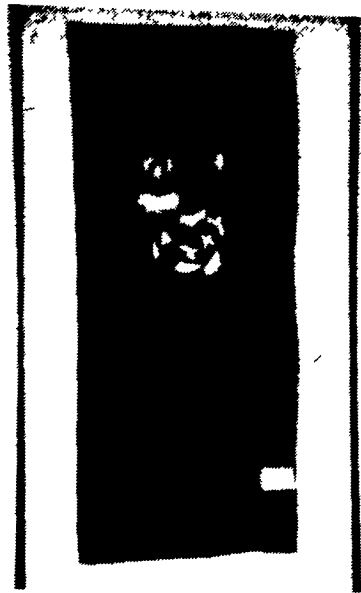

Little brother Joseph helps display Jacob Hushon's prize-winning poster on dairy farming to his second-grade reading class. Dan, the boys' dad, is on hand to answer questions.

Delta dairy farmer Ramsay Cooper talked to Mrs. McGraw's class about taking care of cows and the milking routine.

Patti and Jacob Hushon tell the class about what cows and calves eat.

The class won national honors with this banner.

Ryan Prepares Animals For Show

Ryan Boggs lives on his family's farm off Route 819 in Greensburg and has all sorts of animals. Dogs, cats, chickens, guineas, ducks, rabbits, a parakeet, and fish are a few of what you'll find on this farm.

Ryan is a second grader at Metzgar Elementary School in New Alexandria and a member of the New Alexandria Outback Ag 4-H Club. Last year, Ryan won several first- and second-place ribbons with his chickens and rabbits at the Westmoreland County Fair. He also won first place in the state PFA poster contest and received a one hundred dollar savings bond.

When asked what he liked best about rabbits Ryan said, "I really enjoy getting them ready for the fair and showing them. Each rabbit has its own personality. Some like being held and brushed but some are very temperamental." Ryan's 4-H demonstration this year is "Getting Rabbits Ready For Show."

Ryan will be showing his rabbits this year at the Westmoreland County Fair along with his chickens, ducks and other 4-H projects.

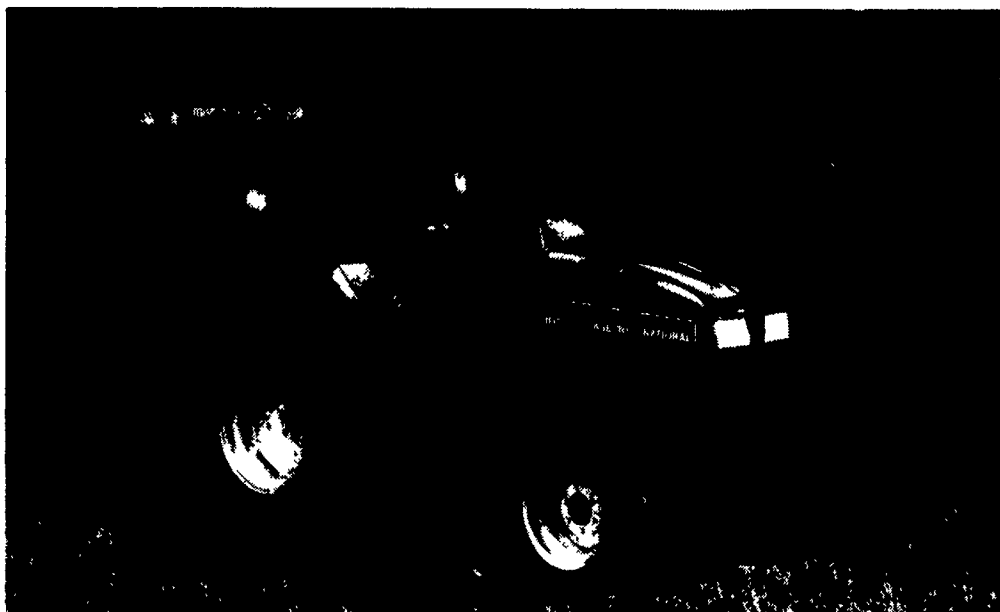

Ryan Boggs holds a rabbit that has been brushed and ready for competition.

Best Values in New Equipment

It may be new, but its big brothers have already given it quite a reputation.

Introducing the 1100 Series.

Like MAGNUM™ and MAXXUM™ tractors, these three new compact models offer versatility, convenience and durability to perform beyond your expectations.

Case International 1100 Series tractors handle any challenge you give them. Mowing. Garden tilling. Landscaping. Snow removal. Livestock clean-up. Let them tackle any job around your yard with easy-on, easy-off implements.

Think how simple mowing and chore work will be with power steering (standard on all models), hydrostatic transmission and mechanical front drive (MFD).

What's more, the mid-mount mower has its own hydraulic lift and PTO, so you can power other implements without removing the mower. It attaches easily and floats gently over your lawn.

The cushioned, high-backed seat keeps you comfortable. All controls are conveniently placed and the steering wheel tilts to the perfect working position.

More than anything else, you need a compact tractor that's built to last like MAGNUM and MAXXUM tractors. That kind of durability is built right into the new 1100 Series line.

After all, it has a reputation to live up to. See your Case IH dealer today.

Participants at the Cooking with Herbs workshop toured the flower and herb gardens of Rodale Research Center to learn more about the growing and harvesting aspects of herbs.

Herbs For Fun, Profit, Nutrition

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — One way to rid your garden of weeds is to eat them.

"A common weed called lamb's quarter makes a great tasting spinach, and it isn't as difficult to clean as spinach," said Louise Hyde, a nationally recognized herb expert.

Hyde addressed about 70 persons who attended the Cooking With Herbs workshop held by Rodale Research Center on June 12. Hyde and her husband, Cyrus, operate Well-Sweep Herb Farm in Port Murray, N.J.

During the workshop Hyde explained the history of herbs, the basics of cooking with herbs, drying and freezing herbs, and how to make herbal vinegars, oils, marinades, salad dressings, jams and jellies.

Although herbs were first used to mask tough, tasteless meat, they are now used to embellish and enhance the flavors of meat, vegetables, and other dishes.

"When using fresh herbs, use two times the amount of purchased dried herbs since dried herbs have a more concentrated flavor," Hyde said.

She cautions those that are just beginning to use herbs in cooking to use minimal amounts until their families develop a taste for herbs.

Herb growing, harvesting

When developing a herb garden, it works best to use cuttings since most herbs are difficult to grow from seed and many do not reproduce well from seed.

Hyde mulches herbs with wood chips and said that contrary to myth, herbs do grow well in fertile soil. Hyde uses manure, and does not recommend using commercial fertilizers unless nothing else is available.

Herbs should be harvested during the growing season before they are allowed to grow flowers or go into seed. "Keep them cut back and bushy," she said. "When cutting, leave a few leaves for underneath growth."

Although herbs should be harvested for preservation in the morning after the dew is gone and while the oil is high in the plant, Hyde said that for daily use the herbs may be cut anytime of the day while flavor is still retained.

Wash herbs and place them on paper towels to thoroughly remove water.

An unorthodox method to dry herbs, but one that works well is to put parsley in a pillowcase, seal it, and dry in a clothes dryer.

To dry, herbs also may be tied with string and hung upside down in a warm, dry, well-ventilated spot.

Parsley may be dried by snipping off tops and laying them in a single layer on a brown bag on top of a cookie sheet. Do not lay herbs directly on metal. Put the herbs in a 150-degree oven, leave the oven door open a crack, and dry for 45 to 60 minutes. Heavy foliage needs more time. Make sure herbs are completely dry or they will mold. If stems crack when bent, the herb is dried. She said that the microwave also does a wonderful job of drying herbs.

When dry, seal the herbs in plastic bags, jars or other tight containers and place in a dark place.

To freeze, chop leaves and quick freeze in single layers placed on a cookie sheet before placing in a tight container for long-term freezing.

Herbs that are frozen work well in cooking, but are not as attractive for use in a fresh salad.

Edible flowers

Rose geranium leaves work well to flavor tea, cakes, cookies, rolls, and other baked goods. To preserve leaves, put leaves in a blender with a half-cup sugar and blend. The sugar crystals prevent the leaves from sticking together in a solid bunch.

"The Johnny Jump Ups are a storehouse of vitamins," Hyde said.

Punch and candied flowers can be made from Johnny Jump Ups, nasturtiums, chrysanthemums, porridge, lavender flowers and chive flowers.

To make candied flowers, beat egg whites, dip petals in egg white and sprinkle with sugar. Dry in refrigerator on wax paper for two days. Use for decorations for special occasions.

Herb vinegars

"Herb vinegars are extremely simple to make," Hyde told workshop participants.

Although white, apple, cider, and other flavors of vinegar may be used, she said that cheap vinegars do not work as well since the acid content is not high enough.

To make herb vinegar, take a bottle of vinegar, dump out one-third of the vinegar, press herb leaves of your choice in the bottle. Pour the vinegar back in the bottle, make sure all leaves are covered. Tighten plastic lids on the containers. If metal is used, you must line with waxed paper to prevent the acid from eating the metal. Within two weeks, the vinegar is ready to use.

Hyde lets the herbs remain in the vinegar. If the flavor becomes too strong, she adds more vinegar or removes the leaves.

Hyde's favorite flavors for herbal vinegars are purple basil, sweet basil, and clover garlic. "Orange mint vinegar is great for salad dressing or as a marinade," she said.

Herb oils

For herb oils, it is important not to use garlic unless the mixture is kept refrigerated. She adds such herbs as bay leaves, red chili peppers, coriander leaves and red chili peppers. Herb oils do not need to be sealed, but should be used within several months or the oil will grow rancid. The herb oils may be canned by using the hot water pack method.

Jellies

To make rose geranium jelly, follow the directions for making apple jelly that appear on pectin

Guests tasted the salads made with herbs provided by Rodale Research Center.

Model 630: An economical small baler with big baler features

The Model 630 roll/belt round baler offers standard features usually found only on larger balers. The electric wrap system includes a standard full-bale alarm that signals when the bale reaches optimum size so wrapping can begin. There's a standard four-ball storage box which means fewer stops. Continuous run PTO is another standard feature. It saves you time by ejecting bales without disengaging the PTO. The standard spring-loaded bale ejector eliminates the need to back up. Compare the "630" to others in its class.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

In pursuit of freedom, they came to this distant, unknown land.

Seeking the right to worship freely, they left family and friends, jobs, and the security that comes with living in a familiar setting.

They faced a harsh new environment, wary natives, were unprepared and unfamiliar with how to make a living on these primitive, forested shores.

Indeed, many of them starved to death.

Then, they learned to farm.

Oh, it was surely primitive by today's standards, crude tools, fish for fertilizer, cutting trees and burning to clear land. Backbreaking labor, which many of them had perhaps not before known.

But after they learned to farm, they ate. They put away for the winter. And they survived.

Once fed, they prospered, grew, fanned out to settle this America.

They built settlements, raised families. Elected leaders and established a government.

Because they were fed, our founding fathers could pursue this experiment in freedom. Even then, the rich soils and productivity of American farms freed a good portion of the citizenry to pursue the finer points of civilization. Doctors, teachers, craftspeople, printers, shopkeepers, preachers.

They organized, rebelled against oppression, formed an army. Threw off the yoke of foreign rule. Led by bands of farmers, who laid down their plows and took up rifles, this fledgling, upstart nation of renegades rebelled against one of the world's mightiest powers. And won.

Because they were fed, they could defend this precious freedom.

Seeking land they could call their own to farm, the more adventurous among the populous headed West. Civilization followed as farmers split the virgin prairie soil with plows and fattened cows and sheep for food and fiber on its lush grasses.

Because there was abundance of food, railroads followed. Rutted wagon paths widened into roadways. Ports grew. Immigrants from around the world fled oppression and hunger in their native lands to embrace this land of peace - and plentiful food.

With full bellies, inventive minds were free to dream and dare. To power with waterwheels and belt drives. To dig canals, to mine useful minerals, to raise up institutions of medicine and of learning. To invent the likes of electricity and steam engines and gasoline motors.

A fed country is a country with freedom to grow, to imagine, to try, to dream. A hungry country expends its limited energy stalking its next meal, generally amid political, social and economic chaos.

Because we were fed, American ingenuity has prospered. Curious minds have been freed to develop rocket science and nuclear power, cures for polio and controls for insects which spread killer diseases, lasers, microwaves, instant communication and computerization.

America is certainly not perfect. Still, others continue to arrive at our steps, yearning for freedom from oppression, from dictators, from war and from the wrenching hunger still prevalent in too many parts of the world, hunger which skeletonizes aging bodies and bloats the bellies of starving infants.

Yet, after more than 200 years of abundance, we increasingly seem to take for granted that we are free because we are fed. We have become a citizenry too far removed from the source of plenty. Generations distant from tilling the soil know more about the production of food for our national full bellies. It might simply magically materialize somewhere in the dark recesses of supermarket warehouses.

As we celebrate our national birthday on July 4, may we remember that we have come this far because we have not had to scrabble, hand to mouth, for every daily bite. America's rich agriculture resources and productivity have powered our prosperity.

We are free - because we are fed.

God forbid that we ever forget or neglect that blessing.

Herbs

containers. Add six rose geranium leaves.

When roses are used to make jelly, they must not have been sprayed with pesticides. Remove the white part at the bottom of each petal. Hyde prefers to use the Beladonna Damask Rose, which impart a sweet rose scent to jam that tastes like the rose smells.

Other hints for herbs are to grow pineapple sage for scent — makes a great windowsill plant at a sunny window. Lemon thyme is also a favorite for chicken dishes and salads. Lemon verbena makes great hot tea. Summer savory is a herb that she likes to use in almost every dish.

Recipe books on cooking with herbs are available from Well-Sweep Herb Farm, 317 Mt. Bethel Rd., Port Murray, NJ 07865 or from Rodale Press, 611 Siegfried Rd., Kutztown, PA 19530.

Here is one of Well-Sweep Farm's favorite recipe using herbs.

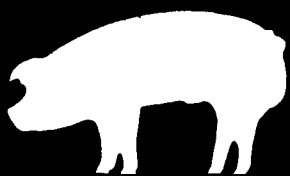

Baked Rosemary Chicken

2 broiler fryers, cut up
Salt
Pepper
¼ cup margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup water
1 chicken bouillon cube
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
2 teaspoons fresh or 1 teaspoon dry rosemary

Melt margarine in skillet. Salt and pepper chicken and place in the skillet. Brown on all sides. As each piece is done, remove from the skillet and place in casserole dish. In the remaining margarine, cook onion and garlic until golden brown. Add water and bouillon. Cook, stirring until bouillon is dissolved. Add parsley and rosemary. Pour mixture over chicken. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Serves 6.

An easy-to-make herb or berry-flavored butter is a delicious accompaniment for bread sticks, bagels and rolls. To prepare: combine softened butter with your choice of fresh herbs or berries in a small bowl. Beat until light and fluffy. Refrigerate, covered, for at least one hour, allowing flavors to blend.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

But, my sister felt that we should spend more time together and so she planned a "surprise" tour for us and our husbands. We were to meet at her house for coffee and doughnuts in the morning and then all travel together in her husband's new van.

Our first stop was the Fulton Theater in Lancaster. Here a volunteer guide took us behind the stage to see the star's dressing rooms and the trap doors used for the productions. We also were taken to "peanut heaven" or the second balcony. One of our group remembered seeing Western movies here and paying ten cents on a Saturday afternoon. The back of the Fulton was the scene of the massacre of the last of the Conestoga Indians by the Paxtang Boys of Harrisburg. This particular spot had been the site of the first jail in Lancaster.

Next our group was treated to an overall view of the city. And, I do mean a large view as we were out on the top deck of the 14-story Griest building. We had fun identifying many churches and schools.

After lunch we boarded a bus-trolley and all took a ride on the Strasburg Railroad to Paradise. It was disappointing to learn that the Hans Herr house closed early and we were not able to see it.

However, after a nice dinner, we attended a hammered dulcimer concert in the Friends' Meeting-house. It was a long day but something we should do more often.

June Dairy Recipes

ALL AMERICAN REUBEN SPREAD

- 2 cups dairy sour cream
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 2 cups shredded Swiss cheese
- 8-ounce can sauerkraut, drained
- 8 ounces deli corned beef, cut into pieces
- ¼ cup sliced green onion
- 2 teaspoons caraway seed
- 1 pound round unsliced pumpernickel or rye bread

In a large bowl, stir together all ingredients except bread. Chill 2 hours or longer to blend flavors. Cut thin lengthwise slices off top of bread. Hollow out center of bread, leaving a 1-inch shell. Fill with spread. Serve with small pieces of bread that has been reserved or with crackers.

I have been enjoying your Home On The Range recipes for several years so I decided to send in one of my favorite recipes for the dairy recipe contest.

My family and I live on a 147-acre farm in Frederick County, Md. Larry does crop farming, custom work, as well as raises beef cattle and some dairy heifers.

Our children, Diane, 7, and Cody, 14 months, love living on a farm, love the animals and everything else.

I have a 2-acre produce patch that has kept me very busy. My children go with me to the garden and will also be going along to the Farmers' Markets.

COW COOKIES

- Cream:
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup granulated sugar

- Add:
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sour milk
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 4½ to 5½ cups flour

Roll dough ¼-inch thick. Cut into cows and bake in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes. Cool on racks.

Here is a recipe that I've been using when the school children come to visit our farm. I make the cow cookies as a special treat. Several years ago the dairy princess committee sold the little cow cookie cutters. The kids feel they are special after they see our baby calves and the big milk cows. Of course we give them a little milk to wash them down. My husband and son, LeRoy and Mark, are partners milking 75 plus cows in Mercer County. Marie and I are the "silent" wife partners.

CHEESY SCALLOPED POTATOES

- 1 cup cream of celery soup
 - ½ to ¾ cup milk
 - 4 cups sliced potatoes (thin)
 - 1 onion, chopped
 - 1 cup cheddar cheese
 - 1 tablespoon butter
 - Salt and pepper to taste
- Butter casserole dish. Arrange in layers — potatoes, onions, mixture of soup and milk, then cheese. Repeat. Dot with butter on top. Bake at 375 degrees until potatoes are soft.

LAYERED PUDDING DELIGHT

- 14 whole graham crackers
- 1 package vanilla instant pudding
- 2 cups cold milk
- 1 cup whipped cream
- 1 can cherry pie filling

Line a 9-inch square pan with graham crackers, breaking crackers if necessary. Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package for pudding. Let stand five minutes, then blend in whipped topping. Spread half the pudding mixture over the crackers, add another layer of crackers; top with remaining pudding mixture and crackers. Spread cherry pie filling over top layer of crackers. Chill 3 hours. Ready to serve.

We have lived on a farm all our married life, which will be 63 years this coming September.

We raise cattle and hogs at the present time. We used to have chickens, too, a few years back.

We've always had milk cows to milk until the last couple of years. I've made butter, cheese, and sold cream.

We are now retired. We raised six sons and five are still living. They are all married and have homes of their own. We have 13 grandchildren ranging from 7 to 24 years of age.

Lester and the boys have been taking hogs to the West Virginia State Fair for the last 25 or more years. Our son, who lives in Pennsylvania, got him started going to the fair when he had a pig project in the FFA.

DIRT CAKE

- ½ cup butter, softened
- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- 3 cups milk
- 2 small packages instant vanilla pudding
- 1 8-ounce carton frozen whipped topping, thawed
- 1 14-ounce package chocolate sandwich cookies

Crush cookies into fine crumbs, like dirt. Put half of the crumbs in bottom of 9x13-inch baking dish. In large mixing bowl, cream together butter and cream cheese. Add milk and pudding mix. Blend until creamy. Fold in whipped topping. Put mixture on top of cookie crumbs. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top.

This makes a fun cake when made in a large stoneware bowl. It looks just like a bowl of dirt, especially with a silk flower prop.

- ¾ teaspoon salt
- Milk
- Oreo cookies

Beat eggs until foamy. Add cream cheese; mix well. Slowly add sugar. Beat until thickened. Add cream, vanilla, and salt; mix well. Pour into ice cream freezer container. Add milk to full line. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

In the meantime, break the Oreo cookies into small pieces. If the pieces are too big, they will catch on the paddle and keep stopping. Break up as many cookies as desired. About ¾ of a bag will be good. Right before the ice cream is frozen, stop the machine. Mix the cookies pieces into the ice cream using a long spoon. Restart the machine and freeze until firm. Makes 6 quarts.

My husband, Jeff, and I have been married for 3½ years. We have two children, Kayla, 2, and Jeffrey, 3 months. We live on a 350-acre farm in southern Maryland. With my husband's dad, we farm 600 acres. We raise tobacco, corn, wheat, ha, vegetables, and mums. We have 25 head of beef cattle. We are very active with our State Farm Bureau and Young Farmers groups.

CHERRY CHEESECAKE

- 1 8-ounce package of cream cheese
- 1 can condensed milk
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 medium-sized whipped cream
- 1½ cups crushed graham crackers
- ½ cup melted butter
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 can of cherry or blueberry filling

Line a cake pan or pie pan with crushed graham crackers, butter and sugar mixed. In mixer, beat cream cheese, then add condensed milk and lemon juice. After well-blended, fold in cool whip. After cold, spread 1 can of pie filling over top.

Greetings of love in Jesus' Holy Name. My dad's name is Benue F. King and my mother's name is Elizabeth F. King. I have three brothers and five sisters. Christ is 16, Ruth is 15, Rebecca is 12, Anna is 11, Danie is 9, and Mary is 6. Benue is 2 and Baby Elizabeth is 1. We live on a farm. We have 32 cows, but we don't all milk them. We have about 40 hens. And every other evening me and my sister Rebecca gather the eggs.

CHEESECAKE

- 2 8-ounce packages of cream cheese
 - ¾ cup sugar
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 1 pint sour cream
 - 2 8-ounce tubs of whipped topping
 - 2 graham cracker crusts
- Mix all together. Add whipped topping last. Pour into graham crusts. Refrigerate. Can be topped with any kind of pie filling or eaten plain.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

- Steam pudding
- ½ cup sugar
- 2½ teaspoons lard
- 1 egg
- 1½ cup flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ cup milk

Mix all ingredients together in the bowl you plan to steam it in. Put can rings on bottom of kettle slightly larger than your bowl and fill ½ with water.

Put bowl with ingredients into kettle and put on lid. Bring to boil and reduce heat steam approximately 45 minutes or until knife inserted in middle comes out clean.

Serve warm or cold with fresh fruit and milk. It's quick and delicious.

This is my favorite recipe for strawberry shortcake. My parents are Amos H. Weaver and Ella Z. Weaver. I have one brother and two sisters. My brother is Mervin, 17; and my two sisters are Arlene, 14 and Anita, 6. We live on a farm. We have three calf barns but they aren't all filled now. We can have at least 147 calves. We have one dog, Candy, and 34 cats, which all like cows' milk. I like to milk the cows but I don't get much of a chance. My mom and dad feed the calves, but sometimes I have to help. We have a potbelly pig with four little ones. And the females are the biggest. We only have two females, one little one, and the mom. We had two black ones but one died — it was a female. We sold the other black male long ago.

FUDGESICLES

- 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 4 cups milk
 - ¾ tablespoons cocoa
- Place ingredients in saucepan. Stir over medium heat and boil one minute. Pour into 2 sets Tupperware ice cups and freeze.

I made these for my sons when they were young. They are so easy to make and very delicious.

We live in Elverson, Chester County, on a 144-acre dairy farm. My husband, Art, and our youngest son, Kevin, do most of the farm work. My job is feeding calves and helping with the milking whenever needed. Summertime I do the baling. We have been farming on our own since 1976 when we bought the farm from Art's parents. Art comes from a long line of farmers. Our son is the sixth generation in the farming industry.

We are the parents of three sons. Our oldest son, Arthur Jr., is married and has two children. Our middle son, Chris, who worked on the farm with us, was killed in a 1985 car accident. He was a passenger. Our youngest son, Kevin, works on the farm with us and is starting a dairy herd of his own of Red and White Holsteins.

ITALIAN COCONUT CREAM CAKE

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 stick butter
- ½ cup oil
- 5 egg yolks
- 5 egg whites
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup buttermilk
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups coconut

Frosting:
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
½ stick butter

1 box confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream sugar, butter, oil, and egg yolks. Add flour, baking soda, buttermilk, vanilla, nuts, and coconut. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Pour into 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes.

Frosting:

Cream butter and cream cheese. Gradually add confectioners sugar and vanilla. Add more or less milk to reach the right consistency.

My husband, Delmont, and I along with our son, Charles, and daughter, Mary Ann, live at Somerset R.5. Our daughter Amy Ameier lives with her husband Alan and children, Amanda, and Adam, at R.4, Somerset. My husband is self-employed as a feed and grain dealer and as a steel hauler. Our son Charles drives one of the trucks. Our daughter Amy and I do the bookkeeping. Daughter Mary Ann will be a senior next year at Somerset Senior High School.

Berry Pamphlets

Six pamphlets on using strawberries, brambleberries, blueberries, pears, peaches and apples are available from Penn State Cooperative Extension.

Information on purchasing, preparation, and storage plus recipes and nutrition facts on the specific fruit are included in each pamphlet. Also listed are the popular varieties grown in Pennsylvania, approximate harvest dates and characteristics and comments about the varieties.

The pamphlets are free of charge. Contact your county Extension office or the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Courthouse, 925 Court Street, Honesdale, PA 18431.

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent
SCHELLSBURG (Bedford Co.) — Petite, red headed, Tawnya Wolfhope, doesn't fit the stereotype of a beef farmer. But the 1991 Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Princess is well on her way to making a career of raising and showing Polled Herefords. She has her own herd of 13-registered Polled Herefords.

At the Northwest Junior Beef Classic in Meadville, Tawnya's cow, three-year-old MRF Miss Awesome, 102, earned grand champion female honors, champion cow and calf with MRF Miss Holly 112, and for the third straight year, champion bred and owned. Tawnya says she bred the cow through artificial insemination.

Miss Awesome won over 12 other class champions for the top honor.

Tawnya also had the Polled Hereford steer that finished second in his class to the eventual grand champion male.

Two weeks later, Twanya walked away with more titles at the Penn State Junior Preview Show.

Her M.R.F. Runner took the Reserve Grand Champion Steer title.

Tawnya was voted as the Outstanding Junior at Penn State by other showmen. She was also the Reserve Champion Showman in the Senior Division.

In January, Miss Awesome and Miss Holly won champion cow and calf in the open class at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Miss Awesome weighs between 1,700 and 1,800 pounds.

Tawnya, the daughter of Ed and Peg Wolfhope, began showing animals at the age of eight and spends eight months a year showing and regularly competing at national shows.

She doesn't hesitate to show affection for her animals, and, Tawnya's "babies" come running when they catch a glimpse of her bright red hair.

Next year, Tawnya is looking

forward to competing with adults when she passes the 21-year age limit.

Tawnya works the picturesque family farm located near New Baltimore in partnership with her parents. Together they farm about 200 acres.

National Dairy Chairman Of Women Involved In Farm Economics Speaks Out

ILCON, NY— What an unpredictable month! It feels as if we have been on a see-saw. One minute we get our hopes up and the next minute they are dashed. The Leahy amendment seemed as if it would help, only to be killed in the conference committee. Secretary Madigan said the Leahy Bill was not revenue neutral because the federal government buys one-third of the baby formula in the United States -- probably through the Women's, Infants' and Children's (WIC) program. I don't think dairy farmers should be required to subsidize the cost of that program single-handedly. If the cost of producing SCUD missiles were to increase above what the U.S. Government was used to paying, I doubt those manufacturers would underwrite the war effort while it was "business as usual" for the rest of the taxpayers.

I have heard that there are 80 supply management plans the USDA will study before they decide which they will pass on to us for a vote. Very few have a price attached. Their feeling is that the price of milk will rise naturally if our supply fits market needs. I think the price won't rise substantially unless the supply IS LESS THAN market needs. As long as the buyers' needs are met, why should they raise their price?

Even if we get our supply of milk in balance with demand for it, we dairymen will NEVER be a match for the people who buy our milk. If the government does not set a price for our raw product that enables us to meet our cost of production, we desperately need a way to get the very best negotiators working for US instead of the dealers. No dairy farmer who spends 70 to 80 hours a week in the barn and fields can develop the expertise needed to market his product.

If we are offered a supply management plan without any set price, the current price could be our best price, with the rest of our milk being sold on the world market. The world market price is about $4 per hundred weight right now. Could we survive if we are asked to cut production, but are not given a decent price?

Please call the White House Opinion Hot Line, and keep up contact with your legislators. The number at the White House is 202-456-1111.

Royalty Releases Cookbook

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
CLARION (Clarion Co.) —
Want some royal recipes?

If you do, there is a cookbook written just for you. "REAL Royal Recipes" is jam-packed with hundreds of recipes submitted by reigning dairy princesses from 1974 until 1991.

To encourage the use of dairy products, princesses often hand out dairy recipes during promotional activities. Since 1974, collections of recipes submitted by county princesses have been printed in booklet form. Now these recipes plus some from coordinators are combined in the new spiral-bound cookbook, "REAL Royal Recipes."

In addition, time-saving ideas for preparing dairy products in a microwave are listed with explanations about dairy products terminology such as the difference between regular and creamed cottage cheese, cultured buttermilk, and much more.

More than 400 household tips are listed in the book. Did you know that to remedy greasy gravy, add a small amount of baking soda? A really fresh egg will sink and a stale one will float? Two things to do to keep cabbage smell from filling the kitchen: don't overcook and put half a lemon in the water when you boil it. A little vanilla poured on a piece of cotton and placed in the refrigerator will eliminate odors. To learn more household tips, buy a copy of the book.

Jan Harding, program director for the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc., said that much of the work on the cookbook was done by Cyndy Cass, mother of the 1990-91 Erie County Dairy Princess Rebecca Ann Cass.

Mim Kauffman, a PDPPS chairperson and southeast coordinator designed the cover and did the artwork. Jan and her husband, Charles A. Ruslavage, did the final editing and proofreading of the cookbook.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program began in 1956. Dairy princesses represent their local dairy industry by taking the dairy story and that of its products to consumers. Dairy princesses present programs at schools, appear as guests on local radio and television programs, and conduct demonstrations in grocery stores, malls, and fairs. They write articles and talk to both farm and non-farm audiences.

For a copy of the cookbook, contact your county dairy committee chairperson. If you do not have one, send $10 for each book plus $2 for postage and handling to Real Royal Recipes, PA Dairy Princess Promotion Services, Inc., 214 S. St. Box 640, Clarion, PA 16214.

Here are a few recipes from the cookbook.

LILLIAN'S SPECIAL SPINACH

3 10-ounce boxes thawed spinach
2 cups cottage cheese
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese
3 eggs
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup butter

Mix ingredients together and put in crock pot for 1 hour on high and then turn to low for 4 to 5 hours.

Eileen Shull

1979 PA State Dairy Princess

YOGURT CHEESE PIE

9-inch graham cracker pie shell
½ cup milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cottage cheese
1½ cups plain yogurt
¼ cup sugar or 3 tablespoons honey

Combine milk and gelatin. Stir to soften gelatin. Warm over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Combine cottage cheese, yogurt, sugar or honey and dissolved gelatin mixture in blender or mixing bowl. Whirl or whip briefly. Chill mixture 20 to 30 minutes until it begins to set. Pour into pie shell and chill. Makes six servings.

Jennifer Davis
1983 Huntingdon Co. Dairy Princess

VEGETABLE PIZZA

2 crescent dinner roll packages
8-ounce package cream cheese
2 teaspoons horseradish
1 package dry Hidden Valley Ranch dressing
¾ cup sour cream

Chopped vegetables for topping (green pepper, green onions, tomatoes, mushrooms, black olives, broccoli, cauliflower)

Spread dinner rolls on large cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool. Mix cream cheese, sour cream, horseradish, dressing. Spread onto cooled dough. Put vegetables on top. Refrigerate five hours or overnight. Makes 20 to 30 servings.

MILK. IT DOES A BODY GOOD.™

Bedford County Selects Dairy Princess

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

LOYSBURG (Bedford Co.) — Shannen Lafferty, Manns Choice, was selected as the 1991 Bedford County Dairy Princess at a pageant held on June 14 at the Northern Bedford High School.

Shannen was crowned by the 1990 dairy princess, Nicole Childers.

The daughter of Reuben and Barbara Lafferty, Shannen was the 1989 Lamb and Wool Queen. She is also a member of Shawnee Laker's 4-H Club.

Laffertys own a 200-acre dairy farm. Shannen's skit for the evening portrayed one of the farm family's Holsteins. Dressed in a black and white costume, Shannen was Hilda the Holstein who told of the values of milk products and served only nutritious foods to the public.

Shannen is a full-time farmer on the family farm and plans to attend Allegany Community College this fall to major in psychology. She plans to have a number of her farm projects entered in the Bedford County Fair in August.

Chosen from a field of five contestants, Shannen's first runner-up was Julie Truax, daughter of Glenda Jo Truax. She is the owner of 20 red and whites, which she keeps on her family's 320-acre farm.

The second-rupper-up was 16-year-old Kimberly Mountain of New Enterprise, RD1, who lives with her family on a 225-acre dairy farm and helps to milk 45 head of Holstein cows. Kimberly was also named as Miss Congeniality.

Named the 1990 Dairy Maid was Janelle Koontz, daughter of Wayne and Kathy Koontz, of Bedford RD4. Her family owns the Stan-El Jersey Farm in Friends Cove and Janelle helps to show the animals at several events throughout the year.

Wendy Ritchey, daughter of George and Lisa Ritchey, was the ambassador.

A pie and ice cream social followed the pageant.

Judges were Shanna Cunningham, Huntingdon; David Hileman, Tyrone; and Karen Shaw, Williamsburg.

Lancaster Society 19

Lancaster County Farm Women Society 19 entertained Society 22 at a luncheon held at Hempfield Church of the Brethren.

President Esther Landis welcomed the group. Corinne Nissley read some passages from Psalms and gave some interesting facts on the life of composer Ludwig van Beethoven. Edith Killian read several humorous readings. An instrumental trio provided an excellent musical performance of opera pieces. The trio included Elizabeth Palmer who played the violin, Ellen Eager, the cello, and Deb Seyler, the piano.

The group is invited to a meeting of Society 25 held at the Quarryville Fairgrounds. On August 10, the society will meet at Hempfield Church of the Brethren with Hazel Newcomer serving as hostess. Each member will bring a pound package to be auctioned. Proceeds will go to charity.

Berks Society 4

Members of Farm Women Society Group 4 answered roll call to the question: Do you eat anything that grows wild?

They met at the home of Renee Ketterer with Georgeanna Fullerton as hostess for the potluck dinner prior to the business meeting.

Six members attended Spring Rally. Awards were given to a student at Boyertown Senior High School and to both East and West Junior High Home Economics.

A pound auction and white elephant sale is planned for the July meeting at the home of Elsie Rothenberger, Boyertown.

DON'T JUST GIVE YOUR HAY A RIDE... GET AN OSWALT TMR/HAY PROCESSOR

AND A FIVE-YEAR WARRANTY!*

Oswalt Models 180 and 230
TMR/Hay Processors help you mix better rations.

Only an Oswalt Model 180 or 230 features square top augers, notched bottom augers and a shear-shelf design that aggressively tear hay chunks apart and reduce fiber length so that other ration ingredients can be properly mixed. That's the only way to mix hay into your TMR. Only an Oswalt does it so well.

*The Model 180 and 230 are protected by the best five-year warranty you've ever seen. See us for all the details soon.

HAY PROCESSOR

Awesome four auger mixing action keeps this Model 333 RuffageMaster on top of the heap!

Oswalt Model 333 RuffageMaster offers a better way to process those difficult-to-handle, long-cut roughage materials. It will process full bales of roughage, breaking it down and blending it into a fully mixed ration. RuffageMaster is designed to mix any type of feed materials faster and better than any other machine on the market.

Call us for a demonstration soon.

Gustafson

Vitavax is a Reg. TM of Unroyal Chemical Company, Inc.
Gustafson (logo) is a Reg. TM of Gustafson, Inc.

Vitavax - 200 is a lot more than just disease protection.

If you grow wheat or other small grains, Vitavax-200 is a crop input you should seriously consider. That's because no other seed treatment will give your grain more disease protection. The powerful systemic activity of Vitavax-200 will effectively protect your grain against smuts, seedling blights, and seed decay.

But the Vitavax benefits don't stop there.

Vitavax is also a patented growth stimulant. Under adverse growing conditions like drought or cool, wet weather, Vitavax-200 will normally help your crop emerge faster than untreated seed, and develop larger crowns and more extensive root systems.

Get more of the yield your crop is capable of producing, talk to us about Vitavax-200 Systemic Seed Treatment today.

BARN PAINTING

Aim For The Best - In Coating Film Thickness

To do it right use the finest kind of bristle brush evening out the coating into a film thickness that does not peel in normal moisture stress (found on most barn siding from outside and inside by livestock or stored animal feed)

- 1. PREPARATION. Peeling old coatings (improperly brushed) needs to be removed. The best method is simply water blasting or power washing! High volume of water - medium pressure is best! Done professionally or do it yourself, especially on the easy to reach areas. This is resurfacing!!!
- 2. BEST NEW START ON RESURFACED WOOD SIDING After spraying on this kind of barn paint or stain, take time to pay attention to brush out in all directions to create a film thickness that will prevent future peeling & resurfacing costs & effort. This film will let excess moisture breathe through it. Depending on the amount of weather wear it can be recoated lightly in 10-15 years. Southern exposures usually wear faster.

Thoroughly Conditioned

The Gehl 2140/2170 mower conditioners will thoroughly condition your hay. These pull-type mower conditioners are built for fast cutting, fast drying and worry-free performance. The wide, intermeshing rubber rolls with intermittent ribs give you 35% more working edges than continuous-ribbed rolls, for more thorough conditioning. That means shorter drying time with less leaf damage. See your Gehl dealer today on how the 2140, with a 7 ft. cutting width, and the 2170 with a 9 ft. 3 in. cutting width, will fit into your haymaking operation.

Simple Design...Easy Operation

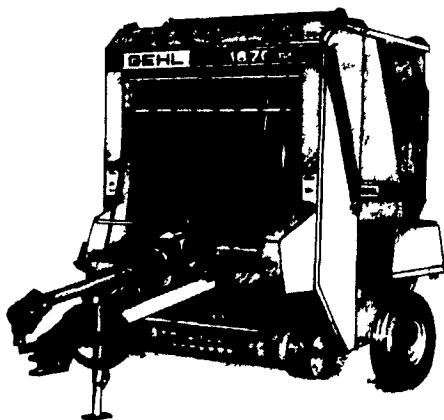

If you're looking for extra-easy operation, the Gehl Models 1310 and 1710 fixed chamber and round balers can't be beat. No other balers are as easy to operate. The pickup feeds material directly into the baling chamber, so these balers easily handle all crops and conditions. Incoming material gently tumbles inside the chamber, gradually forming the bale. The operator simply keeps an eye on the pressure gauge; when it reaches the factory recommended psi the bale is complete. Stop by your Gehl dealer today for more information on these easy-to-operate balers from Gehl.

Pack It In!

Pack more hay into each bale with Gehl variable chamber round balers.

- Total Density Control (TDC®) - Lets you custom-build bales according to changing crop and moisture conditions for maximum nutrient value.
- Two models - Makes bales 3 feet, 9 inches wide and up to 5 feet in diameter, or 5 feet wide and up to 6 feet in diameter.
- Quick-wrap option - Speeds your baling operation and helps preserve hay quality.
- Constant velocity driveline - For smooth operation.
- Electric dual twine wrap - With manual or auto control.
- Low horsepower requirement - Lets you bale with a tractor as small as 40 horsepower

Antique TREASURE Auction

DESIRABLE ANTIQUES, FURNITURE, COLLECTIBLES, AUTOMOBILES, TOOLS AND MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS OF MRS. FLORENCE D. MILLER OF RED LION, PA., WIDOW OF THE LATE RANDALL MILLER. MRS. MILLER RECENTLY EXPERIENCED A FIRE AT HER HOME. THIS HAS PROMPTED HER TO DISPOSE OF MOST OF THE 60 YEAR COLLECTION OF ANTIQUES, ETC. THAT SHE AND HER LATE HUSBAND ACQUIRED. ALTHOUGH THE FIRE WAS CONTAINED AND QUICKLY EXTINGUISHED THERE WAS ACTUAL BURN DAMAGE TO A FEW ITEMS. AND SOME ITEMS SHOW SMOKE AND WATER DAMAGE. BUT MOST OF THE COLLECTION CAME THROUGH UNHARMED. DUE TO THE DISRUPTION FROM THE FIRE, AND THE NEED FOR REPAIRS, MANY ITEMS WERE PACKED IN CARTONS AND TRUCKED AWAY TO STORAGE WITHOUT BEING ITEMIZED. THERE WERE NEARLY 4 TRUCKLOADS, SO THE HALL WILL BE RAMJAMMED FULL! FRIDAY'S AUCTION WILL BE HELD IN THE BACK ROOM, AND ALL SATURDAY'S MERCHANDISE WILL BE SET UP IN THE FRONT HALL FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

York Farm Credit Announces Election Results

YORK (York Co.) — Jay V. Rush, president of York Farm Credit, ACA announced the 1991 director election results. Three positions were filled for a three-year term. Ralph H. McGregor from East Berlin, York County, was re-elected and Clifford L. Hawbaker from Chambersburg, Franklin County and Paul W. McPherson from New Park, York County, were newly elected.

McGregor operates a dairy farm, McRal Dairy, which consists of 345 owned and 655 rented acres with 350 cows and 360 head of young stock. He has been chairman of the York Farm Credit, ACA board of directors since 1989, and is a director of the Pennsylvania Beef Council. He is also a member of the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, York County Ag Preservation Board, and Trinity Lutheran Church in East Berlin.

Hawbaker operates a dairy operation consisting of 313 owned and 197 rented acres, 218 milk cows, and 170-175 dairy herd replacements. He is vice president of the Franklin County extension board, vice president of the Franklin County farmland preservation board, and director on both the Franklin County soil conservation board and the Chambersburg 2000 Partnership board. He is also a member of Gideons International, Maryland and Virginia Milk Cooperative, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Agway, the Franklin County Farmers Association, and Cumberland Valley Cooperative.

McPherson operates a fruit and grain production operation consisting of 1,300 acres which he owns, and 200 rented acres. McPherson is a legislative committee person for the York County Farmers Association on PFA, chairman of the Fawn Township Planning Commission, a director of the Citizens Volunteer Fire Company of Fawn Grove, a director of the Penn State College of Agriculture Alumni Society, trustee for the Centre Presbyterian Church, as well as active in the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, National and Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association, York County Fruit Growers, National Peach Council, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture research advisory committee. He is also a member of

PFA Service Helps Dairy Farms Survive

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — A valuable business management service is available through the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) to help dairymen survive this year's low milk prices.

About 15 percent of the state's dairymen are already taking advantage of this opportunity through PFA's Farm Management Services (FMS). They recently received one of the key tools of the service, the annual dairy business summary.

"The summary pinpoints net worth, production per person, capital turnover, net income per cow, debt per cow, machinery operating costs, fixed costs and other key financial indicators for dairy farms," said Don Hummel, assistant manager of FMS.

For example, the summary shows that in 1990, dairymen harvested more feed of better quality than a year earlier. Feed inventory per farm increased by $6,400 during the year despite lower per-unit values. "The high quality feed that dairymen stored last fall should go a long way in holding down milk production costs this year," said Hummel.

The summary also shows that Pennsylvania dairymen increased the average pounds of milk sold per person by about 5,000 pounds to 459,745 pounds. "As milk

Agway and Adams Electric cooperatives.

Rush also announced that as a result of the York Farm Credit, ACA board of directors meeting held on May 28, 1991, Ralph H. McGregor of Kralltown, York County, was elected chairman of the board, and Lester E. Martin of Chambersburg, Franklin County, was elected vice chairman.

prices have fallen, it's important that dairymen continue striving to increase production per person," said Hummel. The top 10 percent of the state's dairymen in terms of net farm income achieved an average milk production per person of 624,997 pounds.

According to the summary, dairy farm families, either through choice or necessity, went off the farm more often last year for additional income. The average off-farm income per farm increased by $1,400 to $9,000 in 1990. Dairymen spent $32,500 on family living expenses, up from 429,000 a year before.

"All the farm business components reported in the annual dairy summary are important in putting together a total financial picture of a dairy operation," said Hummel.

"What sets the top 10 percent of dairymen apart from the average," Hummel said, "is their ability to adapt to change. Dairymen should learn to love recordkeeping. With their accountants, dairymen should take a close look at their efficiency, costs, possible alternatives and innovations, and be prepared to make decisions on the basis of what they find and be determined to follow through with them. Better business and financial management is the key to the future."

Kuhn Honors ABC Groff

ABC Groff has received this award three times in a row. Kuhn is known for its haying, disc, and sickle bar mower and tillage, rotary tiller, and other farm equipment.

Aerotech's Fans Most Efficient In Tests

LANSING, Mich. — Aerotech, Inc., swept the field of 24-, 36- and 48-inch ventilation fans for swine buildings in independent tests on fan efficiency commissioned by the Wisconsin Farm Electrification Council, suggesting large potential energy savings for producers.

For example, compared to the average fan tested, the top-rated 24-inch Aerotech fan would save swine producers $1,810 in energy costs over a 10-year period in a typical confinement building.

The test results were published in "Agricultural Ventilation Fans Performance And Efficiencies" by the bioenvironmental and structural systems lab, department of agricultural engineering, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign with support from the Wisconsin Farm Electrification Council.

The Aerotech top-rated 48-inch fan has an airflow of 23,900 cubic feet per minute (CFM) with an efficiency rating of 23.4 CFM/watt. The average of all 27 fans tested in this category was only 18,400 CFM and 17.0 CFM/watt. This means the Aerotech fan moved 30 percent more air with six percent less electricity.

Tests of 36-inch fans showed the top-rated Aerotech fan with an airflow of 10,600 CFM and an efficiency rating of 19.8 CFM/watt. The average of the 30 fans tested in this category was an airflow of 9,800 CFM and an efficiency rating of just 15.6 CFM/watt. In the 24-inch fan category, the top-rated Aerotech had an airflow of 5,860 CFM and an efficiency rating of 15.8 CFM/watt, while the average of the seven fans tested was 5,550 CFM and 11.7 CFM/watt.

All fans were tested at 0.04 inches of static pressure with shutters and guards attached and cones in place.

In a typical hog confinement house requiring 18,000 CFM, three 24-inch Aerotech fans operating an average of 5,000 hours per year would save $1,810 per building in 10 years over the average fan based on the efficiency data. That's a savings of $603 per fan in 10 years.

One of the big advantages of the Aerotech fans is a precisely-engineered, circular discharge cone that smooths airflow and reduces back-pressure to boost capacity 12-17 percent.

Another feature on the 24- and 48-inch fans is an exclusive Shutter-Lock™ design that uses counterweights to reduce airflow resistance through the shutters. At the same time, the weights help lock the shutters shut against air leaks.

For more information, contact Aerotech, Inc., 929 Terminal Road, Lansing, MI 48906, (800) 227-AERO or (517) 323-2930.

Aerotech beat all the competition in independent tests of ventilation fans. The Aerotech 24-inch fan, left, had a top efficiency rating of 15.8 CFM/watt. The Aerotech 48-inch fan, right, had a category-leading efficiency rating of 23.4 CFM/watt.

SOFT TRAC

- Rounded tire shoulders minimize turf cutting on turns, sudden stops
- Tread contour, surface pressure spreads out the load to leave turf virtually unmarked.
- Computer-designed tread pattern for traction, wear, riding comfort

RIB TYPE

- Durable, soft-riding polyester cord construction. No flat spots
- Free-rolling rib design.
- Uniform high-flotation tread pressure for less turf cutting.

SUPER TERRA GRIP

- Deep biting lugs for traction.
- Self-cleaning tread
- High flotation on soft terrain
- Large footprint for superior load distribution.

Scientist Receives Edison Patent Award

PRINCETON, N.J. — Dr. Marlinus Los, associate director of crop science discovery at American Cyanamid Company's agricultural research division, was honored with the Thomas Alva Edison Patent Award recently.

Dr. Los is recognized for his discovery of a new, environmentally compatible class of herbicides known as imidazolinones. This prestigious award is sponsored by the New Jersey Research and Development Council.

The imidazolinone herbicides require only a small amount of active ingredient per acre to effectively control target weeds. Because of the low rates at which they are applied, farmers have reduced total U.S. pesticide use by over 31.5 million pounds since the introduction of these compounds in 1985.

Through their unique mode of action, they attack an enzyme that is present in plants but not in humans or other mammals. Another safety factor is that the compound does not translocate into the seed. Thus, soybeans used for human consumption are not

Additionally, extensive field studies strongly demonstrate that imidazolinones have an extremely low potential to move into groundwater reserves. When applied according to label directions, the compound remains in the upper 12 inches of the soil profile. It is then available to be taken up by the weeds, bound to the soil, and/or degraded by soil microorganisms.

To date, scientists at American Cyanamid have developed four very successful products from this class of chemistry. Included in that stable of products is SCEP-TER®, a herbicide that aids farmers in controlling harmful weeds in soybeans. Another, PUR-SUIT® herbicide, is registered for both soybeans, peanuts, and other leguminous crops. A third product, ARSENAL®, is used in vegetation control along highways, utility and railroad rights of ways, and in reforestation. The fourth, ASSERT®, is a herbicide that is used to control target weeds in cereal grain production.

Keystone Promotes Smith

SHOEMAKERSVILLE (Berks Co.) — Richard D. Smith was recently promoted to branch manager of Keystone Farm Credit, ACA's Annville branch office. The announcement was made by executive vice-president of operations, Dianne Seidel.

Smith graduated from Manheim Township High School, Lancaster County, and from Penn State University where he earned a B.S. in animal science in 1975. While at Penn State, he was a member of the Dairy Science Club.

Before joining Farm Credit in December of 1979, Smith worked for Southern States Cooperative in Maryland and Beacon Feed Company in New York. Beginning his farm credit career as a field representative, Smith has held many positions within the cooperative organization including that of senior credit analyst and executive loan officer, from which he was promoted to branch manager.

Smith resides near Manheim with his wife and two children.

United Dairy Expands Services

SENECA FALLS, N.Y.— Ed Anna, president of United Dairy Services, has recently announced that United is making its services available to agricultural organizations and individuals, and not limiting their services to cooperatives only.

Although United's primary thrust will continue to be to serve small to mid-size dairy cooperatives, they are conscious of the real need by other agricultural organizations for the kinds of services provided by United.

Many organizations lack the personal and/or resources to carry out their programs in a cost effective and businesslike manner.

United services include membership, public and governmental relations, accounting and general management services tailored to the individual requirements of small and mid-sized organizations, cooperatives, and agencies.

The recently remodeled office in Seneca Falls is conveniently located near the New York State Thruway. It is equipped with the latest IBM compatible computers, modem, multi-line phone, fax system, and duplicating equipment to meet any general office demand.

The office is managed by James Patsos, who has more than 30 years of general management and accounting experience. He directs the secretarial, accounting, payroll, and creative advertising staff on a daily basis.

Ed Anna said, "I am prepared to meet with anyone at their convenience to discuss their needs, and how we at United Dairy Services can meet these needs in a cost effective, efficient, and quality manner. We pride ourselves in filling the requirements of our clients without regard to their size, small or large."

Anna can be reached at his home, 140 Elm Street, Batavia, NY 14020, (716) 344-1780, or by contacting United Dairy Services, 12 North Park Street, Seneca Falls, NY 13148, (315) 568-2750

4 Counties Realty Opens

CHADWICKS, N.Y. — 4 Guys Wholesale Inc. has recently opened a realty office, 4 Counties Realty, Inc., here.

4 Guys, located in West Winfield, N.Y., was established in 1981 as a retail lumber dealer and as wholesaler of lumber and manufacturer of fencing.

4 Counties Realty, which opened June 10, is managed by Mark, Dave, Jim, and Tom Brady. George F. Demeree is the broker in the firm and handles the farm/land division.

In 1957, Demeree purchased his own dairy in Little Falls, which now runs 1,000 acres with 250 registered Holstein cattle.

In 1984, Demeree was instrumental in organizing the Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency (RCMA), contacting farmers in most counties of New York state. He has been a director and member of the executive committee since its organization and plays an active role in RCMA's efforts to improve the dairy farm income.

Demeree obtained his real estate agent license in July 1989 and became a member of the Million Dollar Sales Club in 1990 for Rob Diedrich Associates Century 21 in Mohawk, N.Y.

Janice R. "JR" Thorn fills the position of administrative manager. Thorn will head the residential housing division. She is a native Texan and has been an active Texas real estate broker since 1978, having owned and operated Century 21 Gold Key Realtors in Rockwall, Texas. In 1984, Thorn entered the banking industry and served as an investment counselor with a large bank in Dallas.

For more information, contact 4 Counties Realty Agents at (315) 737-4489.

Egg Show Examines Unique Businesses

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — At the upcoming Northeast Poultry and Egg Trade Show here, attendees may wish to inquire about a trend in the egg business in Pennsylvania.

The investor-manager-grower team concept is overshadowing independent producers. This may be the only way to keep small producers viable in this very competitive industry.

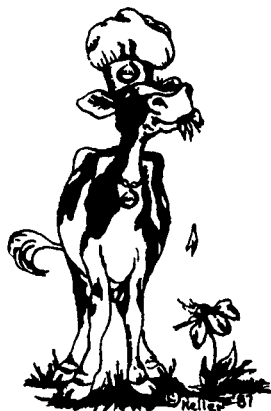

"It's real hard for the small farmer to compete with the high technology the large companies bring to bear, especially with profit margin being so slim," said Frank Baber of DeKalb Poultry Research.

Under the team concept, investors provide operating capital, a management company monitors productivity and marketing, and the grower is responsible for hands-on, day-to-day output. It has withstood the test of time in Lancaster County and is enthusiastically supported by producers.

The trade show and conference is expected to draw a wide range of producers, processors, integrators, and growers from the egg, broiler, and turkey industries. For registration information, contact John Hoffman, (717) 652-7530.

Trayer Attends Swine Seminar

AUGUSTA, Mich. — Timothy P. Trayer, D.V.M., was one of 38 veterinarians from across the U.S. attending a swine seminar sponsored by The Upjohn Company. The three-day seminar recently was held at the company's Brook Lodge Conference Center here.

According to Wayne Jones, Upjohn swine product manager, "The seminar's purpose is to bring key swine practitioners together to share information. The seminar provides a forum for presentations on new disease and management research related to swine management and production, and allows practitioners to discuss and exchange ideas with one another."

Presentations included discussions of new developments in pseudorabies control, swine dysentery research, EMC disease, and swine respiratory health problems. The changing role of the swine practitioner — including his influence on the production of high quality, safe pork products — was included. Upjohn research and product development efforts relating to swine production also were presented.

HANDLE BABY ANIMALS CAREFULLY OR DO NOT KISS A DUCK!

Herbert C. Jordan
Associate Professor Of Poultry Science

Each Easter season (and in some cases, year-round) small children are allowed to play with very young animals.

Parents or guardians make an error every time when allowing this. Small children have no discretion and may squeeze, kiss, hug, step on, or abuse a baby animal — adults must not allow this to happen.

Also, the manure or body fluids from the animal can contain potentially harmful bacteria. These bacteria, if ingested by the child, could cause illness.

To prevent problems from occurring between baby animals and small children, consider these points:

- It is illegal and unwise to give or sell a baby animal to a minor without the parents' consent and commitment to raise the animal properly.

- Children under 8 years old should be physically assisted when holding or petting a baby animal and children over 8 years of age should be observed while handling the animal.

- Never allow a small child to kiss, lick, or bite a baby animal.

- Wash hands thoroughly with soap and water before and after handling an animal. If manure or feces of an animal are ingested by a child, the youngster may become ill.

- Give or sell baby animals only to adults who agree to care for the Polymers From Lactic Acid? It's Possible!

WILMINGTON, Del. — A venture between Du Pont Chemicals and ConAgra, Inc. is developing and expects to market polylactides — polymers made from lactic acid — that in laboratory tests exhibit degradability and should enable the recycling of some paper products in ways not done today. Commercial quantities of the new material are projected to be available in late 1994.

The joint venture, Ecological Chemical Products Company (Ecochem), will develop economical polylactide materials from renewable resources such as cheese whey and corn. Ecochem's proprietary manufacturing technology will convert these resources to high-purity lactic acid, derivatives, and polymers. Polylactides are degradable into water animal properly whether or not children are involved.

Many thousands of small animals are sold each year as pets for children — so let's do it right.

Contact your county agricultural 4-H agent at the cooperative extension office in your county to obtain information on the proper care of pets and how small animals are cared for by children from 8 through 18 years of age in 4-H projects.

and carbon dioxide in the presence of moisture, air, and common bacteria.

"This exciting technology could play an important part in helping to reduce solid waste problems," said Mark Montgomery, president of Ecochem. "Of course, there are no guarantees at this early point in the program, since we have not developed data on commercial applications. But we are especially interested in the potential uses in the fast food industry and in grocery products, in applications such as insulated drink cups, fast food containers or frozen food packages. Pilot plant quantities representative of future commercial plant production will be produced later this year, and will be used for real life testing of utility and degradability. We view the Ecochem business as an opportunity to develop socially responsible materials based on renewable natural resources and biotechnology."

Trial quantities of the polylactide materials have been produced, converted into product prototypes, and are being tested. Ecochem expects to offer polylactides commercially to paper, printing, packaging, and specialty product companies by 1994 following successful demonstration of proprietary product developments under way. Ecochem has the potential to generate significant revenues and earnings after 1994 if expectations are fulfilled.

Ecochem's polylactides have shown promising results in enabling recycling. For example, many paper products are not economically recycled today into the same end use because of the inks, toners, adhesives, and coatings on the paper. Instead they are recycled into lower-grade paper end uses like egg cartons. Ecochem's technology may allow the development of printing products and coatings that can be removed easily with existing paper recycling technologies.

Ecochem also will market natural lactic acid and derivative products to the food additives, preservatives, animal feed, and lawn and garden fertilizer markets starting in the second half of 1992.

Ecochem's natural lactic acid technology originated with developments by United Agri Products, a ConAgra company, and the University of Wisconsin. Du Pont's expertise in polymers, paper chemistry and engineering, along with enhancements by Bio-Technical Resources, Inc., another Du Pont-ConAgra venture, provided the opportunity for Ecochem to pursue high-value, high-purity applications.

Polylactide materials being developed using Ecochem's advanced technologies are expected to be priced to enable broad, cost-effective use as a key component in finished paper and plastic products.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Somerset FFA Celebrates

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent
BERLIN (Somerset) — The annual Somerset County FFA awards banquet was held at the community center with a ham dinner served by the ladies auxiliary of the Berlin Volunteer Fire Department.

Conducting the meeting were outgoing officers: Cory Smith, president; Keith Weimer, vice-president; David Jenkins, secretary; Michele Phillips, treasurer; Richard Hoyman, reporter, and Marc Tallentire, sentinel. Doyle Paul was their advisor.

In his speech, Keith Hay, current Pennsylvania state FFA president, said that since holding his office, his father has found a new meaning for "FFA".

Said Hay, "My father says 'FFA means Father Farms Alone.' " Hay says his mother is kept busy acting as secretary to schedule his many appearances. Holding up a mirror for the group, Hay said the ticket to success lies within the person who sees his face in the mirror. Success, he said, begins with a dream, followed by determination and devotion to achieve it.

Michael Cooney was recognized for having been accepted as an international exchange student for next year. He will be going to Germany.

Entertainment was from the state fair queen, Wendy Will, she is also the FFA Sweetheart from the Berlin Brothersvalley chapter. Michele Phillips, the county Lamb & Wool queen gave a cute presentation about the advantages of wool, while she was dressed like a wooly lamb.

The Floyd Dye Memorial trophy for parliamentary procedure was presented to the Meyersdale FFA Chapter.

Conservation district checks were presented to Steve Landis, April Mitchell, and Michael Cooney, for first, second, and third place in Somerset County.

For the best kept SOEP record book, Steve Landis received a $50 check.

Jeremy Coughenour, received a $50 Savings Bond for placing third in the state for his wildlife record book.

Sports trophies were earned by Berlin Brothersvalley Chapter for basketball and Mount Davis Chapter for volleyball.

Following is a list of all other awards:

- PUBLIC SPEAKING

Dum Named Outstanding Ag Senior

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 29, 1991-69

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Benjamin Dum, Jr., of Ellitsburg, has been named outstanding senior in Penn State's College of Agriculture by the College of Agriculture Alumni Society. The award was announced at spring commencement recently at the University Park Campus.

A dairy and animal science major with a business option, Dum maintained a high grade point average throughout his college career and held a number of leadership positions in student organizations.

After his freshman year at the Mont Alto Campus, Dum transferred to University Park and joined the Dairy Science Club. He was manager of the Penn State Dairy Expo and a member of the Penn State Dairy Cattle Judging Team, which placed third in the nation in 1990. Dum also served as vice president of the Coaly Society, an honorary club, and as secretary of the Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity.

Dum received many scholarships and awards, including the Poage Grant-in-Aid for dairy judging skills, the Robert Rumler Award, and the Lester C. Jones scholarship.

The son of Benjamin and Donna Dum of Ellitsburg, he has worked on the family dairy farm throughout his college career, and plans to return to it after graduation.

The alumni society selects outstanding seniors based on academic achievement, leadership in college clubs, faculty recommendations, an application essay, and a personal interview.

RULE Program Announces Graduates

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Brenda Stallman of Lancaster recently completed a two-year program designed to develop leadership abilities of individuals in rural Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Rural Leadership Program (RULE) is a partnership between public and private sectors. The program consists of 10 workshops over a two-year period, including travel seminars to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C. Workshops provide intensive insights to public policy issues and development in group process and communication skills.

The two years of activity culminated recently with a graduation ceremony for the 28 participants held at the Tofrees Country Club in State College.

"In order to cultivate the rural leadership potential, we need to be responsive to the magnitude of issues facing rural communities," said Joy Dunbar, RULE's chief executive officer. "I feel confident that Brenda Stallman can be a change agent in her community through creative problem solving and strong communication skills."

Dunbar said, "Members of this class will go on to lead Pennsylvania. We know the program gets results. Alumni have assumed leadership roles as state legislators, township supervisors, county commissioners, chamber of commerce directors, as well as officers on boards for school districts, banks, churches, and private and public agencies."

PLY-FOIL is a very efficient form of insulation. In application after application it has proven to be extremely effective at controlling heat gain/loss, thus significantly reducing heating and cooling costs.
PLY-FOIL Insulation uses an aluminum foil to reflect up to 97% of the radiant heat.

PLY-FOIL

PLY-FOIL BENEFITS

PLY-FOIL products are clean, lightweight, and non-toxic; are unaffected by changes in humidity; do not shrink; and once installed require no maintenance. They do not promote the growth of fungi or bacteria, and provide no nesting support for rodent or insect pests. PLY-FOIL, which has a Class A/Class 1 fire rating, meets the fire and smoke safety requirements of most federal, state and local building codes.

NO. 1 DAIRYING DIESEL

Since 1968
F2L-912 diesels
have earned the reputation as the most reliable diesel.
Don't settle for less.

2 Cyl. F2L-912

EASIER STARTING: Heavy flywheel provides easy starting. No electric heater plugs.

QUIETER: Runs quieter than most water cooled diesels. Very quiet exhaust.

Continuous Duty Rating:
26.5 HP @ 1800 RPM

Fewer repair parts than comparable three-cylinder diesels - cheaper to overhaul.

It has direct injection, lube oil cooling, and oil cooled pistons. This engine has proven to survive the extreme heat of a heavy load in a small engine house better than any other engine.

Some dogs will stop at nothing.

If you ever thought about giving your dog the run of the yard, but couldn't see putting up a big fence to do it, a DogWatch™ Hidden Fence System could be what you're looking for.

DogWatch™ keeps an "eye" on your dog by transmitting a harmless radio signal through a hidden boundary wire. A special receiver collar then warns the dog when it gets too close.

Find out more about DogWatch™ Hidden Fence Systems by calling us today.

Wet brewers grain is more than a good feed. It's a good business ingredient.

Each day, up to 100,000 U.S. dairy cows feed on rations containing wet brewers grain. That's because their owners know it minimizes feed costs while it maximizes production.

Wet brewers grain is a high-protein feed ingredient. It's always fresh, because it's delivered directly to your dairy. It fits into most programs, is easy to handle, and easy to store.

Call us today. One of our professional feed consultants will help you work wet brewers grain into your ration, so you can make it a profitable ingredient for your business.

Experience... The Wrangler 2000-OH Inexpensive. Not cheap.

The Wrangler Model 2000 OH represents a new level of value in livestock trailers

Its standard specifications, top quality components and proven engineering are found in other Wrangler models. But the new 2000 OH is less expensive. By standardizing height and width and by limiting the number of optional accessories, Eby lowers the production costs for this model. Now you can get all our traditional craftsmanship in a top value gooseneck

Unlike other budget trailers on the market the Wrangler 2000 OH achieves a price breakthrough without compromising quality. Consider these features, standard on the new Wrangler 2000 OH

- 7,000# Dexter Torque Flex axles
- Steel-belted radial tires, 10 ply rating
- Aerodynamic, attractive design
- Sealed beam lights with enclosed, externally accessible wiring
- 2-year warranty

Specifications

- Available in 14', 16', 18', 20' lengths
- 7' Width
- 6'6" Inside height

Special introductory pricing.All this and more for under $9,000.

* Introductory price of a standard 20' model as illustrated. Freight taxes title dealer prep not included.

R.V. & S.V. HOLLENSHEAD & FAMILIES

Mercersburg, PA
Sniders Elevator Inc.

"We set a goal some time ago to hit 1000 lbs. of fat. We feel we could hit that goal some time this summer. We are milking about 50% heifers so we hope through feeding, breeding & management to set new higher goals. We appreciate new technology like AminoTek to help us improve our milk production.

ROUGHAGE & MILK RATION PROGRAM 1 Group TMR Balanced For 90 Lbs.

- 20% AminoTek Hi Peak Plus
- Top-Dressed Starting At 70 lbs.

When I switched to AminoTek it was for 2 reasons 1) to increase milk production & 2) improve body condition. When we switched the base ration to AminoTek the cows jumped about 4 lbs/day almost immediately. We then switched the top-dress and so far they have gone up a total of 6-7 lbs. I was averaging 68 lbs. and now they are milking 75 lbs. I have a goal to reach 23,000 lbs. by next spring. I've worked with Service Feed & Supply & Master Mix Feeds for 10 years. They will work with me to help reach that goal.

Good News On Meat Exports

SEATTLE, Wash. — The U.S. Meat Export Federation (USMEF) opened its 1991 Foreign Buyers Conference and mid-year meeting recently with good news from the U.S. Department of Agriculture: U.S. beef and pork exports increased significantly during the first three months of 1991.

U.S. exports of beef and veal and variety meats for the Jan.-March 1991 period reached 140,600 metric tons and were valued at $540 million, up 23 percent in value over the same period last year and 18 percent in volume. Included in the gains was a doubling of beef export volume to both Mexico and South Korea with continued growth in Japan and Canada. The ranking of these top four beef export markets for the Jan.-March 1991 period is:

	Metric Tons
1. Japan	64,233
2. Canada	21,765
3. Mexico	22,106
4. S. Korea	7,567

During the same period, U.S. pork and pork variety meat also picked up ground over last year's gains in foreign markets, reaching 47,100 metric tons in the first three months of 1991 and totaling $102.7 million. This is up 2 percent in value and 17 exports for the Jan.-March 1991 period are:

	Metric Tons
1. Japan	17,305
2. Mexico	20,874

"I'm optimistic about both beef and pork exports for this year," said USMEF President Phil Seng. "The strong showing in the first quarter is certainly a good sign."

Seng said that the Seattle meetings will give U.S. meat industry executives the latest news and developments in export markets around the world. Also taking part in discussions are more than 140 foreign buyers from Japan, Mexico, South Korea, and other countries. Seng pointed out that this year's meetings have attracted record numbers from both the U.S. and foreign countries.

"Without question, the level of interest has increased dramatically in recent years when it comes to exporting U.S. meats," said Seng. "The opportunity and the demand are there. With markets opening up in Japan, Mexico and South Korea, the stage is really beginning to take shape."

ADC - For the Long Pull

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I tell them that ADC offers a guaranteed market, financial stability and outstanding benefits.

"We're the region's most successful co-op. In the past four years, we have returned more than $94 million to members in dividends, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of nearly $27,000 per member.

"If you are not an ADC shipper and are having second thoughts about your own milk market, then you should talk to the one with staying power."

Pork Prose

Kenneth B. Kephart

Penn State Extension Swine Specialist

PROTEIN LEVELS FOR BARROWS AND GILTS

Pork producers are taking a closer look at two aspects of finishing hogs that most people thought we had already researched to death: 1) protein (lysine) levels and 2) feeding barrows and gilts separately.

It's true that there have been hundreds of protein studies with hogs. And I think most producers are aware that barrows grow faster than gilts, and that gilts are leaner and have more muscle. The renewed interest in these concepts has come with the arrival of new, aggressive carcass grading systems.

One question producers have is, "Will elevated protein levels during the finishing period make my hogs leaner, and if so, will the increased carcass value be enough to pay for the extra protein?" Producers also ask, "If gilts are leaner and have more muscle than barrows, could I justify feeding the gilts a higher protein level?"

What we did

We've been asking the same questions at Penn State, and have completed two trials that have given us some answers.

Both trials were conducted in a commercial finishing facility (Nebraska-design modified open front) and were supported in part by research grants from the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council and Agway, Inc. We also had a lot of cooperation and assistance from Tom Craig (owner of the finishing barn), Hatfield Quality Meats and Clark's Ag Center. The trials were conducted by Bob Mikesell, a graduate assistant in the Department of Dairy and Animal Science, and myself.

Each trial included roughly 240 pigs which were on experiment through the finishing phase. Half of the pigs were fed a diet containing .65 percent lysine (14 percent crude protein equivalent). The other half were fed .85 percent lysine (17 percent crude protein equivalent).

At the end of the trial, pigs were processed through Hatfield's grading system to record Fat-O-Meat'er readings and carcass value. In about 80 of the pigs from each trial, fat depth and loin muscle areas were measured at the 10th rib. Since each of the pigs were individually tattooed, we could compare performance and carcass data between barrows and gilts.

What we learned

If you're inclined to read further, the numbers are listed below.

But the bottom line is that we had a only slight increase in carcass value (roughly $1.00/head) in pigs fed the high lysine diets — and that increase occurred only in the second trial.

Note that within each sex, hog performance was essentially identical for both lysine levels. In this trial, barrows and gilts were penned together, so we weren't able to separate feed conversion ratios by sex.

For the low lysine group, F/G was 3.07 vs 3.19 for the high lysine group. When figuring in actual feed costs ($136.60 for the low lysine diet, $147.00 for the high lysine diet), the feed cost per pound of gain was $.225 for the low lysine group vs. $.235 for the high lysine group.

In this trial, we had a slight increase in carcass value (about $1.00 per head) in the high lysine group. The lysine was raised by increasing the percentage of soybean meal in the diet.

(In the first trial, which showed no dietary response, the lysine level was raised by adding lysine-HCl to a diet which already had a significant amount of synthetic lysine.)

Another difference in the design of the second trial was that barrows and gilts were penned separately. This enabled us to measure the feed intake and feed conversion of each sex, but we should point out that each F/G value in this trial represents the reading from only one feeder. So you need to view those numbers with caution.

Conclusions

Increasing lysine levels over the typical .65 percent (14 percent C.P.) fed in the finishing period does not appear to be economical, even when hogs are sold under Hatfield's grading system. The striking thing about both trials is that the gilts were worth about $3.00-$4.00 more than the barrows, even though the gilts had a lighter carcass weight.

What we plan to do next

We've reached the conclusion that barrows and gilts have about the same lysine requirement, and that appears to be no more than .65 percent.

Our next step is simply to compare the economics of split-sex feeding. We'll do that with at least two more trials. One will be conducted under commercial conditions in much the same manner as those described above. Performance of pigs in mixed-sex pens will be compared to that of pens of gilts and pens of barrows.

Obviously, there may be a marketing advantage to split-sexing the pens. Since there would not be such a wide range in growth rates, the variation in live weight would also be less, enabling producers to empty a pen at market time in a week or two, rather than in two or three weeks.

But there is also some limited data suggesting that pigs will perform better when penned with other pigs of the same sex. If that is true, there is a behavioral pattern occurring that we haven't yet unraveled.

To get a handle on the pig-to-pig dynamics, we'll conduct one or two smaller trials under university conditions. In these trials, a video recording system will be used to monitor pig behavior. If, for example, gilts act and grow differently around other gilts than they do around barrows, we should be able to get it on tape.

We're grateful to the Pennsylvania Pork Council for their gracious support of the upcoming studies and we welcome any questions or suggestions regarding these experiments. I can be reached at (814) 863-3671.

AGRI PRO SOYBEANS

AP-350

- Group IV Variety matures 4 days later than Williams 82
- High Yielder
- Excellent Resistance To Phytophthora Root Rot

ROHRER 3750 BRAND SOYBEANS

Rohrers 3750 Brand Soybeans is a new true line variety which matures similar to Williams 82 but has more yield punch.

- Very good emerger with early season vigor
- Gets off to a fast start
- Good standability.
- Tolerance to phytophthora root rot

ROHRER 3850 BRAND SOYBEANS

Rohrers 3850 Brand Soybeans is a new pure line variety in the late Group III maturity class

- High yielder
- Excellent standability
- Field tolerant to phytophthora root rot
- Performs well on all soil types, as well as in all row widths

HOT WATER

- * FURNACE SITS OUTSIDE - 10'-100' from home/business/barn. Removes fire danger.
- * CLEAN - No ashes, dust smoke, trash inside.
- * CONVENIENT - Load every 10-12 hours. Burns logs up to 16" in diameter & 30" long. Stops most log splitting.
- * THERMOSTAT CONTROLLED - Even heat.
- * EASILY CONNECTS to forced Air/Hot Water System. Needs no chimney or water heater. Heats domestic hot water year round. Warm months of the year firing every 6 to 10 days.

DAIRY, VEAL & PIG FARMERS - BIG savings on heating & hot water costs at barn.

FREE YOURSELF FROM SPREADER CHAINS AND SAVE MONEY

The proven Hydra-Spread design can free you from the grief and maintenance of spreader apron chains for good!

This low maintenance spreader features solid poly boards both on the sides and the floor for slippery, no-stick performance. Hydraulic push power replaces the extensive mechanism needed in ordinary spreaders.

Why pay more for yesterday's ideas and designs? The design of tomorrow is PRICED RIGHT and will be on the job for years. We deliver to your farm.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

- ★ New Wider Heavy Duty Super Sprag 1-1/32" Wide
- ★ 5 Yr. Warranty Against Sprag Failure
- ★ Introductory Price $695.00

We are pleased to announce a major improvement in TA strength & performance backed up by a warranty that is unmatched in the industry. The 5/8" width Dana sprag which we have used over the past 10 years has proven its ability to perform under the most adverse of conditions and has achieved results that have sent our competitors scrambling to keep up. By increasing the width of the sprag to 1-1/32" and caging it in a heavier frame, we now have an unmatched shock load capacity and dramatically raised our load carrying ability. Our studies have shown that 90% of TA problems are directly related to sprag failure. We feel that we now have the strongest sprag & best rebuilt TA available and it will be warranted as follows:

*5 yr - 100% parts & labor against sprag
*2 yr - 100% parts & labor on remainder of unit

Our standard heavy duty TA is still available at $645.00 and carries a *2 yr. - 100% parts & labor warranty.

* Certain restrictions apply and there will be a maximum labor pay-out of $450.00

We also have units & parts available to rebuild old style TA's, including ramp & carrier sets

NEW price on ramps & carriers - $200.00

It can eliminate 40% of all your engine maintenance problems.

A Deutz AirDiesel is a true no-nonsense engine. There are no troublesome components such as hoses, fans and radiators associated with liquid-cooled engines. A Deutz is cooled by air and is engineered to save you up to 20% in fuel over other diesels. Over one million AirDiesels from 5 to 500 HP are working in all fields of application throughout the world.

THE BRAGGING STOPS. IN THE FIELD

Axial-Flow Combines Are Simply More Productive

Over the past thirteen years the Case IH axial-flow combines have proven themselves to be more productive than the combines previously owned by our customers. In tall crops, short crops or down crops; bumper crops or drought crops the axial-flow combines put more crop in the bin and, therefore, return more market dollars to you. The Case IH axial-flow is simply more productive in the field where the bragging stops.

HOOBER:

Axial-Flow production specialists

1. Every new combine Hooper sells is expertly predelivered and started in the field by a professional combine mechanic; experienced in setting and adjusting for all common crops.
2. Hooper's professional combine mechanics drive fully equipped combine service trucks, stocked with commonly used wearing parts. When called to service or repair an axial-flow combine, they carry with them the tools and equipment to do the job and get you back to the field fast.
3. Hooper's Parts Department has the largest combine parts inventory in the East. Daily pick-ups at the Case IH Parts depot help to provide fast emergency parts availability. Hooper's expert combine PARTS service provides you minimum downtime and maximum productivity.

BIG SAVINGS

NOW - Factory Discounts
NEXT YEAR - BIG PROFITS
WITH YOUR REEL RAIN IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Now is the time to come in and make a special deal on the Reel Rain Irrigation system that's right for your operation. Factory discounts are in effect for a limited time and we're anxious to pass the savings along to you.

Adequate water at critical times during crop development is one of the most important factors in increased yields. Even in a normal high rainfall year, your yields may suffer if rain doesn't come at the right time. You are the BOSS when you give your crops the water they need when they need it. Invest in your future now. You will save BIG BUCKS for the whole family if you invest now.

HAY EQUIPMENTRotary Cutter

Available in light-duty, medium-duty and heavy-duty models, these cutters are built to take the punishment. Sized from 38" to 11", all models are shear bolt or slip clutch protected. Light and medium-duty models feature a 40 HP gear box and heavy-duty models feature a 65 or 120 HP gear box with standard slip clutch P.T.O. All models have free swinging blades mounted to a round blade carrier and have stump protection. Heavy-duty rubber tail wheels and shielded P.T.O. are standard. Medium and heavy-duty models are constructed from heavy plate steel and structural channel to ensure long life. Cutting heights from 2" to 12". Available in 3-point, pull and hay side models. Made in U.S.A.

Options: • Slip clutches • Land clearing models available

Gribaldi Superior Sickle Bar Mower

7' dynabalance type mower features latest in design technology. No more broken Pitman rods to worry about. A heavy-duty power head with articulating arms drives both section bar and guard bar providing a dual cutting action. It is possible to cut with the sickle in any inclined position. A safety release with automatic rehooking is provided to prevent damage. This mower is 3-point in design and comes standard with extra section bar.

Drum MowerCut Size
4'2" $2300Galfre RG Series Drum Mower

Two counter rotating drums each with four cutting knives, ensure a perfect even cut without damaging crops. The main body is made from cast steel. All transmission components are enclosed in oil bath housings. Benefits of the Drum Mower include minimal maintenance and wear. Because of the high velocity of the drums, faster tractor speeds can be used. Drums ride lightly on the ground and gently cut grass stems without disturbing underlying turf. 3-point hitch allows attachment to most tractors. Standard equipment includes PTO shaft with slip clutch attachment. Sizes of 4 1/2', 5 1/2' and 6' are available.

Galfre Hay Tedder

Only the highest quality materials are used in manufacturing. All gears are high tempered case-hardened steel. Precision ball bearings are used in assembly of the Galfre Tedder. All components housing that enclose mechanical parts are cast or stamped steel. Swivel wheels are equipped with rubber tires and mounted using double-seal ball bearings to ensure long life. Available in 3-point or pull-type models. All Tedders are easily operated by tractors by PTO shaft. 2 and 4 rotor models are available sized from 8' through 17'.

Galfre AG300 Power Rake/Windrower

Advanced technology and high quality have made the Galfre Circular Windrower the latest innovation in hay making. As a result of many years of experience, Galfre developed a power windrower. The foder remains clean and free from stones and earth, maintaining maximum quality and nutritional value. The gentleness of this machine makes it ideal for raking clovers and alfalfas without defoliating. Each swath is raked completely even. Galfre Windrowers are 3-point hitch mounted and require a minimum of 20 HP.

BEILER ENGINE SERVICE280 PENNSY RD.
NEW HOUSE, PA 17050
F117250

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

This engine has been in use on hay balers for over 10 years and is doing a very good job. We can also mount Wisc. clutches or reductions on it for some applications. Fuel efficiency is very good.

Buy now while we still have this heavy duty engine. New model coming next year.

POLY SILO LINERS
for Upright Silos
If Your Silo Needs New Life...
Try Our Poly Silo Liners

THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER:
• Spoilage is reduced around doors.
• Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
• Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
• Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
• Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
• Quick installation.
• Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

Ruff-Tuff Poly Silo Liners Are Designed to Work Well in Silos Without Unloaders
The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

CONSIDER THE MANY
CONCRETE

WE WANT TO HELP!!!!!!

Contact us soon to discuss "special discounts" for early orders on silos for fall. During the "lull" between our busy spring season for wilted hay storage and the even busier fall season - we are anxious to help during this period when milk prices and cattle prices are down.

"NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE YOUR
CONCRETE SILO FOR 1991."

Don't wait too long because a good hay crop (mostly in the silo or barn) and good rains signal a busy fall silo-building season.

Since 1908, SOLLENBERGER SILOS CORP. has been providing the Silo Structures now in demand by more and more farmers concerned about "silage quality." "Nothing keeps feed better than our poured concrete silos."

Member - International Silo Association.

EASY CARE BLOCKS

...formulated for specific nutritional needs

is a 22% protein block formulated specifically as a feeding supplement for dry cows and heifers. Available in 50 and 500 lb. blocks.

■ Weatherproof

Like its companion product, Easy Care Blocks stands up to all kinds of weather, so waste is minimal.

■ Highly Palatable — with Intake Limiters

Molasses-based for palatability but contains intake limiters to prevent over consumption when fed as recommended. Dry cows and heifers get what they need — no more, no less.

■ Balances Forages

Supplements forages to provide the balanced nutrition important to dry cows and heifers. Easy Care Block is formulated specifically to the nutrient requirements of dairy dry cows and heifers.

■ Self Fed

Saves both time and labor — especially on hard to reach temporary pastures.

■ Contains Vitamins-Minerals-Selenium and Magnesium

Meets Vitamin A and D Requirements when fed as recommended and supplies Selenium and Magnesium lacking in some forages.

■ How to Feed Easy Care Block

Control consumption at approximately two to three pounds per head per day by providing all the good quality roughage the animal can consume. Provide one 50-lb. block for each five animals or one 500-lb. block for each 25 animals. Locate blocks near where animals gather or near a water source. On large pastures, make blocks available at more than one location.

When blocks are first put out, or if animals have been out of blocks, make sure plenty of roughage is available to prevent over consumption. Always provide an unlimited supply of clean, fresh water.
